AT THE THEATRES.

R. P. O teault's cartoon comedy, "Buster Brown," will be the offering at the Lyceum next week, commencing Sunday afternoon. The story of 'Buster Brown' is nothing more or less than the griving of life to the most humorous of Outcault's famous cartoons.
The central figure is, of course 'Buster,' who, with the assistance of Mary Jane and his intelligent canine, "Tige" creates no end of merriment. There are no characters with which the public are generally acquainted that lends itself better to stage purposes than does that of Outcault's little hero. Buster, of the many escapades in which he has figured in the colored newspaper supplethis writing.
