

Two men swim the Niagara rapids a few days ago. We have forgotten their names.

It is a difficult task in this workaday world of ours to preserve the bloom of the peach.

A Cossack who asked for better food has been shot dead. A Cossack should know his place.

The $50,000 subscribed for Peary's pole-hunting project may properly be referred to as cold cash.

Football regrets are dreary relics of the past and forgetfulness the junk man that carries them away.

If Peary is successful, Canada will be bounded on the north as well as on the south by the United States.

Dramatic reforms are to be inaugurated by the Chinese government. Look out for graft scandals over there.

The boat rocker has just succeeded in drowning a party of three in New Hampshire, fortunately including himself.

A famous football player has just brought a suit on the New York stock exchange. He is all right about the trouble.

In Newark, N. J., caterpillars are bringing 10 cents a car. Newark must be the headquarters of the axile grease industry.

"Are we to have a revival of honesty?" asks the Rutland (Vt.) Herald. Why not? It would be a most delightful novelty.

Chicago and New York continue to talk about how big they are, while the rest of the country is talking about how bad they are.

It is not known yet whether the decision of the treasury department that camels' hair is wool will be pleasing or displeasing to the camel.

The woman of To-morrow is the title of a book just announced, but it is all that most of us can do to keep up with the woman of today.

Eighteen Boston families have gone on strike, which recalls Queen Elizabeth's salutation to another eighteen: "Good morning gentlemen both."

A Japanese admiral has found that the cruiser Ise was the battle fleet, is a complete wreck. There is such a thing as doing work too well.

The New York Post refers to Scotty of Death Valley as a golden calf. The editor of the Post must have reasons for believing that Scotty has pawned his gub.

Why should anyone complain about the heat when the telegraph tells us that there are now banks in the White Mountains?

Philadelphia is certainly getting rapid, with fifty-four divorces granted there in one hour this week. And the recent raid had nothing at all to do with it, either.

It is announced in London journals that the Princess Alice of Greece, Esterhazy desires to sell her title. We would advise her to advertise in the Pittsburg papers.

Nicola Tesla hints that he has now solved the problem of aerial navigation. This may account for the fact that he has not recently been in communication with Mars.

The season is here when you will better your social status, according as you decide to slice it off with your knife or just hold it up in both hands and bite it off the cob.

Barber Henn of Kansas City has asked the legislature to change his name. If he will promise to quit cackling, the legislature will undoubtedly warmly support the petition.

The English are not considered a pleasure-loving people, says the London Speaker. If they had been a pleasure-loving people, they would never have got mixed up in that Boer war.

It must be annoying to the czar to have to go poking around the cellar every time when he moves into a new palace to see how much dynamite the energetic revolutionists have stowed away.

Secretary Taft says he was not angry when he wrote that letter to Wallace. Then it is difficult to see how the secretary could be angry with himself when angry without plagiarizing Admiral Vary.

Woman comes from New York that a woman who married a man there because she thought he was a genius has had him put in an insane asylum. She isn't the first one, however, who has had trouble in "discovering" the difference.

An octogenarian who has just died in New York is said to have drunk heavily all his life, except nine months, during which he thought the city would be bombarded by a Spanish fleet. He evidently was reasonable in his demands for excitement.

"Let us," sings one of the poets, "go hence, the night is now at hand." This is a good motto for the fashionable man and woman who belong to three bridge clubs, and put in the four night sessions of each week at dinner parties and dances and automobile-billing.

A boat rocker was almost crushed by a crowd of women at a resort near New York a few days ago. It is to be hoped that the women succeeded in making their earnestness so impressive enough to work a cure.

Fire at Osage destroyed $15,000 worth of cedar ties, posts and hemlock bark.

Mrs. Crasay, aged 36, of Muskegon, fell dead while taking the milk from the milkmaid.

The trolley road from Lansing to Pine Lake is finished and regular car service began Sunday.

W. H. Ballou, of West Nebe, was drowned Friday by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Henry Hoffman, an old citizen, was killed by falling to sea from the board of state auditors.

Burglars have robbed the postoffice in Champion but they got but seven or eight over-looking $200 worth of stamps.

Five cases of typhoid have been reported in Kalamazoo within the past week, and the health board is looking for the cause.

Circuit Judge Davis has decided that the Iowa county drain law passed at the last session of the legislature is constitutional.

