Miss Margaret's Wedding Dress

Except for the twittering of the birds the little country churchyard was very still as Miss Margaret laid her body to rest...

Only two days in the year did she concentrate to her sorrow and, following the death of her father...

When, after luncheon was over, Miss Margaret took her guest into her room...

It was of the morrow's labor of love that Miss Margaret was thinking...

"It's hard to have to be married to a man, and not find much to like in him..."

"Man-in-the-ideal favorite." "Ask Your Druggist for the Peruna Almanac for 1928."

"No, indeed," the girl from Cape Breton replied, "I don't like 'Joan men' standing up in front of people..."

"Ethel—Jimmy, do you love me?" "Jimmy—Great Scott, girl, do I love you!"

"The Goffers' Limerick." "A well-known limerick doctor has just resigned his membership..."

"Why Don't You Pray for What You Want?" "I would not buy a lot of things I could never use..."

SET GEORGE TO THINKING. "Probably Just Then Was Not Good Time to Visit Papa."

PAID FOR HIS FAULT. "Little Girl's Idea of the Punishment Visited on Adam."

"Right, Who Tempted Adam?" "Not really Eve, but the serpent and how we use Adam..."

"Purely Culinary Sadness." "My wife and I had a quarrel in the morning and when I came home..."

"Nevada seems apt to forge to the first place in the production of precious metals."

ONLY ONE "BROMO QUININE" THE LARGEST ENGINE IN THE WORLD

Keep CHICAGO & ALTON Trains On Time Between CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS, KANSAS CITY "The Only Way"

Some indefinable way to keep in mind the thought that she and John were to meet again...

As she touched his shining folds next day Miss Margaret's thoughts kept recurring to the conversation...

An hour later Miss Margaret dressed in her best and went to the churchyard...

Placed with the intention to spend a day in the "great house," although a little surprised at it...

Ever afterward that visit seemed like a dream to the girl...

When, after luncheon was over, Miss Margaret took her guest into her room...

Dazed and bewildered, the girl Margaret told the story of the twilight hour in the churchyard...

"You look very lovely, and I am glad you are to have these things," Miss Margaret said softly...

"The girl did not speak, and a terrible fear seized Miss Margaret's heart...

"Perhaps after all you may not care to have them," she said gently...

"The bride-elect forgot her shyness, and moving forward took the older woman's hands in hers..."

"A deep peace fell upon Miss Margaret's spirit as she recognized the presence of the youthful fingers..."

"Of course the dress is old style, but the pattern is so attractive..."

"Attraction!" she exclaimed. "Do you think I would have a thing made and a child at the altar..."

"As she beheld the girl take on the face and the dress she packed it to be sent to the home of his new owner..."

"All seems too good to be true," she murmured. "And to think I said the day of miracles was over..."

When he reached the house the girl met him at the door...

"I'm sure I don't know," she said. "He was all right, and I just began to tell him that you wanted to marry me..."

Just as a matter of curiosity, a young girl who lives across the street from a fortune teller counted the persons who called to consult the seer...

"I should think," she remarked, "that you would have such a bright future before you..."

"I'm glad you are so interested in me," she said. "I'll be glad to tell you anything I can..."

PHYSICIANS OF OLD

THE PIONEER DOCTOR WAS IN CLASS BY HIMSELF.

In Spirit of His Many Handicaps, He Battled Successfully with Disease—His Limited Knowledge of Materia Medica.

The pioneer physician waged an unequal war against disease because of his limited knowledge and equipment for fighting it...

The early doctor had limited knowledge of materia medica. His supply consisted of medicines of his own compounding...

When the doctor started out his student on some of the simpler cases, like measles, whooping cough...

It is amazing to think how some of these doctors, with limited advantages and crude equipment...

It was five minutes before noon. The mayor and the state superintendent had sent an hour talking to the children in an Ohio school...

"Children," he said, pointing toward the windows, "as you see from the school in about two minutes you will see a gang of men who are now shaving and taking away from their heads..."

"Heads that are a trifle per cent shaved."

"Then it looked about right." "Cool Dealer Understood When Told What Lead Represented."

"John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in one of the best addresses that he made to his Sunday school class before abandoning it, said of carelessness in business: 'Too many business men are careful on one side, their own side, only. Thus a cool dealer when I used to shop showed one afternoon to an employee who was drifting out of the store...'"

"Hold on there, kid! That cool can have been with it. It took a little time for a ton to be..."

"Then she's a one you like best?" "Father continued." "Dick turned the superior and plying eye upon his parent. 'Oh, no! I don't like her, you don't understand. It's the other way around. It's the father I care about. It's the experience I want.'"
