

FROM WYOMING DECEMBER JURORS LOCAL NIMRODS WM. ERIC'S DEAD

Capt. M. O. Bigelow's Letters Home Are More Than Interesting, and Talk About Fish Stories!

The Following Jurors Were Drawn Monday for the December Term of Circuit Court.

A Jolly Crowd, All Licensed to Shoot the Festive Deer, Started Yesterday for the North.

Passed Peacefully Away on the Fiftieth Anniversary of his Wedding Day.

UPPER GYPSY BASIN, Oct. 23, '07. DEAR FOLKS: I am afraid that you would not know me if you would see me. I am going around the park on a final (?) depends on the snow) inspection trip and to take the boys' pay to them before they are shut in. This is a "dude" season and we are traveling light, with just what we can carry in our saddle pockets and coat straps.

Sheriff George Greer drew the following jurors Monday morning for the December term of the circuit court: William Rowley, Addison; Homer Slippery, Avon; Frank P. German, Bloomfield; Edward Kipp, Brandon; R. B. Cummings, Commerce; Thomas Lytle, Farmington; Robert Richie, Groveland; Harloing Osmun, Holly; Bert Wardlow, Highland; S. C. Cleveland, Independence; Wm. N. Jones, Lyon; Jay Leavenworth, Novi; John Bilby, Oakland; Gerald W. Barnhart, Orion; George Milspaugh, Oxford; James Garrison, Pontiac township; Charles H. Hicks, Rose; Orris Coon, Royal Oak; Ben Burt, Springfield; Lorenzo Bingham, Southfield; J. D. Miller, Troy; Marion Northrup, Waterford; Martin Coomes, West Bloomfield; Fred Parks, White Lake; James McLintock, first ward; Wm. Kremer, second ward; H. Reed, third ward; I. Parish, fourth ward; Charles M. Wright, fifth ward.

There must be a fascination about deer hunting that passes all understanding, judging from the fact that every year sees the Birmingham crowd larger and larger. This season 34 of our citizens go to Newberry and Germantown headquarters, and from there rally out in quest of venison. Our best wishes go with them and also that no accident will befall any one of them. Pitch in boys, have a good time while we stay home and watch the town. They will be gone two weeks.

As far back as the writer can remember William Eric has been to him (the writer) an example to copy and a man to follow. Quiet, unobtrusive, steady, reliable, honest, never speaking ill of any one, always ready to lend a helping hand, he made himself respected and loved by all with whom he came in contact.

I left the post about 1 p. m. Sunday and reached Norris in a heavy storm. I am afraid that you would not know me if you would see me. Stand On Your Own Land. Only six lots left in Buell's Addition—16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 on Ann Street. $10 down, and $10 every three months. E. L. BUELL, 22 Michigan Ave., Detroit.

The following Circle boys are off for Germantown: Clarence Lowes, William Pearsall, Louis Dutton, Frank Tar, Elmer Beardslee, John Dodge, Harry Reynolds, George Allen, and Oscar A. Green.

He died at his home in Southfield last Monday morning of heart trouble. His death was not unexpected as he had been ill for some weeks previous. He had an acquaintance and friendship all over Oakland county, having served as supervisor of his township for 11 years with much honor to himself and satisfaction to his fellowmen. He has also been elected justice of the peace, and town treasurer, and other offices of trust conferred on him by his fellow townsmen. He was a real, true pioneer of Southfield.

Now is the time to think carefully and plan deliberately for the comfort, contentment and success of the teaching force so that there shall not be so many changes at the end of this school year as there were last year. This is a suggestion to parents and citizens generally; but it has its force for the teachers as well.

What sort of a statue should we get if our artist clipped away for a few weeks at the block of marble and then threw down his chisel for some trifling reason and another took up the work for a short time—to be succeeded by a new artist? What sort of a statue should we get if our artist clipped away for a few weeks at the block of marble and then threw down his chisel for some trifling reason and another took up the work for a short time—to be succeeded by a new artist?

He was buried in Greenwood cemetery. So ends the life of a most useful citizen, a man of business, public spirited and one for whom it was a pleasure to see those around him prosper.