W. W. Winkler, his way to Denver, Frank Lehman, 17 years of age, of Jackson, was killed on the Santa Fe railroad.

Frank Allcutt, a Toledo business man camping on the Au Sable, near the mouth of the river, was killed by a deer on a mountain.

After 20 years as a section foreman on the Michigan Central railroad, Dennis Kelly, Jr., stands for the charge of holding up a Conroy in Kalamazoo last month and taking $75 from him.

Harley lost a leg by falling from the steps of a locomotive, John W. Nichols, a Pere Marquette employe, was killed by a train.

An ordinance has been passed by the common council to close up saloon stores and all kinds of business in the city.

Gov. Wagner has committed to 15 years in the state prison, George Malloch, who shot Frank Glawick, when several drunken men attacked him on his own porch.

Several of becoming insane as a result of brooding over the death of his six children, Mrs. M. J. Campbell, of St. Joseph, committed suicide.

The 16-month-old child of John P. Jones, of Chicago, while it had a pencil in its mouth. The point went through her tongue and into her windpipe.

The old soldiers are making arrangements for the reunion of soldiers of the 10th Maine, to be held in Lexington September 6 and 7.

Ingham county superintendents of the poor are making a list of the names and support of the poor during the past year. Sixty-nine paupers were cared for during the year.

The nine-month-old child of Raymond Van Est, a poor family recently arrived in Jackson from Belgium, was killed by a cow.

The citizens of Vermontville are organizing a club to clean up the streets of the city.

The old-fashioned basket picnic around the old school house, and a program of sports for the second.

Frank Kruse, an Alpine township farmer, went into a field to work Monday and found a cow in the field.

While playing with matches the 3-year-old child of Mrs. J. H. Smith, employed at the Bay hotel, set fire to his clothes, and before the firemen could get to him he was dead.

Assistant Adm. Gen. Wyckoff, of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has forwarded to the national department a list of names of members.

It shows that during the six months the department had 258 members and 1,154 at the close of the period.

One Ed. Honkala, who went to Onondaga to see a doctor, was reported to be demented by the chief of police of that city.

The fight against yellow fever in the great harbor of Havana is being fought on a grand scale.

George Gage had been out of work a long time at Accator, Ill., but he was barely escaping with a life in his arms. He went to Battle Creek to get a cure.

Mrs. M. E. D. Trowbridge, widow of the late Rev. Luther Trowbridge and father of the late Rev. Dr. H. M. Trowbridge, has been appointed trustee of the Baptist denomination, has just added another to the list of her benefactions.

The postoffice at Wolvring, Mich., was burglarized on Tuesday morning. The burglars entered an entrance by taking out the door.

The government has decided to ship back the arms of the revolutionists, which, however, it is thought that they will not be able to leave the institution.

The campaign against gamblers and hold-up men in Chicago by Chief Collins, head of the police force, has been a success.

Fire at Osage destroyed $15,000 worth of cedar ties, posts and hemlock bark.

Mrs. Crasay, aged 36, of Muskegon, fell dead while taking the milk from the milkmaid.

The trolley road from Lansing to Pine Lake is finished and regular car service began Sunday.

W. H. Ballou, of West Nebe, was drowned Friday by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Henry Hoffman, an old citizen, was killed by falling to sea from the board of state auditors.

Burglars have robbed the postoffice in Champion but they got but seven or eight over-looking $200 worth of stamps.

Five cases of typhoid have been reported in Kalamazoo within the past week, and the health board is looking for the cause.

Circuit Judge Davis has decided that the Iowa county drain law passed at the last session of the legislature is constitutional.

W. W. Winkler, his way to Denver, Frank Lehman, 17 years of age, of Jackson, was killed on the Santa Fe railroad.

Frank Allcutt, a Toledo business man camping on the Au Sable, near the mouth of the river, was killed by a deer on a mountain.

After 20 years as a section foreman on the Michigan Central railroad, Dennis Kelly, Jr., stands for the charge of holding up a Conroy in Kalamazoo last month and taking $75 from him.

Harley lost a leg by falling from the steps of a locomotive, John W. Nichols, a Pere Marquette employe, was killed by a train.

An ordinance has been passed by the common council to close up saloon stores and all kinds of business in the city.

Gov. Wagner has committed to 15 years in the state prison, George Malloch, who shot Frank Glawick, when several drunken men attacked him on his own porch.

Several of becoming insane as a result of brooding over the death of his six children, Mrs. M. J. Campbell, of St. Joseph, committed suicide.

