Esperanto for Dancing Mastera.
Mr. Turveydrop in his twentieth centurly development is ambitious. An inchanciant confriess of dancers is sion would be a notable one if only becausely that been decided that Esperanto shall be the official language. This is probably the first practical experiment by the new language, and we trust that the movement will prove as gracefully facile as dancing ought to be. So this there is quite an imposing programme of prises for mer dances of all Rinds—for ballet, for drawing room, for hall, for couples, for children, and for detailed studies on grace, bearing and manner, All these matters were to be disposed of in five days.
