Don't be a knocker. Do not stand around like a dead one, wake up! Get busy!

No man ever became rich and happy minding anybody's business save his very own.

But whatever you do, do not be a knocker! You cannot afford it. It will not pay. There's nothing in it.

Three lots in our cemetery have just been placed under perpetual care by the payment of $25 for each lot.

You are earnestly, cordially and cheerfully invited to our fall chicken pie supper supper Thursday, Dec. 1.

If you can say a good word, say it like a prince. If you are full of bile, and grouchy, and disposed to say something mean, keep your mouth shut.

For sale—a bay horse, eight years old, good reader and sound as a gold dollar. Price $125. Write or telephone, Alex: Porteous, R. D. No. 1, Birmingham.

Wiley Bassett some six weeks ago had his knee cap turned bottom side up, and has suffered greatly ever since. Too bad. He is just able now to hobble around on crutches.

The young man's dancing party at the Johnston-Shaw hall was well attended and all present danced to their heart's content and were happy. Oh, well, we were young once ourselves.

Owing to the fact that the water must be turned off in our cemetery before freezing weather, the society has for several months put in foundations for several monuments whose orders came too late.

Miss Jessie Todd visited the E. H. S. this week Thursday.

Mr. J. F. Randol has planted 100 trees on his new subdivision.

"A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself, but the simple pass on and are punished."

Miss Lillian Stauch, and Mr. Loren Stauch, who are students at Ann Arbor, spent the week end at their home here.

Some like every church and organization gives their Christmas supper the last of this week. No one should go hungry.

Miss Mae Erwin, who is attending college in Ann Arbor, spent her Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Erwin.

Don't forget the time dancing party at the Franklin Park Hall, Friday evening Dec. 9th. These parties are always most enjoyable. You are invited.

Mr. W. E. Murchie, of Brown street is recovering from a brief but severe illness of lung fever. However, he is out again and the lights are burning brightly.

Dr. and Mrs. Peter Hilly, who have been spending the past three weeks with Mrs. Hilly's father, Dr. J. L. Campbell, returned to their home in the Laurel Hill part of last week.

You can't fail to note and read Mr. Big's ad. It is true. No need to go out of town for anything in any of his lines. Call and see him and look his goods over and you will surely buy.

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Graham, of Mt. Clemens, gave a Thanksgiving dinner at the Hotel Olympia for last week.

Among that number were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cowan, of this place, parents of Mrs. Graham.

Thank the good Lord the hunters are all back from the North woods with no serious mishaps. We have carefully tabulated all reports and the grand total is that they all had a bully time, and killed eleven gallons.

TO GIRGLE GOBBY

Kansas City Couple on Eight Thousand-Mile Tramp.

Their Route Leads to Southern, Eastern and Northern Boundaries of the Nation—Are to Camp Out a Year.

Kansas City, Mo.—Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Woolf, who walked from Kansas City to New York in the summer of 1914, are well started upon a walking trip which is to consume 7,500 miles and glide an area of nearly two-thirds of the United States.

They were accompanied by their dog, "Don," which walked with them on former trips, and their horse, "Dolly," which pulls a small two-wheeled cart containing food, a tent, extra clothing and cooking utensils.

"Walking Round the United States" was painted in large white letters on the bed of the cart. In smaller letters it was stated that Kansas City is the destination as well as the starting point of the trip. Mr. and Mrs. Woolf, dressed in brown suits which they designed themselves as best suited to the exigencies of tramping, led the Laurel Dolly, a walking horse, and, unaided, followed, and Don, the dog, trotted along behind under the cart.

As neighbors came in to say goodbye and things were being packed into the house and loaded on the cart, the dog's excitement increased and was not allayed until after the last neighbor had shaken hands with the party had passed through the side gate and down the street. Then he stopped barking and took his accustomed place under the cart.

The route of the walk is from Kansas City to a point in Texas on the coast, east to Jacksonville, Fla., north to the Canadian coast, west to Minneapolis and thence back to Kansas City. The winter will be spent in the south and this summer in the north, so that they will suffer no inconvenience from sleeping on the ground during the entire year. They expect to return to Kansas City in November, 1915.

Before starting more than 3,000 tags and labels pasted upon the wagon during the previous trips were removed and the cart was repainted. These are a few of the things packed within the one small box:

A tent, two cots, two sets of bedding, cooking utensils, provisions for dog, man and horse for three days, guns, fishing tackle and clothes, camp stove, sleeping bag, table, 5,000 blank postcards, photographer's outfit, 2,000 sheets of music, writing materials, violin, checker board, five gallons of water and an leeches.

"I feel like Columbus starting out to discover America," Mrs. Woolf said, when asked by the neighbors if she did not dread the trip. "I don't expect both to stand it and enjoy it."

QUEER VERDICT OF JURIES

Some Are a Puzzle and Difficult to Solve, While Many are Excitingly Amusing.

Chicago—"Here is a funny thing about the relative value of a man's right and left leg," said a Chicago lawyer. "Not long ago I was called upon to conduct the case of a man who had lost his left leg in a railroad accident. He was laid up in the hospital for several weeks. While there the doctor used to talk to him and caused much comment among the doctors and nurses. Other left-handed patients they had met with able to leave to fight fits, but my client's right hand wasn't even fit for that."

"The case came to trial, and the jury awarded him damages $100 in excess of what he had asked for, because, said the foreman, he is left-handed."

"The next day I stumbled on my man in a restaurant and found him stoking up with his right hand."

"That is all right," said he. "It isn't my own accomplishment. I could do it all the time. Can use one hand as well as the other, always could, but after I lost my left leg I concluded to let my right hand take a vacation. You see, I know the ways of juris. I cannot follow their reasoning, but I know the way of the jury. I have discovered that while the right leg is considered of more value to the average man than his left leg, the left leg is considered of more value to the left-handed man. I cannot see the connection, but juris can. You heard how the jury of mine said? Well, they always reason that way."

Fortunes for Play Writers.

New York—"The annals of the stage record the names of a great many of many authors whose contributions to stage literature have earned for them huge sums of money. Augustus Thomas is credited with a play worth $200,000; George Broadhurst is rated at $225,000; Eugene Walter boasts an income of $2,000 a week by reason of his two successes, 'The Excerpt' and 'Paid in Full.'

Yet these sums fade into insignificance when compared with the wealth of Charles Diefel, who derived from 'The Lion and the Mouse' one season alone $1,000,000 as his share of royalty. This play has netted him nearly $500,000. The 'Music Master' of which he is the author, was worth a fortune to him. For the ten weeks' engagement of this play at the Academy of Music, New York, Kitch received as his share $19,000. At one time his income totaled $5,000 a week.

Over 10,000 plays and operas have been written, and only two per cent of them are ever produced.
