THE MICHIGAN FARM AND LIVE STOCK JOURNAL

Published by the Free Press Co. of Detroit.
SOLD TO THE MICHIGAN FARMER.
In January, 1904, the Free Press Publishing Co. merged its semi-weekly edition of the Free Press into the "Free Press Farm and Live Stock Journal," afterwards "The Michigan Farmer and Live Stock Journal." They soon learned that the Michigan Farmer, established in 1843, had a strong hold on the farmers of Michigan, secured through a thorough business knowledge as to the management of an Agricultural publication, added to their untiring efforts to serve their readers practical, up-to-date matter. A few weeks ago negotiations were begun by the Free Press Co., with the above result.
The subscribers of the Michigan Farmer and Live Stock Journal are to be congratulated, as they will receive the Michigan Farmer, a 50 per cent more costly paper, for their full unexpired term, in place of the Michigan Farmer and Live Stock Journal.

Public is Awakened.

The public is awakened to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 5858, Clark Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from various doctors' drugs that I could not eat. Soon after following day a revival invitation is extended to all at Adams St. Church, Detroit, Mich.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Russell and sister Maggie Young spent part a last week at Niagara Falls.
Miss Mary Morrow and Retta Beardlee were quietly married last Wednesday evening, Aug. 9, at the home of the bride. Rev. Patterson officiated. "Congratulations."

Babu Horu English.

Here is a Bombay native student's essay on the horse:
The horse is a very noble quadruped, but when he is angry he will not go to so. He is ridden on the spinal cord by the bridle, and sadly the driver place his feet on the trunk and drives his lower limbs across the saddle, and drives his animal to the middle. He has a long mouth, and his head is attached to the trunk by a long protuberance called the neck. He has four legs, two are in the front side and two are afterward. These are the weapons on which he runs, he also defends himself by extending those in the rear in a parallel direction toward his foe, but this he does only when in a voracious mood. His feeding is generally grasses and greens. He is also useful to take on his back a man or woman as well as some cargo. He has power to run as fast as he could. He has got no sleep at night time, and always standing awake. Also there are horses of different sizes. They do the same as others are generally doing. He is no animal like the horse; no sooner they see their guardian or master they always cry for feeding, but it is always at the morning time. They were not tall, but not so long as the cow and other such like similar animals.—Liverpool Post.

DAN'L L. AND TEDDY.

Hon. Dan'L L. Davis, of Pontiac, and President Roosevelt, of Washington, D. C., each gave an address before the Chautauque Assembly at Jamestown, N. Y., Tuesday of this week. Of course the country and genial and willing Daniel allowed the President to speak first. It was a grand gathering and one to which the chance to speak itself, was a National honor.

WHITNEY.

A melodramatic romance of love and intrigue, sensation and sentiment is "Queen of the White Slaves", which A. H. Woods, formerly of the firm of Sullivan, Harris & Woods, brings to the Whitney next Sunday afternoon. "Queen of the White Slaves" was written by Arthur Lamb, and is based on a series of most thrilling and hair raising adventures in mechanical engineering. It is a branch of the Higginbers, known as "The Terrible Nine", two beautiful young women, a brave detective, a comedy negro and a large number of subsidiary characters figure prominently. Some of the scenes are creations in scenic beauty and mechanical ingenuity. FAIRBANKS POST ENTERTAINED.

Fairbank's Post and Corps of Detroit were delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Doyle at their home in this place on Thursday of last week.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a beautiful flag by Miss Florence S. Babbit, Past Deputy President, to Miss Lydia C. Hopkins, in recognition of her services as counselor during the past year.

The basket of flowers sent with compliments of the Village Improvement Society was greatly appreciated.
Supper was served on the lawn to about 50 people and a special car carried the crowd homeward at the close of a most enjoyable day.

Habits of Ants.

New facts concerning those intelligent insects, the ants, are still coming to light. They keep spiders and we do cows, in order to milk them, and that they have slaves was discovered long ago, but now we hear of a South American variety making flower gardens in the tops of trees. The gardens or baskets contain certain plants, which are duly tended by the ants, and the insects plant the minute seeds whence the plants spring.

Dog is Tortured.

A singular instance of a dog being tormented by terror is recorded from Nottingham, England. A terrier was deroed on to the railway line when an express was approaching. It was so fascinated at the sight of the monster that it stood stock still, and the train thundered over it at fifty miles an hour. The dog was found unharmed, but shivering with fright.

Household Peace.

The average woman considers it part of her duty, as a good housewife, to make a fuss; but she is mistaken. There is only one way of attaining in small affairs; make up your mind decisively what you want, and see that you get it as heavily as possible. After that, leave it to the man; he will never refer to the subject again—Bylander.

Speed of Motorists.

In the course of a case in an English court the other day one of the counsel said there were four speeds at which motorists travelled. They were: (a) the speed of the chauffeur told the magistrate; (b) the speed the chauffeur told his friends in a public house, and (c) the real speed.

Courting in the Dark.

In New Zealand women do their courting in a most romantic fashion. The young girl visits the courting house set apart for this purpose. Standing up in the dark she says: "I love so and so, and I want him for my husband"; whereupon the chosen one, in a very low voice, says: "Yes," or enough to signify assent.

Knowledge on Handkerchiefs.

