

CAPT. BIGELOW

Tells of His Boyhood School Days in Birmingham. Good Reading and Interesting.

Fort Yellowstone, Wyoming. Feb. 7th, 1908.

Dear George: I am going to write you a little something for publication. It is just a bit of reminiscence. In the home paper that you send me each week, I see articles showing changes that are constantly going on that have transformed Birmingham from a quiet little country village to a suburban town.

Through the long rows of maples, the boys played baseball in the yard until it got too dark, and then the leader of the village band got out in front of the foundry and played upon his cornet.

More to follow. MRANK P. BECKMAN.

OUR LITTLE DEER MOUSE.

This little mouse is well known by all wood-choppers; they live in forests mostly, where there are plenty of beech-nuts.

OUR LITTLE CHIPMUNK. This little animal should also be protected by law. This clever little animal is a very knowing little animal; if you don't think so, just take your sketch-book, and go where he is, and you will see at a glance.

Neighborhood Favorite. Mrs. E. D. Charles, of Harbor, Maine, speaking of Electric Bitters, says: "I have used them for years, and they are everywhere. It gives quick relief in dyspepsia, liver complaints, indigestion, malnutrition, nervousness, weakness and general debility."

DESCRIPTION OF HER TRIP FROM MICHIGAN TO THE FAR WEST.

An Interesting Letter. Editor of the Birmingham ECCENTRIC.

To the writer who has recently returned from a western trip, there comes the thought of writing a brief article for the columns of your paper.

October 15th I left Durand with a through ticket in a pullman sleeper enroute for the Pacific Coast. Through Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska could be seen miles of standing corn not quite ripe, and not in its thick leafy bloom.

TO THE EDITOR: As an important village election is soon to take place, I have thought that a few suggestions therewith would not be out of place.

WAKE UP! FIND OUT BEFORE YOU VOTE HOW YOUR CANDIDATE STANDS ON THE SEWER QUESTION.

Dear Sir: As an important village election is soon to take place, I have thought that a few suggestions therewith would not be out of place.

I refer to the condition of our streets and premises, arising from the lack of proper sewage to carry off the surplus water and for sanitary reasons.

Over an arm of Salt Lake on a bridge of trestle twenty miles long, then the Salt Lake Desert, the barrenness which the eye.

Stop that tickling cough! Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure will surely stop it, and with perfect safety. It is a thoroughly harmless that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else even with very young children.
