Chinaman's Valuable Invention.—A Chinese has invented a simple machine with which a person can make straw braid of the quality 13 times as rapidly as by hand.

Effects Naval Speed.—It is well understood among naval men that the speed of a vessel is affected by the depth of the water, not merely in shoal places, but even in the deeper waters.

Cultivation of Love.—Love must be cultivated, and can be increased by judicious culture, as wild fruit may do by their nursing under the hand of a gardener; and love can dwindle and die out of neglect; as choice flowers are planted in poor soil dwindle and grow stunted.—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Bibles of the World.—The so-called "Bibles of the World" number six, as follows: The Koran of the Mohammedans, the Tri Pitakas of the Buddhists, the Five Kings of the Chinese, the Trai Vedas of the Hindus, the Zandavesta of the Persians and the Scriptures of the Christians. The Koran is the most recent of these sacred writings, dating from the seventh century, while the oldest is the Zandavesta, going back thousands of years before the birth of Christ.—Literary Digest.

St. Peter (impromptly)—Yes, but you couldn't stand it down there, they use profanity, incorrect English, and—Old Maid—Splendid! At last I can teach in a man's college!—Brooklyn Life.

Among some true bushes which Mr. Macneil the station master got from the True potato plant appeared, which was allowed to come to maturity. In Various Colors.—A Boston man is going to throw light on a dark subject by killing all the germs in food with violet rays. It makes the doctors feel blue.

During the Spanking.—"M-m-mamma, y-you'd better stop. I'm makin' sa-so much noise you c-couldn't hear my telephone if it was to ring."—Hilbert's Monthly.

Work and Motives.—The man who won't work without a bustle mustn't stick up before him, nor work with it. Each year the crop of wise saws, infallible receipts for success, seems to be larger than the one before. Every philosopher from Lord Bacon down to Albert Hubbard has been forced to give up.—Sutter Independent.
