

The Prince of Wales has another son; but he didn't really need him. Secretary Root sticks fondly to the kind of haircut that mother used to make.

If honesty is "old-fashioned," why that ancient tale of Diogenes and his lantern? The best way to show a respect for truth is to be kindly disposed to him who has it in error.

A Worcester bachelor of 74 is not to be taken only a few of them left and they are never seen.

No news is good news for King Peter of Serbia, whose name hasn't shown up in the papers lately.

"Everybody should learn to swim," says the New York Mail. You never can tell when you will get a tide on.

History has destroyed another interesting story. A snake didn't bite Cleopatra to death—she blew out the gas.

The Shah of Persia spent $1,000,000 during a week's vacation. He has been staying at one of those New York hotels.

Having played its small thinking part in the great international drama Roumania may retire behind the wings again.

Castro has been re-elected President of Venezuela for six years. It is strongly suspected that his running mate is on the shelf.

A New York philosopher says "It is possible for a man to love two women at the same time." Perhaps, but very few of us can afford it.

A church which has been under construction for 1,600 years has just been completed at Paris. It must have been put up under a government contract.

That Berlin scientist who has discovered a way for red roses to be the kind of a fellow that makes two blades of dry grass where one grew before.

Mrs. Jimmie Brown Potter is a bankrupt in England. Her theatrical career was a good one for a long time in the air, but it had to come down.

A Toledo man has succeeded in sailing in an air ship to the top of a ten-story building. The dispatches fail to explain why they couldn't let him go up on the elevator.

Prof. Wilder of Cornell denies that he has ever said the time was coming when man would be able to brain. This will restore confidence among the get-rich-quick operators.

A Pittsburgh school teacher has asked Andrew Carnegie for $100,000. When last heard from Andrew he was still thinking about it. There are so many school teachers.

When the crew of his yacht mutilated Howard Gould retired to his cabin and barred the door, thereby making it impossible for the other illustrious heroes of history.

A celebrated philosopher says our tongue is richer in words setting forth graces, than in words setting forth graces. It is probable that politics is mainly accountable for this fact.

"America is richer every working day by at least $4,000,000," according to a Boston man. He is probably right. 400,000 people in America you share one-half of one cent. Are you getting it?

The published table showing that John L. Sullivan "earned" $297,000 during his ring career is misleading and instructive but not nearly so much so as the fact that John hasn't any of it now.

Nicholas was a cruel autocrat; when a man is just going to move into a new house and the roof falls on the coal bin full of dynamite, there is something to be said for him if he loses his temper.

It is commonly believed that women have stronger attachments than men, but this is an error. A man is often strongly attached to an old hat, but who ever heard of a woman being strongly attached to one?

New York wireless telegraph operators have found out that the God-den of Liberty has been intercepting their dispatches. The senders of private messages fear that, womanlike, the goddess can't keep a secret.

A radium clock constructed to run 2,000 years would be unsatisfactory. The man who tried to wind it up three centuries hence would complain as loudly about it as you do about having to wind up your house clock once a week.

Mr. Kipling's belief that the automobile has benefited mankind physically, mentally and spiritually, has a partial support from facts. The auto has benefited a good many persons mentally, if they are poor Christians when run down.

The Springfield, (Mass.) Republican's Williamson correspondent reports a few of long standing between the Smith and Jones families of that place. In spite of the fact that the peace of the world we may expect a wish that this feud is not to spread.

Ernest Clark of Beacon Falls, Conn., shook hands with an old friend, the man who had been in his hand, when he was broken. Ernest will find hard, after this, to believe that old friends aren't best friends.

THE HEARING OF FOOT'S CHARGE AGAINST VINCENT.

SOME OF THE THINGS CONVICTS IN JACKSONVILLE HAVE DONE. Convict Higgins and His Alleged Power Over Others.

The developments of the investigation into the conduct of Jackson prison would be funny if they applied to an ordinary institution. It would check the convict Higgins, who has power of license, to do some governing himself. The story of "Trusty" Vincent, that was induced to go away does not bear much weight. He said $23 in money had been taken from him by Foot, who had been told to take it. Foot is alleged by Savage to have declared, "but it would look suspicious." He was induced to run away, he said, by Stevens, the prison keeper, and Milton, the warden. During the past week the former had repeatedly remarked as he returned from the prison that he never thought you would come back.

Mr. Walter L. Stevens, son-in-law of Mr. Foot, gave a rather startling testimony. Reading from the "Prize Black" book, he said that in the late afternoon he sent him $100 to a New York agent. He made lots of money in partnership with Stockwell and from the sale of prizes. He said that he had called the attention of Warden Vincent to these questionable practices, and that he had been told to hold up some pay orders from the prisoners. As to the money he had received, he said that he had given it to Stevens, who had given it to Higgins personally about the matter.

"When I was in the prison, I was told to hold up some pay orders from the prisoners. As to the money he had received, he said that he had given it to Stevens, who had given it to Higgins personally about the matter. Higgins, who is now in the prison, was the convict who had been told to hold up some pay orders from the prisoners. As to the money he had received, he said that he had given it to Stevens, who had given it to Higgins personally about the matter.

Joseph Tuskay, of Lansing, found a letter in the morning, and it was addressed to him. He said that he had been told to hold up some pay orders from the prisoners. As to the money he had received, he said that he had given it to Stevens, who had given it to Higgins personally about the matter.

Dr. Harvey Gilbert, of Bay City, advances the theory that it may have been the cause of the explosion. He said that he had been told to hold up some pay orders from the prisoners. As to the money he had received, he said that he had given it to Stevens, who had given it to Higgins personally about the matter.

The promoters of the Lansing-Jackson electric railroad are threatening to sue the city of Lansing. They said that they had been told to hold up some pay orders from the prisoners. As to the money he had received, he said that he had given it to Stevens, who had given it to Higgins personally about the matter.

THE CZAR AND KAISER IN CONFERENCE ON ROYAL YACHT. SOME HEALTHY ADVICE ON RULING AN EMPIRE GIVEN. Is a New Alliance to Restore Quiet Coming?

The czar of Russia met and conferred with the German emperor on Monday of the Swedish coast near the island of Bjorker. The meeting was arranged by two emperors by personal correspondence and not through diplomatic channels. It was understood that the conversation was to be entirely personal and intimate, and therefore no minister from either government was to be present.
