

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

AT THE THEATRES.

The management of the Lyceum Theatre takes annual delight in announcing for next week, commencing with the usual matinee on Sunday, the engagement of Vaughan Glaser and Company in a pretentious production of the charming comedy drama, "Old Heidelberg."

Notwithstanding that the appearance of this popular star and his splendid company would in itself be an attraction to fill the theatre for a week, Mr. Glaser has selected for the week a play that is so loaded with its theme and treatment, so fascinating in its story, and so rife with opportunities for every member of the company, that the engagement cannot but prove the most notable event of the season.

By special arrangement, Mr. Glaser has consented to give a matinee on Friday, when he will present that Frances Hodgson Burnett classic, "The Little Lord Fauntleroy," with the charming child actress, Ida Kashner, in the title role. This will be an unusual treat, not only for the children, but for grown-ups as well.

The engagement opens with a Sunday matinee, in addition to the regular matinee on Wednesday and Saturday matinee.

WHITNEY.

Commencing Sunday afternoon the Whitney will offer the musical melodrama, "The Little Organ Grinder," in which Miss Kathleen, a charming and petite little actress is starting. The story is impressive—not too sensational but true to nature—and full of life pictures. Ferris Lyndon, a man of the world, the brother of a millionaire merchant, who had an adopted son, a poor boy, endeavored to gain possession of his brother's millions and his ward's property, but was foiled by his brother's partners. The piece teems in logical threads and as a finishing touch Miss Ballou introduces an orchestra of clever dances and singers, every one a stage artist. The play has been given a lavish production by a strong cast produced by the B. E. Corcoran.

The engagement is for one week with matinees daily except on Wednesday.
