

The Mosquito

He comes, a stinger in the night... He is the very prince of graft!

THE JOURNALS END!

BY R. B. SHELTON

Yale had given an A. B. Heidelberg... He gained rapidly after that.

In the course of many wanderings... He found him lying in the mud, his chin, torn, his face a mass of blood.

Another man would have died; but Robert Barlow had a grip on life that was almost uncanny.

"You have told me what you have been, not what you are."

Straightforward way, with sometimes a note of wistful sadness in his voice.

So the days flow past—very happy days that were for Barlow at first, came a bitter night when he walked the narrow, crooked streets of Fu-Chang alone and had it out with himself.

The gray morning light was breaking over the crooked, dirty streets of Fu-Chang when he returned to the mission and threw himself on his bed utterly exhausted.

"I am going away to-night," said he. "I feel somehow, I want to repay the kindness that has been shown me here."

"I am better able now than I shall be later," he returned almost roughly.

"With an inarticulate cry he sprang towards her, his face transformed by love and hope.

"Surprise For the Husband." A truly, economical man he was discovered at Wilton, N. H.

"The Cash Account." I cannot tell the thing one does not have thought and thought.

"An Amusing Error." Many amusing blunders are made by people in trying to use words with which they are not familiar.

"How long have I been here?" "Some months," she said.

Barlow added and closed it.

STORY OF HISTORIC GEM.

Diamond That Shone in Crowns and Swords Stolen by Thieves.

The Pitt diamond was first employed after it had been discovered in the crown jewels of France.

It was not until the year 1804, when it was set in the pomel of the sword which Napoleon wore at Notre Dame in Paris.

WOULD EAT WITH HIS HAT ON

Queer Proceeding Was with Him a Matter of Principle.

"I will pay for my bread and coffee whatever you ask, but I will not take off my hat to eat."

He was short, somewhat stumpy-shouldered and wore a heavy striped beard.

"I never take off my hat when I eat. It is against my principles.

Witnessed Biblical Tragedy. Senator Williams of South Carolina has been the victim of a most interesting and somewhat dramatic incident.

"Never Had Them." A teacher in one of our east side public schools in the course of a lesson on "Natural History" was explaining to his class the life of the sparrow.

Postoffice in a Tavern. The Williams tavern served as the first postoffice in Littleton. It was built in 1802, with James Williams as the landlord.

At West Littleton. One of his patrons was Deacon James Rankin. Mrs. Rankin was a pious woman, and objected to the tavern being used as a place for churchly natter.

Greeks to Supplant Japs. It is not surprising that the management of the Southern Pacific railroad has decided to supplant all Japanese sections with Greeks.

New England Taverns

(Special Correspondence.)

Old Home Week always brings much comment on the deserted farmsteads which furnish the material for the novel.

Dozens of these homesteads dot the country roads wherever one may take a drive in any section of New England.

In the pioneer days of this region's history every log cabin was an inn in the sense that it supplied this food for the traveler.

The first of these cabins serving as inns in this section of New England was that of Capt. Nathan Caswell.

FEVER'S AFTER EFFECTS

Did Not Disappear Until the Blood Was Renewed by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Typical fever is sometimes called nervous fever. During the course of the fever the nerves are always profoundly disturbed.

When the fever is over, the patient is left so sensitive that the slightest touch is tantamount to excruciating pain.
