 One of the nicest streets in town for a home is Willets street. There are a few very desirable lots on that street for sale.
 The Eccentric office is now supplied with a full force. Fred F. Zillman and Miss A. Nes Knowles being the presiding parties.

 Every parent, wife and good citizen may well be thankful that the new state fair grounds are not one quarter of a mile from Woodlawn cemetery. No beer or other vile drink will be allowed. Thank God.
 Mrs. Louisa McDonald died a her home, 734 Lincoln avenue, Detroit, August 18, 1905, aged 69 years. Funeral Monday at 2 o'clock, burial at Woodlawn. Deceased was mother of Clarence McDonald, who owns a farm just south of this village.

 Nelson Shattuck has the last new telephone put in on the Birmingham exchange. When you want Nelson just call 61, his number, and by the way if every caller on the phone would call the party they desire to speak with by number, the time is lessened one-half to wit.

 Now Mrs. J. F. Rindel is making a sensible visit for her summer outing. Instead of sweating and being unhappy among strangers in a foreign country, she is taking a two weeks' visit with her sister and other relatives in west of our village and will be just as much away from home as if she was in Europe.
 Mrs. Earl Simonson of Vassar is visiting friends in this vicinity. She has her little family with her. One of the twins, Miss Eala Elizabeth not long ago, at their home in Tuscolu, was set upon the back of a horse for a ride. She fell to the ground and the result was a broken arm. She bears the pain and discomfort like a brave little lady.
 On the state fair grounds at Detroit, September 11-16, may be seen twin model horse barns, which are superior to similar structures on any state fair grounds in the country. These buildings, which are the pride of the fair officers and especially of secretary I. H. Butterfield, who made the original design. These barns are built of steel with brick pillars, and represent the highest development of barn building for fair exhibition purposes. They are 270 feet long and 150 feet wide. This space contains 100 box stalls and will house 300 animals. In the center is a show ring with seats for 300 people, and a range for exercising, 150 feet in length.

And what do you think happened on that day? Besides receiving a telegram from G. H. Mitchell in Detroit, when she arrived home she found nearly a bushel of letters from different friends all over the union—a letter shower.—the idea and success of the plan being pushed to a happy ending by Mrs. Hattie McBride.
