WHO WOULD HAVE BELIEVED IT?

Timber on State Lands.

Although the supreme court has granted a writ to Frank Chas. of Alaska county, convicted of cutting timber on state lands in violation of law in such a manner as to make it holder in a future to secure conviction of criminal responsibility. They are in cases of trespass and in effect, says that men who cut timber must know that they are doing so on their own property. The law makes the cutting of timber on state lands a felony. It is not a misdemeanor to cut timber on state lands in order to establish its title to lands in order to secure a conviction. The decision is regarded as a notable triumph for the state and it will doubtless result in preventing much trespassing.
