

The effect of Scott's Emulsion on thin, pale children is magical.

It makes them plump, rosy, active, happy.

It contains Cod Liver Oil, Hypophosphites and Glycerine, to make fat, blood and bone, and so put together that it is easily digested by little folk.

ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

ROYAL OAK CHURCH NOTES.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL—Dr. W. L. St. John, Pastor. Sunday Morning 10:30 a. m. 11:00 a. m. 7:30 p. m. Tuesday 7:30 p. m. Wednesday 7:30 p. m. Thursday 7:30 p. m. Friday 7:30 p. m. Saturday 7:30 p. m. This church is holding a special service for the purpose of raising funds for the benefit of the poor and afflicted. The services are free of charge.

Congregational Church Notes.

Mr. Worendyke, of California, who addressed the audience at the Congregational church last Sunday evening, is an orator of exceptional attainments. He is out in the interests of the reform movement against intemperance, and its necessary adjunct, alcoholic beverage. His argument was a well-arranged array of facts, establishing the already gained intrenchments of the temperance army. Beginning with the time when 10 places a day was considered temperance, and the time when a crank who would not touch liquor, he showed the steady advance of temperance sentiment through its various stages up to the present time, when intemperance is under ban of good judgment, of science, of good morals, of the church, and of localities and states. Mr. Worendyke is certainly not "dry" in his talk, if it is a "dry" subject. The audience evinced this by their marked attention for an hour, as well as their liberal response in a financial way. Mr. Prouse added to the effect and enjoyment of the evening by his singing.

"Our bank" has progressed so far as to show that it will be a decided ornament to the corner which it occupies and the appearance of the street. The dark red pressed brick front with light stone trimmings, make a decided and pretty combination in building effects. "A place for everything, and everything in its place," is a good old-time motto. A bank is the place for money, the question is "the something" to put in the place. But we expect the old chairs, and stockings, and "stoves, and chimney pieces, and buried in kettles etc., will begin to disappear, when a percent, instead of mere possession is the impetus.

Mr. Prouse is conducting an instructive class in singing at the Congregational church Saturday evening at the 9 o'clock. It consists in the reading of music, voice placing and general instruction, choir work included. It is open to all. A small fee of $1 for 10 lessons, for adults, is paid, children free. This is a good opportunity for those who have to improve them and for those who have none to get them.

With all our getting, let us get understanding. The understanding to be gotten is concerning the central query of life—what is life for, anyway? The answer is always, "More life." "I will give you life, and that more abundantly." Abounding life, all else is extraneous, or at best, only additional. Our lesson, James I, of this week, is an admonition against the extravagant and harmful, that we may receive the more of the life that is organized after the perfect law of liberty. Next Wednesday evening we have in Jas. 2, the power of a faith that is actually working out that in which it believes. A faith that does not arrive at this is a dead faith and they are dead who possess it.

The Magic No. 3.

No. 3 is a wonderful magnet for Geo. H. Harris, of Cedar Grove, Maine, according to a letter which reads: "After suffering much with liver and kidney trouble, and becoming greatly discouraged by the failure to find relief, I took Electric Bitters, and in a result, an well man today. The first bottle relieved me and three bottles completed the cure." Guaranteed best for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by Charles J. Shain and Cobb & Cobb, druggists, etc.
