Weak Heart Action

There are certain nerves that control the action of the heart. When they become weak, the heart action is impaired. Short breath, pain around heart, choking sensation, palpitation, fluttering, feeble or rapid pulse, and other distressing symptoms follow. Dr. Miles Heart Cure is a medicine especially adapted to the needs of these nerves and the muscular structure of the heart itself. It is a strengthening tonic that brings speedy relief. Try it.

"For years I suffered with what I thought was stomach trouble, when the doctors told me I had heart trouble. I had tried many remedies, when the Dr. Miles' almanac came into my hands, and I concluded to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I have taken three bottles, and now I am not suffering at all. I am cured and this medicine did it. I write this in the hope that it will attract the attention of others who suffer as I did."

A failing nerve, no larger than the finest silk thread, is free from the heart its impulse—its power—its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a week or failing stomach, heart or kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt, clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by Charles J. Shain.

AT THE THEATRES.

LYCEUM.

"The Alaskan," with its picturesque scenery, tuneful melodies, beauty chorus, and artistic principals will be offered at the Lyceum Theatre for one week, commencing Sunday afternoon. The piece is under the direction of Wm. P. Cullen and will be presented in Detroit with the same equipment that that characterized its unusually successful run in New York last season.

The piece is the result of the joint work of Joseph Blethen, Max Figman and Harry Gerard, and has been described as Totem Pole comic opera. This comparison is made by reason that the principal character is known as Totem Pole Pete, and the story concerns the legend of the Totem Pole, as believed by the Northwestern Indians. The cast is headed by Edward Martindel as Totem Pole Pete, and includes: Forrest Huff, Richard F. Carroll, Gus. C. Weinburg, Wm. Fables, Max Abbott, Lora Lieb, Fritzie von Busing, Ida Fitzhugh, Arlie Palmer and fifty others. A group of genuine Alaskan sledge dogs are a part of the "props."

The engagement opens with a Sunday matinee, in addition to which the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinee will be given.

WHITNEY.

"The Phantom Detective," a mysterious and highly romantic detective story, will be the offering at the Whitney Theatre for one week, commencing Sunday afternoon. The mystic and occult practices of the ancient Hindoo priests met with the practical thought cunning and cleverness of an ingenious detective are the principal elements of the performance, which, combined with the interesting romance, makes a rare melodramatic entertainment. The first scene is laid in the home of General Wharburton, a wealthy old soldier who lives with his two daughters, Clara Wharburton and his adopted daughter, Lyura Leone. Laura is really the only daughter of the general, and when a baby was stolen by Tiserra, a hypnotist. Laura, upon refusal to marry the hypnotist, is thrown into the lion's den but is rescued by the Phantom, who uses his own hypnotic power and overcomes Tiserra. The play is one succession of thrills.

The engagement is for one week with matinees daily except on Wednesday.

"My 3-year-old boy was badly constipated, had a high fever, and was in an awful condition. I gave him two doses of Foley's Orino Laxative and the next morning the fever was gone, and he was entirely well. Foley's Orino Laxative saved his life. A. Wolkush, Casimer, Wisconsin." Sold by all druggists.

HOWLAND THEATRE, PONTIAC.

"The Thief" which Charles Frohman will bring to this city or the first time at Howland theatre, March 16, is from the pen of Henri Bernstein, one of the most ingenious and successful of contemporary playwrights. Mr. Bernstein is already known for several plays similar in construction, very similar in ingenuity and composition to "The Thief," but it is probable that for many years to come he will be known in this country as he still is in France as the author of "The Thief" despite his more recent plays.

"The Thief" is in three acts. It observes all the unities of time, place, and intident. The action takes place within 24 hours. First produced at the Renaissance theatre in Paris, in December 1907. "The Thief" made an immediate sensation. It ran through the entire season with M. Guitry and Mme. le Bargy in the chief roles. About the foibles, the ambition, the cunning, the love as deep as human nature and as wide as human frailty of a woman. "The Thief" is a woman's play. But side by side with the great lesson it contains for every wife, it contains rich food for thought for every husband. It is the most startling human dramatic document put on the stage in years.

The company which will perform "The Thief" in Pontiac is sufficiently well known not to need detailed introduction. Every performer in "The Thief" is generally recognized as an actor or actress of great strength of emotion and sure dramatic appeal.

No play put on in the last 25 years has created the stirs and received such general approbation as this play from the French whose story runs as follows:

The Veysins, husband and wife, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Legardee at their country home. The Legardee's have a son, Fernand, who is smitten with Mrs. Voysin, and writes her the most ardent love letters. Mrs. Voysin who is young and charming, and who loves her husband with an unswerving devotion, treats the young man's amatory attitude lightly, as a sort of romatic flutter that will soon pass away. Disclosures are made that put an astonishing but satisfactory completion upon all the circumstances, and the dramatist is permitted to carry his story to a happy conclusion.

No doubt Birmingham people will avail themselves of the chance to hear this wonderful play.

The distinctively American play depends to a great extent on its portrayal of character and scenes which are of a local nature. Thus "Shore Acres" deals with the inhabitants of the coast of Maine; the "Old Homestead" with the natives of New Hampshire; "Arizona" with the denizens of the far western state of that name; and "Human Hearts" which is shortly to be seen here, with the peaceful lives of those who live in the picturesque Arkansas hills. Admitting as it does of elaborate scenic effects, this advantage it is said, Manager W. E. Nankeville has eagerly seized, to supply his patrons something out of the ordinary in the way of stage illusion. It is also stated that he has secured the services of a good company for the portrayal of the characters in "Human Hearts," those peciliarly adapted to impersonate the type of people living in the state of Arkansas.

At the Howland theatre, Pontiac, Friday, March 19.