The 16-month-old child of John P. Jones, of Chicago, while it had a pencil in its mouth. The point went through her tongue and into her windpipe.

The old soldiers are making arrangements for the reunion of soldiers of the 10th Maine, to be held in Lexington September 6 and 7.

Ingham county superintendents of the poor are making a list of the names and support of the poor during the past year. Sixty-nine paupers were cared for during the year.

The nine-month-old child of Raymond Van Est, a poor family recently arrived in Jackson from Belgium, was killed by a cow.

The citizens of Vermontville are organizing a club to clean up the streets of the city.

The old-fashioned basket picnic around the old school house, and a program of sports for the second.

Frank Kruse, an Alpine township farmer, went into a field to work Monday and found a cow in the field.

While playing with matches the 3-year-old child of Mrs. J. H. Smith, employed at the Bay hotel, set fire to his clothes, and before the firemen could get to him he was dead.

Assistant Adm. Gen. Wyckoff, of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has forwarded to the national department a list of names of members.

It shows that during the six months the department had 258 members and 1,154 at the close of the period.

One Ed. Honkala, who went to Onondaga to see a doctor, was reported to be demented by the chief of police of that city.

The fight against yellow fever in the great harbor of Havana is being fought on a grand scale.

George Gage had been out of work a long time at Accator, Ill., but he was barely escaping with a life in his arms. He went to Battle Creek to get a cure.

Mrs. M. E. D. Trowbridge, widow of the late Rev. Luther Trowbridge and father of the late Rev. Dr. H. M. Trowbridge, has been appointed trustee of the Baptist denomination, has just added another to the list of her benefactions.

The postoffice at Wolvring, Mich., was burglarized on Tuesday morning. The burglars entered an entrance by taking out the door.

The government has decided to ship back the arms of the revolutionists, which, however, it is thought that they will not be able to leave the institution.

The campaign against gamblers and hold-up men in Chicago by Chief Collins, head of the police force, has been a success.

Fire at Osage destroyed $15,000 worth of cedar ties, posts and hemlock bark.

Mrs. Crasay, aged 36, of Muskegon, fell dead while taking the milk from the milkmaid.

The trolley road from Lansing to Pine Lake is finished and regular car service began Sunday.

W. H. Ballou, of West Nebe, was drowned Friday by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Henry Hoffman, an old citizen, was killed by falling to sea from the board of state auditors.

Burglars have robbed the postoffice in Champion but they got but seven or eight over-looking $200 worth of stamps.

Five cases of typhoid have been reported in Kalamazoo within the past week, and the health board is looking for the cause.

Circuit Judge Davis has decided that the Iowa county drain law passed at the last session of the legislature is constitutional.

W. W. Winkler, his way to Denver, Frank Lehman, 17 years of age, of Jackson, was killed on the Santa Fe railroad.

Frank Allcutt, a Toledo business man camping on the Au Sable, near the mouth of the river, was killed by a deer on a mountain.

After 20 years as a section foreman on the Michigan Central railroad, Dennis Kelly, Jr., stands for the charge of holding up a Conroy in Kalamazoo last month and taking $75 from him.

Harley lost a leg by falling from the steps of a locomotive, John W. Nichols, a Pere Marquette employe, was killed by a train.

An ordinance has been passed by the common council to close up saloon stores and all kinds of business in the city.

Gov. Wagner has committed to 15 years in the state prison, George Malloch, who shot Frank Glawick, when several drunken men attacked him on his own porch.

Several of becoming insane as a result of brooding over the death of his six children, Mrs. M. J. Campbell, of St. Joseph, committed suicide.

The 16-month-old child of John P. Jones, of Chicago, while it had a pencil in its mouth. The point went through her tongue and into her windpipe.

The old soldiers are making arrangements for the reunion of soldiers of the 10th Maine, to be held in Lexington September 6 and 7.

Ingham county superintendents of the poor are making a list of the names and support of the poor during the past year. Sixty-nine paupers were cared for during the year.

The nine-month-old child of Raymond Van Est, a poor family recently arrived in Jackson from Belgium, was killed by a cow.

The citizens of Vermontville are organizing a club to clean up the streets of the city.

The old-fashioned basket picnic around the old school house, and a program of sports for the second.

Frank Kruse, an Alpine township farmer, went into a field to work Monday and found a cow in the field.

While playing with matches the 3-year-old child of Mrs. J. H. Smith, employed at the Bay hotel, set fire to his clothes, and before the firemen could get to him he was dead.

Assistant Adm. Gen. Wyckoff, of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has forwarded to the national department a list of names of members.

It shows that during the six months the department had 258 members and 1,154 at the close of the period.

One Ed. Honkala, who went to Onondaga to see a doctor, was reported to be demented by the chief of police of that city.

The fight against yellow fever in the great harbor of Havana is being fought on a grand scale.

George Gage had been out of work a long time at Accator, Ill., but he was barely escaping with a life in his arms. He went to Battle Creek to get a cure.

Mrs. M. E. D. Trowbridge, widow of the late Rev. Luther Trowbridge and father of the late Rev. Dr. H. M. Trowbridge, has been appointed trustee of the Baptist denomination, has just added another to the list of her benefactions.

The postoffice at Wolvring, Mich., was burglarized on Tuesday morning. The burglars entered an entrance by taking out the door.

The government has decided to ship back the arms of the revolutionists, which, however, it is thought that they will not be able to leave the institution.

The campaign against gamblers and hold-up men in Chicago by Chief Collins, head of the police force, has been a success.

Fire at Osage destroyed $15,000 worth of cedar ties, posts and hemlock bark.

Mrs. Crasay, aged 36, of Muskegon, fell dead while taking the milk from the milkmaid.

The trolley road from Lansing to Pine Lake is finished and regular car service began Sunday.

W. H. Ballou, of West Nebe, was drowned Friday by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Henry Hoffman, an old citizen, was killed by falling to sea from the board of state auditors.

Burglars have robbed the postoffice in Champion but they got but seven or eight over-looking $200 worth of stamps.

Five cases of typhoid have been reported in Kalamazoo within the past week, and the health board is looking for the cause.

Circuit Judge Davis has decided that the Iowa county drain law passed at the last session of the legislature is constitutional.

W. W. Winkler, his way to Denver, Frank Lehman, 17 years of age, of Jackson, was killed on the Santa Fe railroad.

Frank Allcutt, a Toledo business man camping on the Au Sable, near the mouth of the river, was killed by a deer on a mountain.

After 20 years as a section foreman on the Michigan Central railroad, Dennis Kelly, Jr., stands for the charge of holding up a Conroy in Kalamazoo last month and taking $75 from him.

Harley lost a leg by falling from the steps of a locomotive, John W. Nichols, a Pere Marquette employe, was killed by a train.

An ordinance has been passed by the common council to close up saloon stores and all kinds of business in the city.

Gov. Wagner has committed to 15 years in the state prison, George Malloch, who shot Frank Glawick, when several drunken men attacked him on his own porch.

Several of becoming insane as a result of brooding over the death of his six children, Mrs. M. J. Campbell, of St. Joseph, committed suicide.

The 16-month-old child of John P. Jones, of Chicago, while it had a pencil in its mouth. The point went through her tongue and into her windpipe.

The old soldiers are making arrangements for the reunion of soldiers of the 10th Maine, to be held in Lexington September 6 and 7.

Ingham county superintendents of the poor are making a list of the names and support of the poor during the past year. Sixty-nine paupers were cared for during the year.

The nine-month-old child of Raymond Van Est, a poor family recently arrived in Jackson from Belgium, was killed by a cow.

The citizens of Vermontville are organizing a club to clean up the streets of the city.

The old-fashioned basket picnic around the old school house, and a program of sports for the second.

Frank Kruse, an Alpine township farmer, went into a field to work Monday and found a cow in the field.

While playing with matches the 3-year-old child of Mrs. J. H. Smith, employed at the Bay hotel, set fire to his clothes, and before the firemen could get to him he was dead.

Assistant Adm. Gen. Wyckoff, of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has forwarded to the national department a list of names of members.

It shows that during the six months the department had 258 members and 1,154 at the close of the period.

One Ed. Honkala, who went to Onondaga to see a doctor, was reported to be demented by the chief of police of that city.

The fight against yellow fever in the great harbor of Havana is being fought on a grand scale.

George Gage had been out of work a long time at Accator, Ill., but he was barely escaping with a life in his arms. He went to Battle Creek to get a cure.

Mrs. M. E. D. Trowbridge, widow of the late Rev. Luther Trowbridge and father of the late Rev. Dr. H. M. Trowbridge, has been appointed trustee of the Baptist denomination, has just added another to the list of her benefactions.

