One of the most interesting reports at the recent meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in Chicago, was that of the executive secretary, Dr. Livingston Farrand, showing the growth of the anti-tuberculosis movement since May 1, 1902. The number of associations for the prevention of consumption has increased from 229 to over 425; the number of sanatoria and hospitals for the treatment of tuberculosis is from 239 to 400; and the special tuberculosis dispensaries from 223 to 245. During the year 1909, thirty-six out of forty-three legislatures in session considered the subject of tuberculosis, and in 28 bills were passed for the prevention or treatment of the disease. Since the opening of the legislative season of 1910, out of ten legislatures in session up to May 1, all have considered the subject of tuberculosis and every one of them has enacted some law that bears on this subject.

Terrors of Frankness.
"There is no worse vice than frankness," said Booth Tarkington, at a farewell dinner in New York preceding his departure for Europe. "How should I feel, for example, if I asked you for your opinion of my plays, and you answered me frankly, quite frankly?"
"Why, I should feel like the poor lady at the bridge drive who said to her hostess' little daughter:
"Your eyes are such a heavenly blue. And what color are my eyes, darling?"
"The child's high treble traveled easily to the further end of the quiet room as she replied, looking earnestly up into her questioner's face:
"Dwab middles, yellow whites and wed wims!"

None.

LAYMEN'S CONGRESS IN CHICAGO ATTENDED BY THOUSANDS WOULD CHRISTIANIZE WORLD

Every Protestant Church in America Represented at International Meeting Which is Addressed by Many Eminent Men.

Chicago.—For four days, beginning May 2, Chicago was the scene of a most extraordinary gathering, the Laymen's National Missionary Congress. Every Protestant church in America was represented, and the delegates were men of affairs from all over the country who came here to consider plans for the evangelization of the entire world. They numbered 4,500 in all.

Among them were men of national and international prominence. Former Vice President Taft, who attended as a representative of the Methodist Episcopal church. Several governors were present. United States Senators Doolittle of Iowa and Beveridge of Indiana and former Senator Teller of Colorado were present at the first session. A number of former governors of states were registered. Among them were former Governor Hagedorn of Missouri, former Governor Carter of Illinois, former Governor Hanley of Indiana. Soldiers, sailors, business men, professional men and ministers were in attendance. The congress closed on Friday.

Close of Remarkable Campaign.
This convention marked the close of a remarkable religious campaign. The winter and spring missionary conventions were held under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. In 75 of the leading cities of the country the campaign began at Buffalo on October 16. The gathering at Chicago was the climax of the series.

The appeal for foreign missions was presented to the business men of these cities. All told, $3,000,000 business men registered as delegates to the conventions, paying a dollar for the privilege. In addition, thousands of other men attended the various sessions.

Each convention opened with a banquet. In most every case these banquets were the largest in the history of the cities. In these cities and hundreds of the surrounding towns were represented at the Chicago congress.

A national missionary policy was adopted. This policy will be sent to the World's Missionary conference at Edinburgh, Scotland, on June 14, where it is expected to give a profound conference. The delegates were apportioned among the various Protestant churches. The congress in accordance with their membership and gifts to missions. The Methodist Episcopal church led with 609 delegates, the Presbyterian church was second with 450 men. The Northern Baptist church had a quota of 330 delegates, the Southern church 200 men. The Southern Methodist church was represented by 255 men. The Protestant Episcopal church represented 170 delegates. Most of the other churches had proportionate representation.

The various sessions were held in the auditorium. The congress opened with the singing of "Crown Him Lord of All." Right Reverend Charles P. Anderson, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, made the opening address. He spoke on the "Will of Christ for the World," dwelling upon the need of Christianizing the world. Bishop Anderson, the Methodist Episcopal church, made the second address. The first evening was devoted to talks by J. Campbell Wilson, secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Chicago Globe.

Notable List of Speakers.
Among the speakers on the program were Prince T. H. Yun of Korea; J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe; Robert E. Spear, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions; William J. Schiefel, president of the Citizens' union of New York; Alfred E. Martineau of New York; Mornay Williams, chairman of the New York state board of charities; Clement Chase of Omaha; Howard A. Kelly of Baltimore; Samuel B. Capen of Boston; John R. Pepper of Memphis; T. H. M. Beardsley, formerly mayor of Kansas City; George Sherwood Eddy of India; Robert H. Gardner of Boston; Col. Elijah W. Halford, private secretary to the late President Harrison during his administration; Thomas Tippey and William H. Lewis of Seattle; R. A. Long of Kansas City; John B. Stewart of Washington, founder of the movement; William E. Sweet of Denver; Charles A. Rowland of Athens, Ga.; Alfred E. Martineau of New York; Judge Selden P. Spencer of St. Louis, N. W. Rowell of Montreal, John R. Pepper of Memphis, and missionaries from all over the world.

