Nicola Tesla says he can invent anything he wants to. He has just been busy on an automobile that will consume its own smell.

It is always well to look on the bright side of things. The late spring has developed the growth of the foot who rode the hot season.

A San Francisco woman dropped dead while giving her husband a paralytic lecture. Out this at the table, the woman who you thought.

A London authority states the English girls 'wink the left eye'. That confuses the common impression that they wink the right eye.

Among the honors of the season is a picture that is shodded at steel figures in a picture in the Carnegie Institute art rooms.

A college of foreign languages has been opened in Canton, China, the post from which most emigrants sail to distant parts of the globe.

'Do something different every day.' That is better than saying 'I don't do anything different every day.'

However, the month has been a much safer disease to have than brain tumor or some of these others that may be contracting who find strong experts can argue.

'Can you answer the question of heaven?' asked the Georgia legislature. The answer was, 'The Houston Post, but it is pretty certain that the other place can't talk him.'

New York city boasts the largest and finest public school building in the world. It has a construction throughout and cost $2,000,000. It has accommodations for 45,000 pupils.

Francisco Jose, who was born in 1788, is still alive and at work, and a good one at that. He was born in Portugal. He served in the Portuguese army, which in 1810 opposed the invasion of the French under Napoleon I.

Authorities on the subject have estimated that only about one hundred men of the civil war have not been pensioned. Of the men who actually served that struggle it is estimated that 750,000 are living living pensioners out of this number 655,000 are on the pension roll.

Theodore N. Vall, who has been elected president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company of Boston at the salary of $100,000 a year, to his present position from a farmer boy. He was born in New Jersey 62 years ago, and in his youth worked on a farm in Iowa.

Judge John V. Wright, of Tennessee, now an attorney in the general land office at Washington, who will be 80 years old in June, has been connected with public life for a greater period than any other living American. He is still as vigorous as a man of 60 and keeps up with the things of today without forgetting what has passed and gone.

Prof. Todd is going to the Andes to look at Marz from a high elevation, to see for himself whether it is inhabited. Suppose it is and a scientist on Mars is trying to communicate with us. What complications will arise if the Marz people shake their heads when they mean yes and nod vigorously for no? There would be no common starting point for the scientists of the two planets.

We sometimes see in the city papers much fun poked at the country press for its insignificant personal items. How is it from the New York Tribune? asks the Ohio State Journal. 'August Belmont will dance to-night before the Belmont clubhouse.' This tells that the Belmonts are still in the country. 'Last night, Billy Jones dressed up in his Sunday clothes, was going somewhere—where?'

New Yorkers ate 500,000 bushels of oysters last season. A bushel averages 200 oysters, so that at least 100,000,000 oysters were eaten there between September 1, 1908, and the end of April. These figures mean $300,000,000 for as many 'trips'. 500,000 oysters had been placed in that form on hotel, restaurant or family tables that would be for ever and ever.

Very few have ever seen the keiser on foot, except on his yacht, the Hohenzollern. He always drives or rides. The reason for this would be more apparent than it is were it not that he wears very thick boots. His real height is five feet, six inches, so he is thus among Europe's shortest monarchs. But that is not the reason for his shortness. It appears so, because he has a very high forehead down his left side, and his left arm is almost useless. This is why his photographs has his left arm appears limp.

Gung and swords in use against Finland have been confiscated by the Swedish authorities, who were afraid they might hatch out a revolution.
