Elkskin Outing Shoes

remarkable leather known to modern Shoemaking, as it produces a shoe very soft, easy, cool and comfortable, and will twice out-wear ordinary leather. These hides are tanned by a strictly mineral process which renders the upper as soft as a glove, and the soles as tough as rawhide. No wax, tallow or greased used whatever, therefore you are not troubled with scalded feet in hot weather. Be sure they bear the brand, "MEN'S EASE," which insures the original, genuine Elkskin Leather. I have the exclusive sale of these high-grade goods.

Toilers.

Here digs the sod, with hanging head One-curst of God to toll for bread. The whelp of toil, the wolf of want. Aye, snap his heel, grim, hungry, gar With sweaty brow, rough, grimy hand, He drives the plow, he tills the land, He's forth by dawn; his labors close When light draws on, brings rest, rep He struggles on through heat of day, Till parting sun flings level ray. He digs till dark the stubborn earth, And deems his work of little worth. In mind appears tall spires and domes Where riches rear fair, stately homes, In proud parade before him rise The marts of trade, rare merchandise. Unnoticed, lone, he toils along, Yet yearns to join the swarming throng Here's one that's born decreed to live An atom in a human hive. His labors yield no fruit, seem vain; He reaps no field of ripened grain. No vital seed in fertile earth He sows to breed in fruitful birth Unwonted dreams, strange visions rise, of wand ring streams, soft, balmy skies. These walls are woods, those roofs the vale. While peaceful herds browse yonder date. Begirt by wall of brick and stone, Till Fate's last call he drudges on.
