Russian Woman Poet Dies. The "poet's corner" in the cemetery of the Alexander Nevski cloister in St. Petersburg has been augmented by the grave of Myrina Lechinskaya (Vibert), one of the few Russian women who have attained eminence for their poetry.

Famous Temperance Worker. In Germany there was recently celebrated the seventieth birthday of Ottilie Hoffman, who has been for more than twenty years one of the foremost workers for the cause of temperance in that country.

STITCHES

Monograms on Handbags. It is the smart thing to have your monogram on your handbag. Not in plain brass or silver or even in gold, but in precious stones.

Doupoir Confidences

When in doubt—use ribbon. Some of the little new Fruchpy hats have curls sewed under the brim.

Hair Braid for Hats.

The newest braid used in the making of outing hats is the hair braid, says the Millinery. Up to the present time very little of this braid was used for other than dress purposes.

Pretty Silk Coat.

A pretty coat in dark blue rajah silk was made with the waist line high under the arms and dipping slightly in front.

Make Up of Fall Linens.

The fall linens are made up with velvet collar and cuffs. Rose red ripen dresses, heavy, handsome, durable and beautiful are made with white velvet cuffs and collar.

New Bag Called "Dorothy."

A new bag called the "Dorothy" will appeal to those skilled in embroidery and needlework. It is made of soft suede in two parts, cut round on the lower edge.

Satin's Dancing Gown.

That satin is to assume such importance in the winter frock scheme seems beyond doubt. Satin models are many, both in evening and morning gowns, and nothing lovelier is shown than some of the gowns in this material.

Lingerie Blouses to Stay.

It is decreed that lingerie blouses are to be worn until winter, and more than ever in evening and morning. For the latter they are to be furnished with plain India silk underlays that will serve as linings, making them warm enough for the house and for the streets when fur jackets are worn.

Of Velvet and Cloth.

Never has velvet been more popular for trimming than this season and almost every frock has it. Evening gown or tailored street costume, trimmed at least to some slight extent in velvet.

Paint brush is most useful in dusting the carving of furniture.

The new jacket is one of the best on track and very smart. Among these the plated styles seem to be the favorite, and surely there is nothing so easily handled by the home dressmaker.
