Care of Sittin' Hens. There are numerous farms on which some fowls are raised, but not enough to justify the owner in purchasing and using an incubator. On such farms as old hens must still be raised for purposes of incubation. It will be found that the amount of care that is given the sitting hens will determine to a considerable extent the success of the hatching operations. All poultry raisers must acknowledge that the sitting hens require a good deal of attention, and often more than is given them. In a state of nature the hen at this period takes care of herself. Let us not imagine, however, that she always does it successfully. In that state she laid more eggs than she could brood, and naturally many of them spoiled. The wild things of the wood and the air preyed upon her nest and it was often despoiled. When born her chicks were not protected from the clutches of rapacious animals and birds. Let us not suppose that the hen in her wild state led a life of untroubled prosperity. The hen of her own inclination the hen would to-day prove a very unprofitable investment to her owner.

WISDOM'S WHISPERS.

It is that which we save that counts when the pinch comes.

Happiness can be driven away by demanding too much of it.

The wisdom of wishing lies in not allowing it to lead to extravagance.

Sorrow declines to see the rays of sunshine which appear on the horizon.

All children are pretty in the eyes of the mother, no matter what their defects.

Youthful enthusiasm has encouraged acts which lead to the very brink of destruction.

Meaningless phrases have been known to take a brilliant turn by constant repetition.

Love carries the mind into channels where fame and fortune seem awaiting only a claimant.

Imagination can be made to fill the place of realization by the exercise of patience and common sense.

There is always some one who wants to throw a damper on a pet suggestion - Philadelphia Bulletin.

AS A WOMAN SEES IT.

Until civil life the whole is perfect, domestic life the unit can never become an unqualified success.

When our dwellings and streets are reserved in the antiseptic cleanliness of the hospital, hospitals will no longer be needed.

So strongly, so hopelessly is the world social intercourse that a woman will be able to live her own life ideally, to raise her children as she would wish, until all are able to do so.

One secret act of generosity, one sacrifice of inclination to duty, is worth all the mere good thoughts, warm feelings, passionate prayers, in which some people indulge themselves.

The interiors of some homes have the look of having been furnished by magics. These hints have a way of gathering up everything glittering and gaudy objects that meet their eyes, which is strongly suggestive of the notions many householders employ in house decorations.

WHEN OLD AGE IS LOVELY.

You sometimes see a woman whose face is as exquisite as was the perfect bloom of her youth. You wonder how it is done. You wonder how it is that her life has been so long and happy one. Here are some of the reasons:

She knows how to forget disagreeable things.

She does not expect too much from her friends.

She Sulphur to Protect Vines.

All the large vineyard owners of California sulphur their vines as a preventive against mildew and other troubles. The method used is the sulphur below, which is so constructed that the operator can expel material without excess, thereby saving a large percentage. There is a receptacle on top of the bellows proper which is filled with powdered sulphur. A tube passes from the bellows through the sulphur to the lid. This tube has a cap which has four long holes cut in it and is kept in the tube by a little brass spring. When forcing air through, the tube lifts the cap up to the holes and forces the powdered sulphur out of the discharge tube.

Animal's Idea of Numbers.

Many animals have an idea of concrete numbers up to a few units and some go even farther. A dog which is accustomed to receive only three pieces of sugar will not ask for more after he has had his quota. In certain places where horses are required to make thirty trips a day they walk across to the stable after making the thirtieth trip. Menial tasks of order employed in the royal gardens of Siza, that refused to perform more than their daily task of tending the great irrigation wheels through one hundred revolutions.

BIRMINGHAM, April 7, 1902.

I have painted 25 years. I have watched the brands of paint that I have used in all these years. I started to use Detroit White Lead Works Best Lead Paint in Michigan 21 years ago. I used it right along to the side of the highest priced paints on the market. I will say without reserve that the Detroit White Lead Works Best Lead Paint is the most durable, beautiful and economical paint I ever used. Sixteen years ago I painted G. Simpson's house in the place two coats with this paint. The building was old and weathered. It is in good shape now and does not show a hair's breadth of decay. I use one coat with the same paint 10 years ago. It's looking as new.
