FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Makes Kidneys and Bladder Right

Anna Besant says she remembers previous existences. Considering that some people would like to forget a part of their present existence the prospect of remembering far back into the dim centuries is not an alluring one.

This is the golden age of experts, and their services are consequently much in demand. It is to be hoped, nevertheless, that we shall not be doomed to the fate of having to hire experts to contradict the other fellows' experts.

PILES

CAN BE CURED

Both internal and external piles quickly yield to our "special method" of treatment which is known to but a few Physicians of wide research and experience in the treatment of Piles or Hemorrhoids.

Internal Piles consist of a tuft of capillaries, which bleed profusely when the patient is constipated.

External Piles are nothing more or less than tags of protruding skin, easily inflamed, very painful, and itch intensely at times. Piles are the result of an inactive liver, or constipation, sometimes both.

W. D. S. Pills remove the primary cause by regulating the liver and bowels and thereby assist Wonderful Dream Salve in reducing the congestion and soreness. Wonderful Dream Salve draws out all the inflammation, and heals the diseased parts without pain, loss of time or inconvenience.

Our "Special Method" mailed free to those purchasing Wonderful Dream Salve and W. D. S. Pills for the treatment of Piles.

If this combination internal and external treatment fails to cure, your money will be refunded. 10c, 25c and $1.00. Guaranteed under the "Food and Drugs Act."

TALES OF TRAVELERS

HOW SMALL THE WORLD IS, IS SHOWN BY ODD MEETINGS.

People Run Across Acquaintances in All Sorts of Out of the Way Places in Every Part of the World.

Two men left the city the same day going in opposite directions, says the New York Sun. They met on their return and exchanged experiences.

"I came back from my journey," said the man who had spent his time in New England, "more impressed than ever with the idea that the world is growing smaller."

"I went where I had never been before and where I was likely to meet no one whom I knew. At the first meal the stranger upon my right looked up from his newspaper and said something about the bridge disaster at Quebec.

"The stranger said he had a special dread of bridge accidents since he had been a victim in the Ashtabula affair a number of years before. He related his experience and concluded with the statement that he owed his rescue to a man whom he had never met before or since.

"The incident as described by him was vivid in my recollection. I was the man who had saved him. The accident happened about 30 years ago. Singular that at our first meeting after the affair the conversation opened on the subject mentioned.

"After the meal I walked into the office of the hotel and looked over the register. I noticed a familiar name. The writer was from my home town. I looked him up.

"We had not seen one another for 40 years. And then we had parted as enemies. It was about a girl. We had a good laugh over the meeting, in a strange part of the country, and concluded that we had the best of the third fellow who won the girl later and was afterward—but that is of no interest to you."

"Like you," began the other returned tourist, "I went into a new country to me. I thought I had lost myself away up the Saguenay river.

"One day I went out in a canoe looking for fish. After the catch my guide paddled ashore, and we prepared for a feat. Soon afterward another tourist landed nearby. He hadn't had a bite.

"After I had lolled him a while I asked him to sit down and take pot luck. Then we fell to our pipes. You know that is the bridge on which all smokers meet. Later on I offered him my flask.

"He declined, and laughingly remarked that if he had not changed his usual garb for the outfit he had on, he might not have been asked. He was a minister. His story was interesting.

"He left college in this country after graduation and went abroad. He kept on until he reached India. There he became interested in commercial pursuits.

"He failed. He went broke. He met a showman who was organizing a minstrel company. He engaged to go with him as a tenor. The organization made money. It landed in Australia. There it went to pieces.

"One of the company was a negro. He and this man who had shared my fish dinner started out together to find work. They fell in with a Salvation Army outfit. Both were good singers. The upshot was that the white man became converted.

"He left the Salvation company and became an Episcopal minister. The negro followed in his steps. The white man is rector of a church in the northwest. The negro is a missionary in Siam.

"What is your name?" I asked the dominie. And when he gave it I replied, 'we were classmates at ——— university.'

"That was the only experience I had during my trip. But I think it beat's yours."

"What was the negro's right name?" asked the man who told the first story.

"The dominie gave it as ———."

Then the first speaker said: "It's the same coon. He was the son of my father's old slave. He ran away when he was a boy, and the first we ever heard of him was after he had become a preacher. I think this rounds up the two stories even."

Curious Westmoreland Custom.

A strange custom is observed yearly in the small hamlet of Week, in Westmoreland, in commemoration of an incident that happened in the year 1841.

That year there was a plague of wasps and many persons throughout the county succumbed to the poisonous sting. The little hamlet holds the record for its number of victims, and in memory of the occurrence a memorial tablet was erected on the moor there. Now each year there is a procession. Most of the inhabitants turn out, carrying insect powder and other devices for killing wasps, and march to the memorial stone, where a short service is held by the minister of the parish.

When the service is over a general crusade is made in search of wasps' nests, which are immediately destroyed. Some carry guns, some rags saturated with turpentine, while others carry paraffin, which is poured into the nest and a match applied. The anniversary is considered the most important event of the year.—Country Gentleman.

Across Africa by Motor.

Lieut. Graetz, the German officer who, with two companions, started from Dar es Salaam last week to cross Africa in a motor through British Central Africa and Rhodesia to Swakopmund, German Southwest Africa, has reached Mrogoro, which is about 100 miles from Dar es Salaam.

On arriving at Mrogoro he decided that the car was much too heavy for the rough country through which it had to travel. He therefore discarded the body of the car, leaving only the chassis, on which he rigged a seat.

The only luggage he is taking with him consists of his sleeping sack, a supply of petrol and a box containing a small stock of provisions and medicines.—Rhodesia Herald.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—eases blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain always is. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell as 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend
