DYSPEPSIA A THING OF THE PAST.

If You Have Indigestion this article ought to interest you. No matter what else you may eat, unless you study proper hygiene and diet your efforts will not amount to much.

The Laxado Co., 45 Vesey St., New York, has published a remarkable little book, "Advice to Dyspeptics," free to those who ask for it. It tells all about dyspepsia, its causes, what to eat and what not to eat.

"Then," said the inventor, laying his hand on my arm, "I tell you what it is, general; our army would get to get up and run for all it was worth."

When Poisoned by Ivy. The leaves of poison ivy often change to beautiful colors of yellow and red in the fall and are sources of great temptation to any one who is out hunting autumn decoration.

Poison ivy has three varieties, and Virginia creeper has five. The former has white berries, the latter purple.

All the drugs in the world are of no use in preventing a bad case of poisoning, unless one begins to do something as soon as the telltale itching begins. When the blisters break open, one is almost sure to be in for three days or a week of suffering.

It is well to have a little bottle of extract of prunella in the house all the time. Rub it on the affected parts every five minutes until the trouble is averted, and you will have no time in beginning - Country Life in America.

Wander-Thirst. I know not where the white road runs, nor what the white road is called, but a man can have the Sun for a guide, and there is no end of voyaging when the white road is followed.

For the river cities and the road cities, the white road is the best. You'll find the long horizon line, and there is no end of voyaging when the white road is followed.

The old days draw to home again, the white road is the best. You'll find the long horizon line, and there is no end of voyaging when the white road is followed.

And come I may, but I go must, and if you may put the blame on the stars and the Sun and the White road, and the sky.

SOLDIER AND SAILOR, TOO.

Son of Admiral Farragut Proved His Courage From Birmingham.

Lieut. Loyall Farragut, one of the officers of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and a son of the navy hero, Admiral Farragut, has the double honor of having fought in the civil war, and it is an interesting fact that he won his commission in the army through a challenge by his father.

"I don't know how that would do; I'm not so sure whether you could stand fire." "Oh, yes, father, I could do that," said the boy.

"Very well, my boy, I'll try you. Come up with me here."

The old naval hero and his son went up together into the mainmast, and there they both remained till Port Hudson was passed. The lad never flinched while the shot and shell flew thick and fast about him. Then the father said:

"Very well, my boy, that will do; you shall go to West Point."

And the boy was made a cadet and rose to be a lieutenant, after which he resigned.

RIGHT KIND OF BLINDNESS. Servant Gave Master an Object Lesson in Charity.

At the centenary anniversary of Hawthorne's birth in Salem Dr. Edward Waldo Emerson of Concord said, apropos of sympathy and compassion:

"I used to know an aged man servant whose heart was singularly kind. In him the quality of compassion, sympathy, of pity, was brought to nearly perfect development.

"This man was devoted to his master and me through the country on a certain winter day.

"As we approached a new house that the master was building, I saw an aged and bent woman peep forth at us from an unfinished window. She recognized us, and in a shamed way went shyly off, and had been taking a little wood. There was a bundle of wood under her old shawl.

"The master, I judged excitedly at his servant's stealth.

"Jabez, Jabez," he cried, "you see that old woman taking my wood?" "Jabez looked with pity first at the old woman, and then with scorn at his master.

"No, sir," he said, stoutly, "I don't see her, and when I do, I don't think that you would see her, either."

One Way to Stop a Dog Fight. "I saw an agent who had slipped in a very handy manner of the dog fight, says an agent whose business takes him to almost every section of the country.

"It was between a couple of bulldogs, and they went at it in a manner that threatened to put an end to the life of both. Finally each got hold of that could not be broken, and the men looking on were afraid that the dogs would kill each other. It was a short distance from a saloon, and a young man who appeared to be interested in one of the dogs as owner ran to the saloon and brought out a bottle of setter water. Approaching the fighting dogs he aimed the syphon at their faces and pressed the lever. There was a stream of water straight into the mixup of struggling and growling animals, and it had scarcely touched their eyes when they let go instantly and ran opposite directions, leaving the whipped pupper - Citesa Observer.

The Impractical Inventor. Inventors, with all their originality and brilliance, are often naive, child-like and impractical." said General Gaillet, P. Randolph, of the general staff of the army.

"An inventor called on me one day to talk about an explosive he had originated."

"It is the most powerful explosive the world has ever seen," he said, and it is my idea to send it up in a balloon, with a lighted fuse attached to it. The balloon will be sent over the camp of the enemy, the explosive will go off, and victory will be ours."

"Yes," said I, "it tells all about dyspepsia, its causes, what to eat and what not to eat. If the advice is followed no one really need be troubled with indigestion. We sell the money if the purchaser receives no benefit. Pepsikola Tablets tone up and stimulate the stomach to do its own work by increasing the gastric juice and saliva. It is particularly recommended to those whose appetites are poor, with coated tongues, distress after eating and all other ills attendant on dyspepsia.

TRUSSES

you can buy Trusses for almost nothing, or you can pay a very high price for them; but the price of a Truss does not prove that it is going to be the Truss which you need. Every case has to be fitted individually. That is where we have our big success with Trusses. No one goes out of our store with a Truss that does not fit perfectly. Therefore a great many people are wearing our Trusses and sending their friends to us for Trusses. If you are wearing a Truss and it does not feel right or stay in the right place come in and see us about it. We will tell you whether it is the right Truss for you to wear.
