There, that is perfect," said little Miss Timmons, as she took the pins from her mouth and straightened up to survey her work. She was putting the last touches to the drapery of a party-dress for the eldest Miss Thompson.

"It just suits you to perfection," said her sister Alice, who was leaning against the door, watching with admiration the dressmaker's deft touches and waiting her turn to be fitted.

"I only hope mine will be as pretty, and as good a fit, and for just one minute there came into her heart a sense of loss and discontent, but it was gone in a moment, for Miss Timmons was a very practical little woman, and beside this, she was quite plain looking, and was almost 32, and she had never had any use for a party-dress in all her life.

Miss Thompson looked with delight at her own graceful reflection, for she had all a young girl'sardonable pleasure in looking her best.

MISS TIMMONS' VISITOR

By ANNA DEMING

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowler.) "There, that is perfect," said little Miss Timmons, as she took the pins from her mouth and straightened up to survey her work.

She was putting the last touches to the drapery of a party-dress for the eldest Miss Thompson. Her eyes caught in the mirror the reflection of her own plain, brown figure. A striking contrast to that of the stately girl in white beside her, and for just one minute there came into her heart a sense of loss and discontent, but it was gone in a moment, for Miss Timmons was a very practical little woman, and beside this, she was quite plain looking, and was almost 32, and she had never had any use for a party-dress in all her life.

A THREE-LEGGED ROOSTER.

Never was there a time when there was so much interest centered on poultry raising as at the present time, and it is because for the first time in the history of the world, a man, and others, are engaged in poultry raising either for profit or as a hobby. The poultry exhibit at the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, Aug. 29th to Sept. 6th, will be the largest ever held in the state. Enough entries have already been received to fill every nook and corner of the exhibit, and the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, Aug. 29th to Sept. 6th, will be the largest ever held in the state.

SPECIAL STATE FAIR DAYS.

The Michigan State Fair at Detroit opens on Thursday, August 29th, and closes Friday, September 6th. The grounds will not be open on Saturday, August 30th, as they have been set aside for "Children's Day." Monday, September 2nd, is "Labor Day," and will be a day of rest for the laboring people of Michigan. It is expected that the attendance will be very large on this day, and a general holiday for all laboring men. Tuesday is "Fraternal Day," and Wednesday will be "Michigan Day." Invitations have been sent to the United States Senators, the Governor and other State Officers and members of the Legislature, inviting them to attend on "Michigan Day." Thursday is "Detroit Day," at which time it is expected that Mayor Thompson, members of the City Council and City Officers will be present.

HALF MILLION PEOPLE WILL ATTEND.

The Michigan State Fair is becoming famous throughout the country on account of the excellent exhibition given each year. At the corner of August 29th to September 6th, including all buildings will be beautifully decorated with flags of all nations and American colors. All stock barns and exhibition buildings will be crowded with exhibits. The organization for this year's fair will be perfect in every respect. Each department will be under the supervision of a competent and experienced officer, and the general head. The different employes will be carefully drilled so that the whole operation of the fair will move like clockwork. This is a stupendous task when you consider that a half a million people are handled and cared for during the eight days of the fair. This year there will be no congested concession stands. There will be no gambling, no games of chance, no shows, will be clean, wholesome, and educational, and whatever profits there may be through the operation of the fair of 1907, will be used in the construction of new buildings and increased facilities.

The State Women's Christian Temperance Union are taking a great interest in the Fair this year, and will only have headquarters on the grounds, but will operate a hospital for those who may be sick while attending the Fair, and will also attend the Fair and will be in attendance with trained nurses in attendance from the opening day until the Fair closes. They are also receiving a Diamond Medal Oration. Contract to be given to the bandstand in the grove during the course of the Fair. This will naturally attract some of the brightest young orators in the State, and will be one of the interesting attractions.

THE WEDDING.

The wedding was the grandest affair that the county had ever known, and so life went on, with little to break the monotony for two years, and then a great event occurred, the greatest the town had ever known. Miss Thompson was married; that, in itself, was not wonderful, for she was a very pretty and very attractive girl, but she married a man much older than herself, and there were marvelous stories of his wealth.

ALLOY BOUGHT BY BUILDERS.

Suppose that one could find an alloy that would bear the same relation to aluminum that steel does to carbon or bronze to tin, says the Engineering Record. The result would be a new material, superior in strength and resistance to mechanical work. The builders of light machinery are looking for just this thing.
