WANTED WALLACE. DEER SLAUGHTER.

Found Him in London With Bretzner's Money and a Confession
James Wallace, confidential clerk of Edward N. Bretzner, of Marquette, who is alleged to have decamped with securities belonging to Bretzner, is wanted by detectives at London, England. He was traced through a letter to a friend in London, and the missing stock has been located, and it is believed that most of the money has been recovered.

Great surprise is occasioned here by the report that Wallace was accompanied by a woman who arrived in England. He is a single man.

Wallace fled from Marquette on Oct. 20, leaving word with his employer that he was going to an institution for the cure of insanity in Illinois. When he did not return, Mr. Bretzner began an investigation. With the result that 800 shares of Michigan Copper Mining stock and 200 shares of United States Steel were found to be missing. He at once reported the case to the American Bankers' association.

It was found that he took passage from London on the Cunard liner Saxonia for Liverpool on Nov. 12, with a woman said to be his wife, under the name of Mrs. Arthur James Wallace. It was subsequently learned that Wallace had obtained a letter of credit for $25,000 at Marquette, and he reached England a detective was at the pier, and the man and woman were identified as Wallace. The $22,000 and the money which Wallace had in his pocket were recovered.

Before sailing from Boston Wallace had called on Lee, Higginson & Co., 100 Broadway, New York, and secured on Collins bank, London, for $22,000. Edward Bretzner, Wallace's former employer at Marquette, was identified in equity in the superior court against the Boston bankers seeking to have been enjoined from paying any part of this amount to Wallace.

Must Face the Music.
E. N. Bretzner, millionaire mine owner of Marquette, declares that he is not to be troubled by the case of Wallace, the former confidential clerk who absconded with $25,000 of securities belonging to him. Bretzner says that he has received more money than was represented in the stolen stocks. No detailed examination of the securities has been made, and it is possible that more will be discovered.
