Magistrate Flinn, in performing a marriage ceremony peculiar to the police in the Tombs court in New York, purposely omitted the word "obey" after looking over the bride. He said: "Oh, she looks like one who is to lick two such fellows as him, and as he has promised to love and cherish her for life, I didn't think it fair to give obey."

Among the 13 cities whose gates are thrown open to the commerce of the world, by provisions of the recent China-Japanese treaty and as one of the fruits of the war in which Japan shares with her sister nations, are Liao Yang, the city from which one of the bloodiest battles of the Manchurian campaign was named. Another significant name in connection is where Kuroki fought the first decisive engagement after his crossing of the Yalu. The cities are distributed throughout Manchuria.

John Wilson, a bachelor farmer, living near Buena Vista, Ind., was buried in the coffin which he made for himself in the last two days of his life. Feeling that death was approaching rapidly, he called in neighbors to his aid and constructed the coffin from wood which he had kept in his house forty years for the purpose. He then called in a Methodist minister, divided his money and farm among them, producing a chart of the farm to show how he wished the land to be divided. Death came to him late the next day.

James H. Leisure, Caldwell, O., was locked up on charge of murdering his uncle, William Leisure. Young Leisure's intatuation for his uncle's wife led to the murder, it is said.

Sir Horace Plunkett, M. P., secretary of agriculture for Ireland, is in Washington to confer with Secretary Wilson and other officials of the department of agriculture relative to the various problems of agriculture. An English law prohibits the growing of tobacco in Ireland, but through the efforts of Sir Horace the opportunity has been afforded to demonstrate the practicability of raising tobacco for commercial purposes in that country.

A LOCK CANAL

PRESIDENT WILL SEND MESSAGE TO CONGRESS FAVORING ONE.

SAVING OF TIME AND MONEY WILL BE THE REASON FOR CHOICE OF WATERWAY.

THE PRESIDENT OPENS ELECTRICAL DISPLAY AT THE COLISEUM IN CHICAGO.

President Favors Lock Canal.

President Roosevelt is preparing to send to congress a message which will favor a lock canal. He had conferences with several members of the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals, including Senators Kittredge, Knox, Dryden, Hopkins and Ankeny.

The committee had in its possession an advance copy of the report furnished by the president for use in examining the Panama canal, when he appears before the committee at the opening of the investigation ordered by the senate.

This report contains the views of the consulting board as expressed before the foreign members left this country, together with the amendments that have been made since, and to which Chairman Wallis is now getting their indorsement.

The message of the president will favor the construction of a lock canal on the ground that it is in the interest of the present generation and not for posterity, and that it can be built at less cost of time and money.

President Opens Show.

The first electrical exhibition ever held in Chicago was opened at the Coliseum by President Roosevelt, who pressed a button in Washington giving the signal for the doors to open.

Firms in every branch of electrical work, representing a total capitalization of $300,000,000, have displays in the hall. Besides the manufacturers, the technical schools of several western colleges are represented with exhibits.

Reprieve for Patrick.

Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer convicted and awaiting execution in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh Rice in New York city in September, 1900, was reprieved by Gov. Higgins until March 26—a space of 56 days.

This reprieve is granted for the purpose of giving Patrick's counsel time to bring before a trial court alleged newly-discovered evidence. Its granting followed a hearing before the governor, and was in accordance with the request of former Senator David B. Hill and Judge Alton B. Parker, counsel for Patrick, and with the full consent of District Attorney Jerome, who was present in person. Senator Hill entered the field for the first time from his sick room, after an illness of more than two months, in order to attend the hearing and addressed the governor at considerable length.

It was announced that the estate left by the late President Harper, of Chicago university, is small, and consists almost entirely of life insurance policies. It is estimated that Dr. Harper, during his life, gave between $35,000 and $50,000 to the American Institute of Sacred Literature, a publishing concern, in the work of which he was greatly interested. He also gave much money to needy students, but the amount of this he never booked known. It is said that the entire estate is given to the widow without reserve.

Not For Roosevelt.

Theodore Roosevelt will not become president of the University of Chicago. The president never considered seriously the matter of becoming president of Harvard after his term of chief executive expired. It can be said definitely that after March 4, 1909, the field of his endeavor will not be university work. The thought of Theodore Roosevelt becoming head of a pedagogical institution is inconceivable to his friends.

For Another Term.

Senator Russell A. Alger has finally made up his mind for once and all on the question of running for another term as United States senator. His health has much improved during the past few months, so that he feels at home, as well and active as he ever did. Consequently he made the decision that he will run.

Fifteen skaters and ice boaters were rescued from a piece of floating ice at Sandusky by three men, who saw their predicament from the shore and put out in a boat for them. The piece of ice upon which the fifteen persons were slowly floating out towards the lake had become detached from the shore ice and the fact was not noticed by any of the spectators.

NO GOOD TO ISLANDS.

Reps. Loud and Young, of Michigan, delivered lengthy speeches in the house in opposition to the Philippine tariff bill and both were applauded and warmly congratulated by members on both sides of the house.

Rep. Loud, who was a member of the Taft party on the trip to the orient, said that the bill in the senate form it would be of no practical benefit to the Filipinos. He is in favor of amending the present bill by restoring the 25 per cent reduction, which would make the duty on sugar the same as it was under the Dingley law. He also favors turning the money collected under this clause into the Philippine treasury to be expended in aiding the manufacturers in that country to improve and strengthen their industry. He says that by so doing the Filipinos would be greatly assisted and the sugar trust would not profit as it will by the reduction in the tariff.

Jack Is All Right.

Called from the field where he was plowing, "Jack" Dunbar, a hired man of a farmer near Casco, was recently presented with the neat little sum of $12,000 left him by the death of a wealthy uncle.

Jack left his plow long enough to run up to Grand Rapids and put his money in safe deposit vaults and then returned to the farm to complete a year's contract with his employer.

Later, on visiting the family of his late uncle, he discovered that she had invested $100,000 for him, from which he might draw interest regularly and followed up her gift with a little Christmas present of $800.

Jack takes his sudden fortune very modestly and will locate on a small fruit farm near South Haven. He is unmarried and very fond of books with which he intends to line the walls of his bachelor abode.

Thomas Cummings, of Flint, aged 90, sustained a broken leg two years ago by being knocked down by a playful dog. He has been ill recently, and while delirious tried to walk without his crutches. He fell and broke the leg in the same place. His recovery is doubtful.
