Of all beautiful legends, of all beautiful verse, of all stories told in the life of the whole world, there is no tale so wondrously beautiful as the story of the Christ-child.

Shy On Table Etiquette. "Table etiquette in country hotels is a study in itself," remarked the traveling man.

Old Chimes. Old Lives, Old Times. WHEN the Christmas bells ring out they ring in a flood of golden memories.

Only One a Year. ET us bury old grudges and forgive us are forgiven; scatter good wishes and thoughts far and wide.

Prof. Park, so long the especial light of Andover Theological Seminary, has recently returned from Germany.

When Prof. Park at Andover, was asked by a student the reason for the tower of Pisa, he quickly answered: "No doubt the contractor did not pay his bills promptly."

Keep a Stout Heart. A man can't be a successful and satisfied man unless he has a stout heart.

Pathos Between Lines. John Mitchell, in a description of one of the historic coal strikes of the last century, said:

A merry, merry Christmas and a happy, bright New Year! I am sure the kind old greetings sound in every heart and ear.

As fits the solemn Christmas, As fits the holy Christmas birth, Be thou as Christ, my Lord and King!

Why is it that a woman tells a funny story and then she tells a serious one? Why is it that a woman tells a serious one and then she tells a funny one?

Christmas Merry-making

Christmas, although it has long been a festival, and almost the chief festival of the Church of Christ, was not originally Christian. It is an imposture that Christmas day was made Dec. 25 in order to synchronize...

Christmas heart to heart talk

Particular beauty of Christmas is that it is not only the day that is valuable, but all the days that go before have their special worth. Those who think least about the spiritual significance of Christmas often follow out its tenets...

Christmas Sunshine. "UNSHINE" and "comfort" are two royal words expressing deep and great joys of togetherness.

Let the bells ring out, hang up the mistletoe, bring on the smoking turkey, bid the boys and girls to the youngsters—anything, even of things, so that the day be merry and all hearts the lighter because of the love that is in the air.

Christmas Greeting

Let the bells ring out, hang up the mistletoe, bring on the smoking turkey, bid the boys and girls to the youngsters—anything, even of things, so that the day be merry and all hearts the lighter because of the love that is in the air.

CHARACTERISTIC OBSERVANCES OF THE DAY

Symbol of the Tree. In many of the ancient faiths the range of human existence is symbolized by a tree, called the "tree of life," the "world tree" or the "tree of existence."

MERRY CHRISTMAS

A merry, merry Christmas and a happy, bright New Year! I am sure the kind old greetings sound in every heart and ear.
