

The wind is no respecter of airplanes. There is a singular difference about this season's sea serpent.

With its earthquakes and revolts booming an unhealthy place to live in. We may now consider it demonstrated that a balloon will stay in the air as long as its gas holds out.

If everybody who is rich had property, and everybody who is poor were unhappy, there would be a good deal more to kick about than there is now.

In Morocco it is the custom for men to bury their money. In this country, however, it is more the custom to burn it.

Did the man whose wife has sued him for divorce because he used to take a razor to bed that he would have to answer quiet remarks?

The hotter the weather, the greater need to support those summer sufferings which aim to alleviate the sufferings of the poor.

We certainly do need to begin the day at the first peep of the sun if it is necessary under present circumstances to play ball by electric light.

In a balloon count the only thing definitely known beforehand is that the balloon will come to earth sooner or later—generally sooner.

When an airplane falls a victim to the total depravity of inanimate things to be subjected to the same law, because the higher the aim, the worse the fall.

A man has been sentenced to 14 years in prison in British Columbia for "Black Hand" practices. That seems a very decent and reasonable sentence.

While the married prima donna cannot constantly deny her publication reports of her engagement, she can manage to keep in the public eye by refusing divorce rumors.

It is pleasing to anticipate the days of purple grapes and blushing apples. Thanksgiving turkey, the elder with the head at it, the muskmelon browned and, reposing in his couch of browned potatoes, but we shall not have the sweet, soothing, ennobling warmth of this delicious August temperature then.

A "green" Vermont, or a Vermont Green Mountaineer, just as you went down to the swell golf contest at Englewood, N. J., in which a number of the notable members of the country participated, and that at the bench. All of which is fresh proof of the manner in which rural brains, muscle and skill are reinforcing the city stock.

A PROPOSAL.

Mr. Hardup—Good morning, Miss Argumtun—ahem! There is something I have been wishing to ask you for some time, but I don't care to have been able to screw up enough courage to do so.

Miss Argumtun—A proposal at last! Mr. Hardup—You are a very nice girl.

Miss Argumtun—Could you lend me five dollars?

The Artless Boy. The boy bowed politely to the grocer.

"I understand," he said, "that you want a boy. Will you kindly look me up?"

"I only pay $3," said the grocer, abruptly.

"I understood," said the boy, "that you paid four."

"I did pay four," he said, "until I saw in the paper the other day that Billie Rogers began his business career on a $3 a week."

The boy smiled.

"I don't expect to be a millionaire," he said, "I don't care to be rich—I'd much rather be good."

The grocer was so much pleased with the article that he compromised with the boy for three and a half.

Your Salary. The universe pays every man in his own coin; if you smile, it smiles upon you.

If you return it, you get more than you are given; if you do not, you are given more than you return.
