

Jay Gould reads "Vigil" for recreation.—Harford Evening Post.
Where?
If Sir Tom Lipton insists upon having another race, why, then is the dry dock Dewey.

A Greater Connecticut will also be appropriate, since Connecticut so lacks as another the Nutmeg state.

Another genius has invented a procedure for senseless. Still, the only real preventive is to stay on dry land.

Cuba should look at the horrible examples of the neighboring republics and beware of the revolution habit.

The real name of Gabrielle d'Annunzio is the Italian word for "Anno." If this suggests Spaghetti to you, don't blame us.

Probably the duke of the Abruzzi will have a good time on his exploration trip in Africa, but Stanley got all the credit.

New Jersey has lost 1,500 corporations and barely misses them. The mother of this is not thinking of race suicide.

An Milwaukee wife has had for $170,000 because her husband was taken away from her. How corrective he must feel!

The hero who "picked up a found and carried it out of church" won much applause and temporary ostracism in that town.

It may be true that there are 5,000 cows in Philadelphia, but it is untrue that they are allowed to graze freely in the public streets.

Careless scribbles continue to get Augustus Helms into various varieties of trouble, but he can't seem to establish a complete alibi.

We are informed on excellent authority that even if American gold is going up, the price of recent pieces will not be advanced.

The long of Portugal pants and is said to have considerable artistic ability—which is all right so long as he doesn't have to make a living by it.

The college professor who declares that woman will be pulling the world up by her hair, perhaps would like to know the promise that she has begun on him.

That New Jersey dog that according to the vicious chroniclers was his tail up and down instead of sideways, was evidently born for existence in a city park.

The Atlanta Journal asserts that a Boston man has been fined $400 for using a Boston accent in a classroom teacher against her wishes. We don't believe it.

Those village "centups" down in Philadelphia who enjoyed a dance by letting loose a lot of mice instead of their heads without crowding one another.

President Castro's fight in starting his task of whipping the world into detail is due to the fact that he has not yet selected the nation that is his first victim.

A woman in New York is giving a lecture on "How to Become a Charming Conversationalist." The way to be considered a charming conversationalist is to have money.

Among the weddings celebrated recently is that of a man of 60 and a woman of 100. The dispatches say that it was a romantic affair, but perhaps they meant rheumatic.

A great deal is expected of William Waldorf Astor's son, who has chosen as an army career. He had all the training that is through a cadet, but erickel can confer upon a young man.

King Edward gives in his state carriage to open parliament furnished a picturesque spectacle almost as entertaining to Londoners as the parade of the three-tiring circus is to people over here.

With so many people over in New York willing to pay from $100 to $5,000 a pair for medicated boots, it ought to be easy enough for some promoter to finance another strap company.

The statement of a New York politician that he has read two books relating to Abraham Lincoln's face, only illustrates the fact that the compilation of a Lincoln bibliography would be no easy task.

The California man who claims that he has devised a process by which he can grow and eat potatoes, is probably waiting till he is making long explanations. All he has to do is to grow a potato or two, and everybody will believe him.

A man out East advertised for a girl to be married to. He had 200 responses, but he was willing to give them to give him a trial. A man who cannot get a wife among his own kind, is not to be trusted by those who know him.

Joe Bonin's wife is said to be a beauty. The woman who is said to be as beautiful as her husband is not to be trusted.

Shirley Gribble has surrendered her name to the police because while out on parole he would not listen to the requests of his sponsor.

Jacob Kunkelman, a Lansing street cleaner, was arrested for peevishly inhuman and unkind treatment of a horse, as a result of which three have died. As a result of an examination of the horse, it was found to be diseased for Kunkelman's comment on an assaulant.