The postoffice at Wolvring, Mich., was burglarized on Tuesday morning. The burglars entered an entrance by taking out the door.

The government has decided to ship back the arms of the revolutionists, which, however, it is thought that they will not be able to leave the institution.

The campaign against gamblers and hold-up men in Chicago by Chief Collins, head of the police force, has been a success.

Fire at Osage destroyed $15,000 worth of cedar ties, posts and hemlock bark.

Mrs. Crasay, aged 36, of Muskegon, fell dead while taking the milk from the milkmaid.

The trolley road from Lansing to Pine Lake is finished and regular car service began Sunday.

W. H. Ballou, of West Nebe, was drowned Friday by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Henry Hoffman, an old citizen, was killed by falling to sea from the board of state auditors.

Burglars have robbed the postoffice in Champion but they got but seven or eight over-looking $200 worth of stamps.

Five cases of typhoid have been reported in Kalamazoo within the past week, and the health board is looking for the cause.

Circuit Judge Davis has decided that the Iowa county drain law passed at the last session of the legislature is constitutional.

W. W. Winkler, his way to Denver, Frank Lehman, 17 years of age, of Jackson, was killed on the Santa Fe railroad.

Frank Allcutt, a Toledo business man camping on the Au Sable, near the mouth of the river, was killed by a deer on a mountain.

After 20 years as a section foreman on the Michigan Central railroad, Dennis Kelly, Jr., stands for the charge of holding up a Conroy in Kalamazoo last month and taking $75 from him.

Harley lost a leg by falling from the steps of a locomotive, John W. Nichols, a Pere Marquette employe, was killed by a train.

An ordinance has been passed by the common council to close up saloon stores and all kinds of business in the city.

Gov. Wagner has committed to 15 years in the state prison, George Malloch, who shot Frank Glawick, when several drunken men attacked him on his own porch.

Several of becoming insane as a result of brooding over the death of his six children, Mrs. M. J. Campbell, of St. Joseph, committed suicide.

The 16-month-old child of John P. Jones, of Chicago, while it had a pencil in its mouth. The point went through her tongue and into her windpipe.

The old soldiers are making arrangements for the reunion of soldiers of the 10th Maine, to be held in Lexington September 6 and 7.

Ingham county superintendents of the poor are making a list of the names and support of the poor during the past year. Sixty-nine paupers were cared for during the year.

The nine-month-old child of Raymond Van Est, a poor family recently arrived in Jackson from Belgium, was killed by a cow.

The citizens of Vermontville are organizing a club to clean up the streets of the city.

The old-fashioned basket picnic around the old school house, and a program of sports for the second.

Frank Kruse, an Alpine township farmer, went into a field to work Monday and found a cow in the field.

While playing with matches the 3-year-old child of Mrs. J. H. Smith, employed at the Bay hotel, set fire to his clothes, and before the firemen could get to him he was dead.

Assistant Adm. Gen. Wyckoff, of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has forwarded to the national department a list of names of members.

It shows that during the six months the department had 258 members and 1,154 at the close of the period.

One Ed. Honkala, who went to Onondaga to see a doctor, was reported to be demented by the chief of police of that city.

The fight against yellow fever in the great harbor of Havana is being fought on a grand scale.

George Gage had been out of work a long time at Accator, Ill., but he was barely escaping with a life in his arms. He went to Battle Creek to get a cure.

Mrs. M. E. D. Trowbridge, widow of the late Rev. Luther Trowbridge and father of the late Rev. Dr. H. M. Trowbridge, has been appointed trustee of the Baptist denomination, has just added another to the list of her benefactions.

The postoffice at Wolvring, Mich., was burglarized on Tuesday morning. The burglars entered an entrance by taking out the door.

The government has decided to ship back the arms of the revolutionists, which, however, it is thought that they will not be able to leave the institution.

The campaign against gamblers and hold-up men in Chicago by Chief Collins, head of the police force, has been a success.

Fire at Osage destroyed $15,000 worth of cedar ties, posts and hemlock bark.

Mrs. Crasay, aged 36, of Muskegon, fell dead while taking the milk from the milkmaid.

The trolley road from Lansing to Pine Lake is finished and regular car service began Sunday.

W. H. Ballou, of West Nebe, was drowned Friday by the upsetting of a sailboat.

Henry Hoffman, an old citizen, was killed by falling to sea from the board of state auditors.

Burglars have robbed the postoffice in Champion but they got but seven or eight over-looking $200 worth of stamps.