The Horse in America.
Dr. O. P. Hay expresses the belief that horses became extinct in the glacial regions of North America, and probably in the whole continent, about the middle of the glacial epoch. He points out that the apparently authentic finds of fossil horses in the United States east of the great plateau fall into two sets of localities, one ranging along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and the other extending from New Jersey to South Dakota, the localities in the last set being few and exceptions, close to the southern border of the drift-covered area. The earliest discovery of fossil horse remains was made near the Nevada highlands.

Quite a Puddle.
My child had been taught to be careful about spilling water on the floor. One day she was taking a bath in the Mississippi river, which flowed by the city where she lived. Upon reaching the bank of the river where it could be seen in all its wide expanse, she exclaimed: "Oh, my goodness, all that water!" From the Delaware.

TIME FOR HIS DEPARTURE DIDN'T GET THE SITUATION

As Close Friend Knew, That Frame of Mind Was Not Apt to Be a Reason One.

Ben. T. Rice and Hymen Levy, both of our read, were two of the real old Virginia characters in a small Piedmont county seat town; Ben was the keeper of the town inn and Hymen, a Jewish Jew, ran a grocery. Ben was noted for profane drinking and gambling and telling unkind words. Hymen was a daily visitor at the inn to get his dram, and at times became thoroughly shocked at Ben's outrageous language and manners. Ben, one evening, joined the town boys in an exciting game of football on Main street, became overheated, and, cooling off too quickly, went into pneumonia at night. Several physicians attended the case, but soon pronounced his case hopeless. A dozen or more of Ben's friends, among them Hymen, were standing around the bed just before Ben's spirit took its flight from earth, when Ben uttered a loud groan and said: "Oh, I-o-r-d, have mercy on me!" At this moment Hymen turned his head slowly and remarked: "The good Lord ought to take Ben right now, for he never will be so good no more."

UP AGAINST IT.

AN INTOLERABLE ITCHING

Just about two years ago, some form of humor appeared on my scalp. The beginning was a slight itching but it grew steadily worse until, when I combed my hair, the scalp became raw and the ends of the comb-teeth would be wet with blood. Most of the time there was an intolerable itching. It was a painful, burning way, very much like a bad, raw burn. It deep, will itch and smart when first beginning to heal. Combing my hair was positive torture. My hair was long and tangled terribly because of the blood and scabs. This continued growing worse and, after half my hair fell out. I was in despair, really afraid of becoming totally bald.

"Sometimes the pain was so great that, when partially awake, I would scratch the itching places so that my fingertips would be bloody. I could not sleep well and, after being asleep a short time, that awful stinging pain would commence and then I would wake up nearly wild with the torture. A neighbor said it must be salt rheum. Having used Cuticura Soap merely as a toilet soap before, I now decided to order a set of the Cuticura Remedies—Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills. I used them according to directions for perhaps six weeks, then let my hair grow as the disease seemed to be eradicated, but toward spring, eighteen months ago, there was a slight return of the scalp humor. I commenced the Cuticura treatment at once, so had very little trouble. On my scalp I used about one half a cake of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment in all. The first time I took six or seven bottles of Cuticura Pills and the last time three bottles—either an expensive or tedious treatment. Since then I have had no scalp trouble of any kind. Standing up, with my hair unbound, it comes to you knees and had it not been for Cuticura I should doubtless be wholly bald.

"This is a voluntary, unolicited testimonial and I take pleasure in writing it, hoping my experience may help someone else. Mine Lillian Brown, R. F. D. 1, Liberty, Me., Oct. 29, 1909."

Factor—I Differ.
"Your husband in the crowd down town today, in fact, he was so close that I could have touched him."
"Hoices—That's strange. At home he is so close that nobody can touch him!"—Puck.

Circumstances Alter Cases.
"The trouble is that too many people give expensive presents. That's why the match-cook is so poor during the holidays."
"Rot! My wife's father gave her a blouse and lot."

Important to Mothers.
Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Williams. In Use For Over 30 Years. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

"D-e-f-a-d-u-m" spelled the youngster on the rear seat as the "rubber-duck" wagon was passing the Twenty-second Regiment armory, at Broadway and Sixty-eighth street. "What does that mean, auntie?"
"I don't quite catch what the guide said," replied the old lady. "Oh, Mr. Guide, won't you kindly tell us what it says on that building?"
"D-e-f-a-d-u-m!" roared the guide through his megaphone, dividing the word into three sections.
"That's what it is," said the old lady. "A dead and dumb asylum."

One of the officials of the Midland railway, coming from Glenwood Springs the other day, was telling a young woman on the train how wonderfully productive Colorado's irrigated ground is.
"Really," he explained, "it's so rich that girls who walk on it have big groves. It just simply makes their feet grow."
"Huh," was the young woman's rejoinder, "some o' the Colorado men state have been going around walking on their heads."—Denver Post.
