NEW JERSEY 'RIKISHAS.
Vehicle of Yankee Make Has Invaded the Orient with Good Results.

That characteristic vehicle of the orient, the rikishas, is drawn by a yellow bull. In Japan, a brown bull is used in India, a black bul in South Africa; but look beneath the shafts of the 'rikisha in any of these countries, and you will probably find the same thing—plate—that of a vehicle manufacturer in New Jersey. The Yankee rikishas have crowded the east, and its invasion promises to rear its head in the occupation of countries where cheap labor would seem to forbid sales of American products.

The Yankee rikisha manufacturer competes on price first. He sells vehicles as good as the native product at less than $16 and no higher than $40. American factory methods permit turning them out in large numbers on the duplicate system. He also competes in quality, making rikishas with ball bearings, bicycle wheels and cushion tires at $30.

Different types of rikishas are made for different countries of the world. Common in Laos, Ceylon, and many other localities, each of which has its preferences in the way of weight, height, length, and number of cushions. The New Jersey factory also supplies the "pousse-pous" used in Madagascar. It is a variety of rikisha with two seats.

Another is the "Korean cab," which is nothing more than an improvement on the clumsy Chinese wheelbarrow. With its stanch without front wheel, it is used in all Chinese cities.

The "Korean cab" has a single wheel fitted with a pneumatic tire, and seats one passenger. It is simple, light, high over the wheel. Cools in front and behind balance and propel it, and the vehicle is capable of good speed.

When the "Korean rikisha" was introduced on the west coast of Africa, it was so much lighter than the vehicle used there that the first Zulu who drew one readily stopped, lifted it and wanted to carry it that way.

Another is the "American wheelbarrow," introduced about the same time, and a contractor who supplied them to his Pan-African returning in a few months with them all being capricious water-farrier fashions.

THE CHUTEER
Chicago's Famous Water Park Publishes New Season

No more wonderful pleasure resort than this Chicago's famous water park. "The Chuteer."

The time is international. This season it offers two sensational whirls that set the big city agog. One is "Eller," the beautiful mystery of the "Eller" and the other "King of the Hill" the Italian Band, led by Maestro Francesco Puzi. The "Banks Italian Adventure" is an organization of forty Italian musicians, which created a furore in Europe. It is touring the world and will visit the Chuteer national.

"Eller," who is a beautiful young woman, emerges from the depths of the lake and disappears beneath its surface like a fabled nymph. Her marvelous feat amazes and mystifies.

"Shooting the Chuteer" over the biggest artificial cascades in the world is the favorite pastime of Chicago. Showed and lauded by those desiring the glistering cascades with the speed of the wind until their very garments splash in the lake and their hair and forward long foamed-created waves in a playful whirl.

CHARMS THAT BRING LUCK
Superstitions of Bridge Players—Houses and Seats That Are Unlucky.

It is now obvious that the portion of society which takes its gambling seriously—it is very large—has a deep-seated belief in the efficacy of charms. An instance in point is the buying of the house which was sold in Bond street in gold and silver, in extremely large quantities, to the London Daily Mail. The ank is the sign of life, and a charming lady who might, with an undue conceit, have for herself "one who knows," quotes an instance: "Whenever you cut for a fresh deal, the croupier said, 'the one who knows'—as you know, the choice of cards and seats, and they invariably turn the winning people out of their seats." Sometimes the winning card is the king of hearts, and the croupier against the hinges of the table, because that is the lucky side.

As for the houses which are supposed to bring luck, their name is legion; the most favored are little dwellings, little six-pieces and the New Zealand glens.

It must not be supposed that these superstitions are confined to the white-rabbit well-known card players. Certain houses are considered lucky to play in, though of course a house which is lucky for one player may be unlucky for another. In fact, many also are much in favor among card players.
