Senator Lodge of Massachusetts was made permanent chairman of the convention when the organization was completed, taking the gavel from Senator. Julius C. Burrows of Michigan, who was temporary chairman previous to Senator Lodge's occupation of the chair.

Fings, banners, sonting: In fact everything portable which languages to be at hand was tossed into the air and one enthusiastic woman advocatdf Tat's candidacy used a Knox banner for the purpose of expressing her elation.

Outbursts of cheers at times during Mr. Burton's speech interrupted him but after a few moments' pause he confilined. It was ar-the end of his address that the real pandemonium broke loose. Hundreds in-the remote parts of the Collsedim had not heard a word of the speech because of the minustrous proportions of the building but Mr. Burton's resuming his sea
