Miss E. Flynn,

HORRIBLY BURNED

James Cobb, senior member of the drug firm of Cobb & Cobb, met with an accident at about 11 o'clock Monday forenon in which his escape from death seems truly miraculous.

He was at home and noticed a peculiar mell coming from the cellar, and went down to investigate. It was quite dark and after looking around for a short time he lighted a match to aid him in his search. A terrific evolution, and the cobb is a compared to the comment of t the retuse pumped into the manhole of the sewer which runs down Woodward avenue. Mr. Cobb's cellar connects with this cellar by a small drain and the gas forming in the sewer, backed up into the cobb lighted the dumngs as soon as Mr. Cobb in the collars to several other houses along the line of the sewer were permeated with gas but the occupants of the houses having been warred by Mr. Cobb's accident no more trouble arose from that source. By order of the authorities the sewer was flushed and is once more considered safe.

Mr. Ford had no idea that there was any danger connected with pumping the refuse from the tank into the sewer, supposing that all the strength of the liquid had been lost.

AT THE THEATERS.

AVENUE.

The return of Dan McAvoy to the Avenue theater this week was the cause of much pleasure to the many fun-loving patrons of this popular theater. You can see, him and his large company of vaudeville stars at four more performances this week. Six other hig acts complete the bill. Next week Cressy and Dane and Jesse Dandy will head the bill.

WHITNEY.

"Deserted at the Miar," which comes to the Whitney theater next Sunday, is play to claim the attention of all classes of theater goers. Thrills, cheers, tears and laughter, strictly moral in tone, and teaching a story from real life, beginning in the lofty Adriondack mountains, with its sweet pastoral enchantment, one gets the aroma of wild flowers and lofty pine trees; then to the city with its lights and shades to ensare all heater, leaving an impression never to be forgotten. There are several thrilling scenes, including an automobile ride, with pursuit by a bicyele, and panoramic views. A fall scenic equipment in every detail and a select cast of well-known, popular artists will interpret this beautiful play.

It is a common observation that the quantity of any characteristic element of a plant varies with its richness in the soil. This is, of course, a correlative of the well known beneficial action of fertilizers in increasing plant growth. It is now proposed, however, to attempt the cultivation of medicated plants—that is, common vegetables containing abnormal quantities of substances it is desired to adminiter.

of substances it is desired to admin-star.

It is ovident to every one at all ac-qualities with the laws of physiology hat the assimilation of mineral ele-ments by the body is much more read-ily accomplished when these are par-alsen in the form of food in vege-ables. In the past, if the body has accepted an excess of iron, it has been supplied by iron incurrent taken. The more the after meals, this want by certain vegetables, such as plicach. Miss Pearl Beddow, of Beddo ed the B. H. S. Thursday. The B. H. S. has been placed p manently on the list of schools accept by the State Normal College.

Current items were furnished last Fri day morning by Bert Kerr, Leroy Buell Ella Davenport, Grace Davenport Maude A. McDonald.

The physics class finished the subject of heat and was examined upon the same Wednesday of this week. The only subject left now is electricity.

The Cusar class has aguin taken up the study of Latin prose. They notice the difference between prose and Cusar, liking the latter much better.

Botany excursions are a common thing now days. In the office is a photo of the class in one of their outlings made by Mr. Clark. A good looking class.

In anticipation of promotion day next month, Miss McNair has promoted one of the juniors to a front seat. She is enjoying her new honors very much.

The Michigan History class attacked.

The Michigan History class started Monday. The work will consist of the history, geography, resources and all interesting facts concerning Michigan. The class numbers 10.

The arithmetic class has finished plan for the school building. Very many of these show talent both in the mechanic and the artistic sides of the work. They develop the art of precision and exact-

MITCHELL VISITS UTICA.

Ye junior editor, Mitchell, and h's wife took a drive over to Utica last Sanday to visit the family of James Messamore and to see the Utica remains.

The fire did its work well. With one exception, the home of Dr. Wm. Andrus, was the only building out of the burned forty-nine that showed charred remains standing, and this was because the Detroit fire department engine drowned the fire out. All the rest of the buildings burned clean up with all metal roofing, cettings and sidewalls down in their respective cellars.

"Jim's loss (if we said Mr. Messmore we wouldn't know ourselves who we were taking about) was $5,000 bith he will proceed at once to rebuild both meat market and dwelling in brick. His boy Howard runs the market and the mert day Jim's woodshed that escaped the fire, was rolled over on Main street and the market resumed business at its usual successful gait.

We made as abort call on Bro. Marvin found him attending to business as usual although at one time he was busily enabled and the market sain one was stopped by a brick building and lise facts again safe and sound. Almost all the losers were uninsured. The rather than and a per cent made it almost problem and a per cent made it almost problem and a per cent made is until a per pettier.
