Lombard, Parks and Johnson left the camp and hid. In their terrible sufferings they had matured a plan to hide until Holmes died, exchange the body and substitute upon the flesh until they reached the Atlantic coast.

Decided to Go Back. Lombard and Strain were now twenty-one days gone, and it was evident that the sixteen survivors would not live for his return.

On the thirteenth day the Greadians asked permission to return and take a man with them. This was granted and they were furnished with good arms.

When Elizabeth Blackwell refused to study medicine, the women at her boarding house began to speak to her, and women passing her on the street held their skirts aside.
