

OF NEW YORK

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

As she speaks into the October night, and the messenger is left behind...

The ladies go below—Dick here, Pauline, tell one of the officers that...

"Mademoiselle Pauline, Westery," reads the note, "I am in a very bad way..."

"Sixteen francs, thirty centimes," "Grand Dieu! Will you have an amount of extortion..."

"You're truly, then, my dear, what charges?" "Sixteen francs, thirty centimes..."

coming every case—it will be followed by darker and still more serious ones...

Now, Dick is a peculiar man in his way—opposition is apt to arouse the mule in his nature...

Dora rides no more, since the cure has been radical—the first who once feels the pangs of jealousy...

After that the eccentric little professor is given the cold shoulder, and has to herd by himself...

This alliance adds out of the gate her against our friends, but they care little about it...

CHAPTER XIII. Lashed on the Calle San Felipe Neri, Colonel Bob comes to the window...

November, a gentleman issues from the well-known Hotel Iturbide...

There is a Virginian in this city who will not be content with doing the social season for ten years...

He Felt Safe. "Mark me," he declared, "Mrs. Fernie, laying down the law to her long-suffering husband..."

Never Was There. "Lawyer—You say you left home on the 10th?" "Witness—Yes, sir."

Floating Ice Makes Bridge at Niagara

Just now Niagara is furnishing to the thousands of her votaries her chief attraction—the ice bridge...

When the winter visitor arrives at the Falls and looks down into the gorge, what does he see? Simply the great chain of ice...

These chunks of ice float round and round in eddies below the falls for days and weeks...

Over the Ice Bridge. Over this low bridge a path is quickly built a mile or more across the Canadian side...

GOV. HUBBARD'S GARDEN JOKE

When Richard D. Hubbard was governor of Connecticut this company was eagerly sought for in all places...

One day this man called at the State House with a very much sullied coat and a very much sullied hat...

"Good morning, Governor," said he, "this morning."

"What a fine morning," replied the Governor, "what do you think of this?"

"Washington Man Lives Cheaply. There is a Virginian in this city who will not be content with doing the social season for ten years..."

Chronic Illness. "Mark me," he declared, "Mrs. Fernie, laying down the law to her long-suffering husband..."
