

The Tuberculosis Congress.
Few things which have advanced progress of civilization have advanced so rapidly as knowledge of the nature and curability of tuberculosis. The decision of physicians that the disease is not hereditary has lifted a burden of dread from thousands of hearts and the success of methods of treatment in the early stages of the disease has brought hope to thousands of others. But far more important than this has been, and will be, the work of bringing about an understanding of the dangers of the disease and impressing the necessity of precautions. From September 21 to October 12 the United States will be the host for the largest international congress on tuberculosis, which is to meet in Washington. Mr. Roosevelt has lately accepted the presidency of the congress. The occasion will undoubtedly be the most important that has yet occurred in the fight against the dread disease. The convention will bring together the most noted experts of the world, and methods of treatment and prevention which have shown the best results will be illustrated. It will be as interesting to the layman as to the physician, for in the stamping out of consumption much of the work will have to be done by laymen—officers of the various governments, the police, boards of health and private citizens. It is to be hoped, says the Youth's Companion, that the congress will also do something to allay the prevalent error which many persons have of anyone known to be suffering from tuberculosis—an attitude which frequently renders it impossible to secure the most desirable treatment for treatment camps or hospitals, and often results in grave injustice, if not actual cruelty, to the individual. If due precaution is observed, infection is in no way necessary. This, indeed, is the chief lesson which those most familiar with the matter are trying to impress.

Freight shipped to merchants east of the Mississippi may be playfully marked with the name and address of the consignee hereafter, according to a new section of the railroad laws. It has been the practice of manufacturers to mark the goods with a biographic, partly to save time in shipments, and partly to prevent spies and competitors from getting to their customers. This practice has been difficult for the railroad companies to deliver the goods. One company is said to have lost fifteen hundred thousand dollars in the last ten years in goods lost on the road. Officials of the railroad companies are said to have lost in the last ten years in goods lost on the road. Officials of the railroad companies are said to have lost in the last ten years in goods lost on the road.

What Roosevelt Has Done.
The man who formulated the expression of the popular conscience and who led the movement for reform was Theodore Roosevelt. He laid down the doctrine that the government is a law which should be able to restrain and control the power of the few and without influence, and he proceeded by his executive action to make that principle a reality. He secured the passage of the so-called trust laws, which were designed to prevent the excessive and unreasonable power of the trusts which have been general in the practice of the country. He secured the passage of the so-called trust laws, which were designed to prevent the excessive and unreasonable power of the trusts which have been general in the practice of the country.

Another national park is likely to be added to the domains of the United States at the next session of congress. The senate committee on public lands has reported in favor of taking the tract containing the beautiful scenery of the continental divide in Montana—a tract comprising nearly a million acres. The region contains numerous peaks from 6,000 to 10,000 feet in height and an abundance of game. A large number of big game animals, such as Rocky mountain white goats, bighorn, grizzly bear, elk and moose, suggests the value of reserving the tract as a breeding ground for the surrounding region. The bill proposed is the Glacier National park.

Corn is getting to be one of the great products of the world, although the United States has the first call. The uses to which corn may be put are rapidly increasing. It is being made into glucose from the grain in the foundation of an important industry, and a New York concern, finding the American supply petering out, is importing wheat from Argentina. But there is a promise of a glut in the corn market next fall, and the foreign article is merely a stop-gap. The mills will run at a still livelier rate when the home supply comes to market.

Mr. Flagler's retirement from Standard Oil, on account of his advanced years, would be pardonable, though he is not thereby wholly freed from caring cars. A man who is almost an octogenarian, and who has secured several millions of dollars on his own account, is not likely to be disengaged.

Count Tolstoy is fortunate in the assurance he has looked for in his publishers. The Russian classic has just ordered three of them suppressed. How some American writers with world reputation may see their writings could be suppressed.

A woman lecturer in Boston meets at men for wearing starched collars. She is unscrupulous. Late of collars are only starched when they come from the laundry, not after they are on white.

The community of feeling between the strenuous president and the woman kaiser is again illustrated by the latter's advocacy of a tax on bachelors. According to a complex blonde may safely walk in the sun, though many of them will prefer to continue using an automobile. "Why," asks the New York Times, "do people shoot at bachelors?" It is to be so easy for fools to get things to shoot with.

ROOSEVELT'S POLICIES

Makes His Notification Speech at Cincinnati, While City Is in Gala Attire to Receive Him as a Conquering Hero—Text of His Speech.

