GRADUAL DECLINE

This is the fate of sufferers from Kidney trouble, as the disease is so insiduous that often people have serious Kidney trouble without knowing the real cause of their illness, as diseased kidneys allow the impurities to stay in the system and attack the other organs. This accounts for the many different symptoms of Kidney Disease.

You begin to feel better at once when taking as it stimulates the heart, increases the circulation and invigorates the whole system. It strengthens the urinary organs and gives you new life and vigor.

Chicago Business Man Cured

Foley & Co., Chicago, Gentlemen:—About a year ago my health began to fail, I lost flesh and never felt well. The doctor thought I had stomach and liver trouble, but I became convinced that my kidneys were the cause of my ill health and commenced taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. It increased my appetite and made me feel stronger, and the annoying symptoms disappeared. I am now sound and well.—J. K. Horn, 1354 Diversey Blvd., Chicago. June 11, 1902.

Cured His Wife

E. C. Watkins, sexton of the Methodist Church, Springfield, Pa., writes: "My wife has been very bad with kidney trouble and tried several doctors without benefit. After taking one bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE she was much better, and was completely cured after taking four bottles."

One Bottle Cured Him

A. H. Davis, Mt. Sterling, Ia., writes: "I was troubled with kidney complaint for about two years, but a one-dollar bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE effected a permanent cure."

Self-Protecting Plants.

Plants protect themselves much the same as insects. One of the uses of the movements of the sensitive plant is to frighten animals. A venturesome, browsing creature coming near it is afraid to touch a plant which so evidently is occupied by spirits. The squirting cucumber of the Mediterranean alarms goats and cattle by discharging its ripe fruits explosively in their faces the moment the stem is touched. The cucumber contains a purgent juice, which discharges itself into the eye of its opponent, and the smarting sensation which results hard to bear. The dainty grass of Parnassus is beautiful but dishonest. It is a bog herb, has glossy green leaves and pure white blossoms and is supposed to be the poet's flower. Its milk white flowers are lovely, yet they are deceivers. The drops of honey which bees and insects fancy they see inside the petals are solid, glassy imitations of honey, which fool the bees which are lured in this way that they may carry off the pollen to other blossoms and are held fast until they die.

Investigate Prehistoric Tumulus.

A systematic excavation of the prehistoric tumulus on Clober moor, Milngavie, Scotland, began a few days ago. The operations are being conducted by Mr. W. A. Donnelly, whose former discoveries created so much interest in the archeological world. Already the workmen's operations have disclosed some remarkable features, and the finds are such as to rank in interest with some of the best in the Edinburgh museum. The tumulus is of the circular type, built on a rising mound 250 feet above sea level. It has a diameter of nearly ninety feet, and consists of an inner and outer circle. The urns already discovered were deposited in the outer circuit. Mr. Donnelly has also discovered in the same vicinity evidences of other Druidical remains.

Two stamps were once put into an offertory box by a lady in Georgetown. They were 2-cent stamps, issued in British Guiana in 1850. The lady had come across an envelope among her papers bearing two of these stamps. The incumbent, Canon Jose, sold the envelope with the two stamps on it by auction and it realized £205. The following year the same two stamps changed hands at £650, the first purchaser making £445 profit on the deal. The new purchaser sold them for £780 to a German dealer, who sold them to a Russian nobleman for £1,600.—London Tit-Bits.

HUMOR of the DAY

A Venerable Baby.

"Who is that gray-headed fellow coming this way?"

"That," explained the aged inhabitant, "is my baby."

"What! That old man?"

"He ain't an old man—he ain't turned 60 yet."

"Sixty! Why, how old are you?"

"Well," drawled the ancients "if I live to see mushmillion time I'll be 100."

"And what's the secret of your long life?"

"They ain't no secret, stranger. I'm a livin' monument to collard greens, corn licker an' good natur'!"

Woman's Way.

"Gee! Dat's just like a woman. How am I to tell if she's accepted me or not?"

Too Much Trouble.

Mrs. E. Z. Naggit—Why don't you shoo that fly off your head? It's been there five minutes.

E. Z. Naggit—What's the use. I ain't using the top of my head just now.

Mr. Packer's View.

"I have an idea," said the plain citizen, "that the case will have hard work to raise that billion-dollar indemnity."

"Most idiotic man I ever saw," responded Mr. Packer. "He knows it has to be paid, so instead of getting around and wondering where he's going to get money, why doesn't he get busy and organize a trust?"—Detroit Tribune.

Making a Cheerless Prediction.

"Do you think that our country will ever succeed in getting rid of grafters?"

"Yes," answered Senator Borghum. "There will be a time when grafters are unheard of. But it will be due to the change that is constantly going on in our vocabulary. There will be a new word that means the same thing."

Undecided.

Tess—Jack Hansum was very near proposing last night. I could see that by the way he fidgeted about the parlor.

Jess—What would you have done if he had?

Tess—Well, I was undecided whether to turn him down or the light.

After a Raise.

"What makes Jinks look so solemn? He gets his month's salary to-morrow."

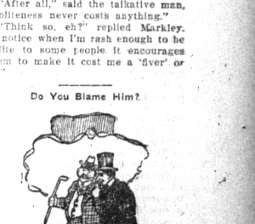
"That's just the trouble. His wife allows him 50 cents a week of it and he's trying to make up his mind to strike for a dollar."

They Touch Him.

"After all," said the talkative man, "politeness never costs anything."

"Think so, eh?" replied Markley. "I notice when I'm rash enough to be polite to some people it encourages them to make it cost me a 'fiver' or so."

Do You Blame Him?



Brown—Smith cheats at cards.

Jones—Why, what's the matter?

Brown—Why, I detected him with a card I had thrown under the table.—Chicago Journal.

He Was a Stockholder.

"It's a very nice place," said Newlywed, "but the railroad fare is very high."

"But surely," replied his bride, "the railroad company will fix that when they know."

"When they know what?"

"That you're the gentleman who bought that share of their stock."

As to Miss Methusaleh.

Methusaleh—Just a word with you, young man.

His Daughter's Suitor—What is it, sir?

Methusaleh—You have been calling on my daughter 100 years now, and I want to know if you mean business.—Puck.

Conditional.

"Getting mixed up with the law is bad business, isn't it?

"Yes, it is—if you lose!"—Detroit Free Press.
