

THE MICHIGAN ELECTRIC

WIRE BROUGHT

THE DAILY PRESS

WEEK'S EVENTS

THE DAILY PRESS

THE ONLY HAND.

THE DAILY PRESS

Cobles court is announced from Bloomington, Ill. Don't want it. How are you going to eat corn of the cob?

As a discreet diplomat, Mr. White should be no greater a state to back to the vicissitudes of official life in China.

Richard Croker cannot be expected to find entertainment in a country where horse racing is at present in such legal lynch.

"Legal lynch" takes place in Tennessee. That's good. Now can't we have a little legal arson, counterfeiting and general hounding?

Jane Addams, Dr. Cornelia De Boy and Mrs. Emma Blaine, whose terms on the Chicago school board have just expired, have not been reappointed.

The prima donna whose husband is wildly excited because she wears the crown on the stage cannot get the press agent to calm him if possible.

A Men's league for women suffrage has been formed in Holland, and the Lutheran church in that country has given women a vote in all church affairs.

A New York tradesman of long experience says that he has not been able to collect bills from those who have a great deal of money.

In the days when Methuselah and others struck around for 700 or 800 years, the inferiority of the nickel blazes for causing oil age had not been discovered.

A young woman in New Jersey fell dead from excitement and terror caused by the sight of a mouse in her pants. Now say that a mouse is not a terrible beast, will you?

Chicago's traction interests contemplate a two-and-a-half-cent million-dollar merger. A man with only $1,000,000 need fret pretty small when he tries to talk business these days.

Partnership for mutual advantage was observed when two one-legged men went into a Broadway (New York) automatic shoe-shine parlor and each had his shoe shined for the same nickel dropped in the slot.

There may be a walking test to try the sea legs of naval officers. It will, at all events, rance the Baltimore American, relieve the fact that officers required to dance a horripole and we might suggest that they be made to live and swim.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion of correspondents of the Daily Press that liquor is cheaper abroad but that money is harder to make. There never was a road to a horn, but perhaps Luther Burbank will be able to make one some day.

Prof. Elie Metchnikoff will devote his Nobel prize to the study of bacteria, and he says he is convinced there is no good reason for not extending his good wishes to the comparatively early ages of 70 or 80 years. But the professor is, also, upon the propagation of lives that are not useful.

Motor omnibuses, motor trucks and tractor engines are so dangerously numerous in the congested sections of the city of London that conferences at the Mansion house have been discussed to means "to check traffic, to limit and smelt of heavy motor traffic." These give the grievances that citizens complain of, and the list suggests that the next worst thing to do is to limit once in a while to have one's ears and nostrils offended all the time.

It used to be said that a railroad through a new country was one of the greatest of civilizers. It looks as if an automobile might be made to do equally well. China has already grown on railroads, and in consequence a great part of it is shut out from the outside world. The Chinese are much pleased with automobiles, and in and around the cities they are becoming a familiar sight. The next best thing to a road is a road, and it is a good road and general development.

One of the large eastern newspapers has recently abandoned the "supplement" of its Sunday edition. The change was followed by a discussion in other papers of the merits and demerits of the change. The editor of the paper, it is said, had a very good reason for it. In this, as in other matters, we have no one to blame for our ourselves—and our next-door neighbors.

Mrs. Ruth H. Northrop of Norwich, Conn., has been awarded a scholarship offered by the Norwich Art Students Association. The work she submitted consisted of three groups of animals and figures modeled in clay from life.

While eating a late lunch in a Bay City restaurant, William L. Carr, a farmer, aged 80, dropped dead.

While suffering from despondency, William Washburn, of Alger, 25, hanged himself from a tree.

Motorcycles will be used next spring by the rural free delivery carriers on routes leading from Kalamazoo.

According to the secretary of state's records, there were 2,742 deaths in Michigan in 1910.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Dieken, wife of Congressman Dieken, has been ill with pneumonia, is pronounced out of danger.

George Addison, who threw a rock at John Stuffer, of Adrian, and killed him, was acquitted. Addison pleaded insanity.

Mr. Patrick Bishop, of Coldwater, is dead from starvation and grief. Following the death of the last of her four children, she refused to eat and gradually pined away.

The wild December winds have revealed the fact that many of the Kalamazoo college coeds are wearing hot, heavy, and little black coats.

