"The Prime Chap." Edward Pople's beautiful play, which has never been seen in Detroit, will be the offering of Vaughan Glaser and his associate players at the Lyceum Theatre all next week week. It was only on account of Mr. Glaser's well known ability to produce plays in the proper way, and by paying an enormous royalty, that he was able to secure this one for a stock production. This little play is conceived in simplicity and is none the worse for being the author's first eff. worse for being the author's first eff-ort. It is honest and touches the heart. The story is of a young sculptor who has left his home in New York and gone to London to sell his wares but unsuccessfully. It is dramatically told and by talented people.