Cincinnati, O., (Special Telegram.)—The Republican party as its choice for president, has been elected. The occasion will undoubtedly be the most important that has yet occurred in the fight against the dread disease. The convention will bring together the most noted experts of the world, and methods of treatment and prevention which have shown the best results will be illustrated. It will be as interesting to the layman as to the physician, for in the stamping out of consumption much of the work will have to be done by laymen—officers of the various governments, the police, boards of health and private citizens. It is to be hoped, says the Youth's Companion, that the congress will also do something to allay the prevalent error which many persons have of anyone known to be suffering from tuberculosis—an attitude which frequently renders it impossible to secure the most desirable treatment for treatment camps or hospitals, and often results in grave injustice, if not actual cruelty, to the individual. If due precaution is observed, infection is in no way necessary. This, indeed, is the chief lesson which those most familiar with the matter are trying to impress.

Strength in Roosevelt Policies.
The strength of the Republican policy is shown in the fact that we represent policies which are the continuation of liberty and true property. The platform unambiguously declares, to maintain the full value of the national debt, to secure a fair income on the national debt, and to secure a fair income on the national debt. The platform unambiguously declares, to maintain the full value of the national debt, to secure a fair income on the national debt, and to secure a fair income on the national debt.

What Roosevelt Said.
Mr. Roosevelt has said in speaking of the effect of such valuation and supervision of the national debt. Existing securities should be more liquid. This nation would not be more liquid. This nation would not be more liquid. This nation would not be more liquid. This nation would not be more liquid. This nation would not be more liquid.

Rates Are Low, He Says.
The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low. The rate of interest is low.

Roosevelt's Proposed Classification.
The proposed classification of the National Control of Corporations. The proposed classification of the National Control of Corporations. The proposed classification of the National Control of Corporations. The proposed classification of the National Control of Corporations. The proposed classification of the National Control of Corporations.

Small Dividend for Glazier.
The Frank P. Glazier property, listed with the Security Trust Co. of Detroit, made the trip of 150 miles to Marquette on horseback. The fire destroyed the shaft house and adjoining buildings of the Tamarack mine, valued at $90,000. The fire destroyed the shaft house and adjoining buildings of the Tamarack mine, valued at $90,000. The fire destroyed the shaft house and adjoining buildings of the Tamarack mine, valued at $90,000.

Wife Divorced, Married Again.
Ten years ago David Porter sold out his confectionery business in Ann Arbor, Mich., and moved to Detroit. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children.

Convict Escapes.
Fred Collins, a convict, escaped from the Michigan State Prison at Jackson. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children.

Robbed the Guests.
A Sheriff Collins, Tuesday made the story of a neat gentleman who had been robbed of his money. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children.

And He Got Nothing.
Michael Mailey, the Muskegon township farmer who herded cattle in the Michigan State Prison, was released. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children.

His View of It.
The Georgia darkey, who had been in the Georgia State Prison, was released. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children.

THE STANDARD OIL DECISION.
The Standard Oil Co. will not be dropped, but the trial ordered by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals will be made. The Standard Oil Co. will not be dropped, but the trial ordered by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals will be made. The Standard Oil Co. will not be dropped, but the trial ordered by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals will be made.

THE WANDERER'S RETURN.
The Frank P. Glazier property, listed with the Security Trust Co. of Detroit, made the trip of 150 miles to Marquette on horseback. The fire destroyed the shaft house and adjoining buildings of the Tamarack mine, valued at $90,000. The fire destroyed the shaft house and adjoining buildings of the Tamarack mine, valued at $90,000.

THE AMERICAN WIN.
A total of eight first prizes were awarded for Olympic contests, were handed to American athletes in London. The American athletes in London were awarded first prizes. The American athletes in London were awarded first prizes. The American athletes in London were awarded first prizes.

THE QUEBEC CELEBRATION.
In spite of the fact that the price of wheat is declining, the celebration of the restoration of the constitution of 1876 has left the population of Constantine perfectly normal, and there have been no manifestations of satisfaction of the people. The celebration of the restoration of the constitution of 1876 has left the population of Constantine perfectly normal, and there have been no manifestations of satisfaction of the people.

THOSE TURKISH CONCESSIONS.
The momentous act of the Sultan of Turkey in proclaiming the restoration of the constitution of 1876 has left the population of Constantine perfectly normal, and there have been no manifestations of satisfaction of the people. The restoration of the constitution of 1876 has left the population of Constantine perfectly normal, and there have been no manifestations of satisfaction of the people.

ONE OF NATURE'S BEST GIFTS.
The Georgia darkey, who had been in the Georgia State Prison, was released. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children. He had a wife and two children.