The opening of the new interurban line from Saginaw to Detroit will set up a colony. Many Battle Creek Adventists are joining the new line.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who recently started a feather duster factory at Buchanan, have purchased a large tract of land near Buchanan.

Branch county prohibitionists have secured 2,200 signatures to the petition asking the supervisors to call an election for the prohibition law on local option. This is 700 more than necessary.

Henry Koch, a farmer in Sumpter township, evidently has a vindictive spirit. He has taken the bodies of the unfortunate children of Chas. Chas. and two little forms were buried by him in a shallow grave.

Julius Lazarus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been in Michigan for some time, recently that Julius learned that his father was living in Traverse City.

Prosecuting Attorney Powers has charged the Michigan Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. It is said that the soldiers' home is a place where the soldiers are kept in a state of semi-starvation.

A Port Huron jurist has asked the circuit court to determine the ownership of a deposit of $239 1/2 held by it.

Robert Fitzroy, 10, shines in a hero's role. The boy ran two miles through the snow to bring his mother's baby to a doctor in the city.

The Grand Trunk railroad, in a brief filed in the case brought by Saginaw Valley manufacturers for alleged freight rate discrimination, declared that the rates of the Central Freight Association were not in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Some new features in litigation were pulled off by the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity of the Marshall high school in Adrian. They were the "mysteries of the order Monday night."

James A. Wells, who deliberately forged a check in Sault Ste. Marie in order to be locked up and kept in the Michigan State Prison for one to 15 years in prison.

While eating a late lunch in a Bay City restaurant, William L. Carr, a farmer, aged 80, dropped dead.

While suffering from despondency, William Washburn, of Alger, 25, hanged himself from a tree.

Motorcycles will be used next spring by the rural free delivery carriers on routes leading from Kalamazoo.

According to the secretary of state's records, there were 2,742 deaths in Michigan in 1910.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Dieken, wife of Congressman Dieken, has been ill with pneumonia, is pronounced out of danger.

George Addison, who threw a rock at John Stuffer, of Adrian, and killed him, was acquitted. Addison pleaded insanity.

Mr. Patrick Bishop, of Coldwater, is dead from starvation and grief. Following the death of the last of her four children, she refused to eat and gradually pined away.

The wild December winds have revealed the fact that many of the Kalamazoo college coeds are wearing hot, heavy, and little black coats.

The opening of the new interurban line from Saginaw to Detroit will set up a colony. Many Battle Creek Adventists are joining the new line.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who recently started a feather duster factory at Buchanan, have purchased a large tract of land near Buchanan.

Branch county prohibitionists have secured 2,200 signatures to the petition asking the supervisors to call an election for the prohibition law on local option. This is 700 more than necessary.

Henry Koch, a farmer in Sumpter township, evidently has a vindictive spirit. He has taken the bodies of the unfortunate children of Chas. Chas. and two little forms were buried by him in a shallow grave.

Julius Lazarus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been in Michigan for some time, recently that Julius learned that his father was living in Traverse City.

Prosecuting Attorney Powers has charged the Michigan Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. It is said that the soldiers' home is a place where the soldiers are kept in a state of semi-starvation.

A Port Huron jurist has asked the circuit court to determine the ownership of a deposit of $239 1/2 held by it.

Robert Fitzroy, 10, shines in a hero's role. The boy ran two miles through the snow to bring his mother's baby to a doctor in the city.

The Grand Trunk railroad, in a brief filed in the case brought by Saginaw Valley manufacturers for alleged freight rate discrimination, declared that the rates of the Central Freight Association were not in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Some new features in litigation were pulled off by the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity of the Marshall high school in Adrian. They were the "mysteries of the order Monday night."

James A. Wells, who deliberately forged a check in Sault Ste. Marie in order to be locked up and kept in the Michigan State Prison for one to 15 years in prison.

While eating a late lunch in a Bay City restaurant, William L. Carr, a farmer, aged 80, dropped dead.

While suffering from despondency, William Washburn, of Alger, 25, hanged himself from a tree.

Motorcycles will be used next spring by the rural free delivery carriers on routes leading from Kalamazoo.

According to the secretary of state's records, there were 2,742 deaths in Michigan in 1910.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Dieken, wife of Congressman Dieken, has been ill with pneumonia, is pronounced out of danger.

George Addison, who threw a rock at John Stuffer, of Adrian, and killed him, was acquitted. Addison pleaded insanity.

