Cuspidors vs. Long Skirts.

After observing the manner in which ur wives, sweethearts and mothers-inour wives, sweethearts and mothers-in-law sweep up all those nice juicy spots on the sidewals with a silk petitional that costs us a "V" or saw buck, Editor Smith of the Farmington Enterprise, suggests that the difficulty be overcome by placing cuspidors on the street corners. He has suggested that the village council of Warneville set a pattern for other burgs in this respect. A man cannot expect to rate as a grutleman, Brother Smith, who expectorates so promiscously. Why not have the ladies trim off about three inches from the bottom of those fast specials. We never could understand why a woman skould go around dragging a long stretch of costly cloth on the street or else handi-cusp herself with a handful of slack.