On the cotton handkerchiefs provided for French soldiers are printed a number of sanitary precepts to be observed on the march and during a campaign. There are also pictures of officers of French soldiers, and a private can tell at a glance to what grade any officer he may see belongs.

Spiritual Man's Struggle.

"The spiritual man is to make the world around him like unto what his soul is, ever in peace with God, peace amid endless activities in an unending warfare. It what struggle he lives he labors and dies."—Mozzamar.

Family Jars.

Jars of jars of jam, jars of potted beef and ham, jars of milk, jars of wine, jars of honey extra fine, jars of fruit, jars of spice, jars of everything that's nice; would that only jars like these were to be found in families.

Saw Stone by Wire.

Stone saws are now carried on successfully by means of a wire in place of a saw. An endless wire works over pulleys, as in the bandsaw. It is driven at a uniform speed, and the cutting is done by sand mixed with water.

Men speak of peace.

"They say that it is weary. Yet while they talk of peace, they are killing."

Tramps' Costly Sleep.

A tramp who slept in a newly-made coffin in an Amsterdam undertaker's shop was awakened because, not knowing a place that rightfully belonged to the dead.

The Ace Undergoes Changes.

"Ace" comes from the Latin "ager," a field, and originally was applied without reference to its size, the term being used in England indefinitely for a long period.

Most Elevated River.

The most elevated river in the world is the Desaguadero, in Bolivia. The average elevation above the level of the sea is about 13,000 feet.

First Abbey in Britain.

The first abbey founded in Britain was at Bangor, in the year 560. One hundred and ninety abbays were suppressed by Henry VIII.

Stork in Church.

A stork walked into a church at Zoermond, Holland, and stood on one leg on top of the pulpit until the end of the service.

GOT "SASSY"

Wm. Hamilton, of Detroit, thought Marshal Coulter's Arrest Him—It Cost Him $105.

William Hamilton, of Detroit, was arrested by Marshal Bray last Saturday for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He told Mr. Bray that he couldn't take him in but the marshal fooled him, putting him in the village jail where he passed a very quiet Sunday.

Monday morning he was quietly arraigned before Justice Campbell, plead guilty to the above charge and the court sentenced him to pay a fine of $2.00 and $35 costs, with the alternative of bonding 30 days in the Oakland county jail. He settled and went on his way a sadder but wiser man.

R. F. D. NO. 1.

Mrs. Harry Russell and Miss Maggie Young are visiting Niagara Falls for one week and will also stop at Buffalo for a few days.

Mrs. Mary Belt and son were at Detroit last Saturday.

L. J. Haack sold nine hogs that netted him just one hundred and seventy dollars.

The Misses Mary Bronson Elfin Heimstreet and Isabelle Hendry all of Detroit are the guest of Mrs. L. A. Jones for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Clark and daughter have just returned from Konono, N. Y. where they have been visiting for the last six weeks.

Henry Miller was in Detroit Tuesday.

Miss Belle Jennings is visiting Mrs. Jerry Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Allison were in Detroit Monday.

The Misses Lereals of Detroit just bought the old Bookham farm from Steven Baldwin and will devote their time in the care of raising chickens and small fruit. They are having the building fixed up by S. H. Hudgett and Steve Dunland.

By the looks of V. B. Miller's orchard, he will have a good crop of apples this fall.

AT THE THEATERS.

LYCEUM.

"Sky Farm," which will be presented at the Lyceum Theatre all next week, beginning Sunday night, seems to be singularly free from elements of distracting unpleasantness; it is rather modest to be brilliant of love and war, but bright and a newly-scented milk-pail start to finish. Its character types are such as can be found in any New England village and they are all thought to be wonderfully presented, true to life by the competent players which Jos. B. Ormston in a most commendable way. The locale of the piece is situated near the village of Cedarhurst, Mass. The farm is owned and occupied by the Rev. Milo Towers and his two beautiful daughters, Marigold and Jonquil. Marigold is the only bright in the world in the eyes of handsome and manly young Warren Brees e and in Marigold's eyes Warren is the ideal Prince Charming. The trials and troubles of these two young lovers are the culmination in happiness for them, as for two other strong love stories form the romantic flow of the piece. The play has a touch of the pathetic as well as a bright, sparkling light comedy running throughout. Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

WILD ANIMALS AND BIRDS ARE STATE PROPERTY.

A new doctrine in this state was enunciated in the general game law enacted at the recent session of the legislature. It is stated in the first section, which contains but three lines: "All wild animals and wild birds, both resident and migratory, in this state, shall be, and are hereby declared to be, the property of the state." No more has the discoverer, not the owner of the land upon which they may be found, any rights of ownership in even a chipmunk or a chickadee. They are the property of the state, to be protected or appropriated by the state, and for the protection or production or destruction of wild creatures, for the public benefit in either a material or an aesthetic sense, nor considerations pecuniary and commercial, or sentimental and humane.

DOG SAVES HIS MASTER'S LIFE.

Drives Mad Bull Away From Farmer Who Had Been Attacked
Flow Falls, Iowa, dispatch: William Litschewager, Jr., a well-known resident of Buckeye township, probably owes his life to the timely appearance of the family dog. Mr. Litschewager was attacked by a infuriated bull and knocked down, but before the attack could be renewed the dog came to the rescue and drove away the enraged animal.