Mr. Patrick Bishop, of Coldwater, is dead from starvation and grief. Following the death of the last of her four children, she refused to eat and gradually pined away.

The wild December winds have revealed the fact that many of the Kalamazoo college coeds are wearing hot, heavy, and little black coats.

The opening of the new interurban line from Saginaw to Detroit will set up a colony. Many Battle Creek Adventists are joining the new line.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who recently started a feather duster factory at Buchanan, have purchased a large tract of land near Buchanan.

Branch county prohibitionists have secured 2,200 signatures to the petition asking the supervisors to call an election for the prohibition law on local option. This is 700 more than necessary.

Henry Koch, a farmer in Sumpter township, evidently has a vindictive spirit. He has taken the bodies of the unfortunate children of Chas. Chas. and two little forms were buried by him in a shallow grave.

Julius Lazarus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been in Michigan for some time, recently that Julius learned that his father was living in Traverse City.

Prosecuting Attorney Powers has charged the Michigan Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. It is said that the soldiers' home is a place where the soldiers are kept in a state of semi-starvation.

A Port Huron jurist has asked the circuit court to determine the ownership of a deposit of $239 1/2 held by it.

Robert Fitzroy, 10, shines in a hero's role. The boy ran two miles through the snow to bring his mother's baby to a doctor in the city.

The Grand Trunk railroad, in a brief filed in the case brought by Saginaw Valley manufacturers for alleged freight rate discrimination, declared that the rates of the Central Freight Association were not in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Some new features in litigation were pulled off by the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity of the Marshall high school in Adrian. They were the "mysteries of the order Monday night."

James A. Wells, who deliberately forged a check in Sault Ste. Marie in order to be locked up and kept in the Michigan State Prison for one to 15 years in prison.

While eating a late lunch in a Bay City restaurant, William L. Carr, a farmer, aged 80, dropped dead.

While suffering from despondency, William Washburn, of Alger, 25, hanged himself from a tree.

Motorcycles will be used next spring by the rural free delivery carriers on routes leading from Kalamazoo.

According to the secretary of state's records, there were 2,742 deaths in Michigan in 1910.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Dieken, wife of Congressman Dieken, has been ill with pneumonia, is pronounced out of danger.

George Addison, who threw a rock at John Stuffer, of Adrian, and killed him, was acquitted. Addison pleaded insanity.

Mr. Patrick Bishop, of Coldwater, is dead from starvation and grief. Following the death of the last of her four children, she refused to eat and gradually pined away.

The wild December winds have revealed the fact that many of the Kalamazoo college coeds are wearing hot, heavy, and little black coats.

The opening of the new interurban line from Saginaw to Detroit will set up a colony. Many Battle Creek Adventists are joining the new line.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who recently started a feather duster factory at Buchanan, have purchased a large tract of land near Buchanan.

Branch county prohibitionists have secured 2,200 signatures to the petition asking the supervisors to call an election for the prohibition law on local option. This is 700 more than necessary.

Henry Koch, a farmer in Sumpter township, evidently has a vindictive spirit. He has taken the bodies of the unfortunate children of Chas. Chas. and two little forms were buried by him in a shallow grave.

Julius Lazarus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been in Michigan for some time, recently that Julius learned that his father was living in Traverse City.

Prosecuting Attorney Powers has charged the Michigan Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. It is said that the soldiers' home is a place where the soldiers are kept in a state of semi-starvation.

A Port Huron jurist has asked the circuit court to determine the ownership of a deposit of $239 1/2 held by it.

Robert Fitzroy, 10, shines in a hero's role. The boy ran two miles through the snow to bring his mother's baby to a doctor in the city.

The Grand Trunk railroad, in a brief filed in the case brought by Saginaw Valley manufacturers for alleged freight rate discrimination, declared that the rates of the Central Freight Association were not in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Some new features in litigation were pulled off by the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity of the Marshall high school in Adrian. They were the "mysteries of the order Monday night."

James A. Wells, who deliberately forged a check in Sault Ste. Marie in order to be locked up and kept in the Michigan State Prison for one to 15 years in prison.

While eating a late lunch in a Bay City restaurant, William L. Carr, a farmer, aged 80, dropped dead.

While suffering from despondency, William Washburn, of Alger, 25, hanged himself from a tree.

Motorcycles will be used next spring by the rural free delivery carriers on routes leading from Kalamazoo.

