"MURDER! HELP!" BASE BALL NEWS

Blood Curdling Screams Rent the Air and Three Ladies are Put to Bed by Neighbors.

Blanche Heth unintentionally caused a commotion in two households last Saturday night at about 9:45. While her father was out finishing up his milk peddling stunt Blanche took walk down to Mrs. Reukwick McKinley's to await her father's coming in order that she might ride home with him. She had just reached the house when she heard Mrs. McKinley's voice on the porch next door. Blanche wore a boy's cap her outer garments were encased in a long outer cloak, and about the first thing she heard was "there's a drunken man out there!"

Then Blanche walked back up the street a little ways and Mrs. McKinley made a rush for home and barricaded the doors. Her neighbor, Mrs. Lecombe and her cousin, flew into the house and the stillness of the night was disturbed by the clicking and sliding of door bolts. It was now time for Blanche to wick back that way, and when she approached Mrs. McKinley's door up went an upstairs window and the piercing scream of "murder! murder! help! help!" were wafted out upon the evening breeze and it woke up the neighbors all around.

When Mr. Lacombe returned from his place of business in Detroit he was made acquainted with the facts in the case, as was also Mr. McKinley, and the two gentlemen occupied the hammocks on the porches that night.

ALFRED OLMSTED. Died, at his home on Pierce street, on Tuesday last, Mr. Alfred Olmsted, in his 90th year.

On Saturday the Clover Milk Co.'s team will cross bats with our boys again. They will come loaded for the game so an exciting tussle will result.

Charlie Tom's was a familiar figure on the diamond Monday and he put a good showing up.

Johnson, formerly of Pontiac, is now a member of our club. He's a good man. During the first half of the eighth, a runner from Southfield came in all out of breath from hard riding and wanted the score. He stayed to the finish and then mounted his horse and rode like the wind for home.

MAINE CENTRAL R. R. CO. "Maine's Hundred Harbors," or "All Among the Light Houses," is the title of an exceedingly handsome brochure recently issued by the Maine Central R.R. Co. for a copy of which we are indebted to E. B. Bokkby, general passenger agent of the Portland office.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN. They were sitting on the dry goods boxes in front of the general store, doing some very tall stunts along the line of which a quarreling among themselves as to whether the brick layers on the new Canuck block were earning their wages or not.

THOSE TREES. Do you old Spook know where to look for a good place to plant a tree? Well, I'll tell you. It's in the yard of the old Spook. You can get a good one there for a very low price. It's a good one, and it's a good one. It's a good one, and it's a good one.

OUR ALASKA VISITORS. The Messrs. Sly, Sadie and Marty B. have just returned from Alaska, and they have had the jolly experience of climbing glaciers, and finding some of the most interesting points they have visited in Alaska.

A Surprise Party. A special surprise party will be given to the members of the D. & N. Steamship Co. on the 28th inst. at 8 o'clock P. M. at the D. & N. Steamship Co. office.

FORCED TO STARVE. B. F. Luff of Concord, N. H., says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying every thing else, I was cured by Buckle's Arnica Salve. It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At Whitehead & Mitchell's and Cobb & Cobb's drug stores, only 25c."

Prosecutor Covert Has More Complaints From Troy Than All The Rest of the County.

The township of Troy, with a hitherto unblemished reputation as a prosperous and law abiding community, is fast losing its fair name. The prosecuting officers say that more complaints have come to them from that township than from all the rest of the county. With Troy out of the reckoning the prosecutor's life would be fairly easy, but with the residents of that township up and doing there seems to be small rest for the weary officials. "I get more complaints from Troy by half again than from all the other 24 townships put together," states Prosecutor Covert. "The people there seem to have fine farms and be as well educated as the average but the germ of contention thrives and flourishes in the Troy air. Most of the complaints are for slander and drain discharges. I have had more than half of one of these cases come to trial at any one time in my life, and they got him. Making threats is another thing at which the residents of that township excel.

FOUND GUILTY. Bert Stulzer Let Off Under Suspended Sentence--Very Severely Reprimanded by Judge Snowdon.

Bert Stulzer was released Thursday of last week in Justice Snowdon's court at Pontiac, after receiving a severe reprimand. The justice in his remarks roundly scolded the boy's father for allowing a child to do about as he pleased. It will be remembered that young Stulzer fired a blank cartridge into the face of little Aaron Levinson on the morning of the Fourth of July. Young Levinson will carry the powder marks to his grave.

When young Stulzer was released, the judge held the sentence in abeyance and should be committed another misdemeanor of any kind, he will be taken into custody and promptly punished.

GOLDEN BRICKS. Thousands Crowd the Streets to See $100,000 in Gold Bricks in Bank Window.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 24, 1905. Dear Friend Whitehead: Knowing that you are a banker and should be committed another misdemeanor of any kind, he will be taken into custody and promptly punished.

THE NECESSARY $2,500 HAS BEEN RAISED AND BIRMINGHAM GETS ANOTHER ROAD.

The required $2,500 to secure the new electric road for Birmingham has been raised and the road is now an assured fact.