According to the secretary of state's records, there were 2,742 deaths in Michigan in 1910.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Dieken, wife of Congressman Dieken, has been ill with pneumonia, is pronounced out of danger.

George Addison, who threw a rock at John Stuffer, of Adrian, and killed him, was acquitted. Addison pleaded insanity.

Mr. Patrick Bishop, of Coldwater, is dead from starvation and grief. Following the death of the last of her four children, she refused to eat and gradually pined away.

The wild December winds have revealed the fact that many of the Kalamazoo college coeds are wearing hot, heavy, and little black coats.

The opening of the new interurban line from Saginaw to Detroit will set up a colony. Many Battle Creek Adventists are joining the new line.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who recently started a feather duster factory at Buchanan, have purchased a large tract of land near Buchanan.

Branch county prohibitionists have secured 2,200 signatures to the petition asking the supervisors to call an election for the prohibition law on local option. This is 700 more than necessary.

Henry Koch, a farmer in Sumpter township, evidently has a vindictive spirit. He has taken the bodies of the unfortunate children of Chas. Chas. and two little forms were buried by him in a shallow grave.

Julius Lazarus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been in Michigan for some time, recently that Julius learned that his father was living in Traverse City.

Prosecuting Attorney Powers has charged the Michigan Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. It is said that the soldiers' home is a place where the soldiers are kept in a state of semi-starvation.

A Port Huron jurist has asked the circuit court to determine the ownership of a deposit of $239 1/2 held by it.

Robert Fitzroy, 10, shines in a hero's role. The boy ran two miles through the snow to bring his mother's baby to a doctor in the city.

The Grand Trunk railroad, in a brief filed in the case brought by Saginaw Valley manufacturers for alleged freight rate discrimination, declared that the rates of the Central Freight Association were not in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Some new features in litigation were pulled off by the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity of the Marshall high school in Adrian. They were the "mysteries of the order Monday night."

James A. Wells, who deliberately forged a check in Sault Ste. Marie in order to be locked up and kept in the Michigan State Prison for one to 15 years in prison.

While eating a late lunch in a Bay City restaurant, William L. Carr, a farmer, aged 80, dropped dead.

While suffering from despondency, William Washburn, of Alger, 25, hanged himself from a tree.

Motorcycles will be used next spring by the rural free delivery carriers on routes leading from Kalamazoo.

According to the secretary of state's records, there were 2,742 deaths in Michigan in 1910.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Dieken, wife of Congressman Dieken, has been ill with pneumonia, is pronounced out of danger.

George Addison, who threw a rock at John Stuffer, of Adrian, and killed him, was acquitted. Addison pleaded insanity.

Mr. Patrick Bishop, of Coldwater, is dead from starvation and grief. Following the death of the last of her four children, she refused to eat and gradually pined away.

The wild December winds have revealed the fact that many of the Kalamazoo college coeds are wearing hot, heavy, and little black coats.

The opening of the new interurban line from Saginaw to Detroit will set up a colony. Many Battle Creek Adventists are joining the new line.

The Seventh Day Adventists, who recently started a feather duster factory at Buchanan, have purchased a large tract of land near Buchanan.

Branch county prohibitionists have secured 2,200 signatures to the petition asking the supervisors to call an election for the prohibition law on local option. This is 700 more than necessary.

Henry Koch, a farmer in Sumpter township, evidently has a vindictive spirit. He has taken the bodies of the unfortunate children of Chas. Chas. and two little forms were buried by him in a shallow grave.

Julius Lazarus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been in Michigan for some time, recently that Julius learned that his father was living in Traverse City.

Prosecuting Attorney Powers has charged the Michigan Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. It is said that the soldiers' home is a place where the soldiers are kept in a state of semi-starvation.

A Port Huron jurist has asked the circuit court to determine the ownership of a deposit of $239 1/2 held by it.

Robert Fitzroy, 10, shines in a hero's role. The boy ran two miles through the snow to bring his mother's baby to a doctor in the city.

The Grand Trunk railroad, in a brief filed in the case brought by Saginaw Valley manufacturers for alleged freight rate discrimination, declared that the rates of the Central Freight Association were not in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Some new features in litigation were pulled off by the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity of the Marshall high school in Adrian. They were the "mysteries of the order Monday night."

James A. Wells, who deliberately forged a check in Sault Ste. Marie in order to be locked up and kept in the Michigan State Prison for one to 15 years in prison.

THE DAILY PRESS