

HIS WELCOME FOR PRODIGAL

Cowboy Would Have Reversed Pro-ceedings as Recorded in the Scriptures.

Judge Ben H. Lindsey of the famous Denver juvenile court said in the course of a recent address in charity:

"Too many of us are inclined to think that, one mistake made, the boy is gone for good. Too many of us are like the cowboy.

"An itinerant preacher preached to a cowboy audience on the 'Prodigal Son.' He described the foolish prodigal's extravagance and dissipation; he described his penury and his hunger, and addressed the cowboy personally. He described his return, his father's loving welcome, the rejoicing, and the preparation of the fatted calf.

"The preacher in his discourse noticed a cowboy staring at him very hard. He thought he had made a convert, and addressing the cowboy personally, he said from the pulpit:

"My dear friend, what would you have done if you had had a prodigal son returning home like that?" "Me!" said the cowboy, promptly and fiercely. "I'd have shot the boy and raised the calf!"—Detroit Free Press.

EPIDEMIC OF ITCH IN WELSH VILLAGE

In Downais, South Wales, about fifty years ago, a disease known as the itch. Believe me, it is the most terrible disease of the kind that I know of, as it itches all through your body and makes your life an inferno. Sleep is out of the question and you feel as if a million mosquitoes were attacking you at the same time. I knew a dozen families that were so affected.

The doctors did their best, but their remedies were of no avail whatever. Then the families tried a drug that was noted far and wide for its remarkable effect on people coming to him from all parts of the country for treatment, but his medicine made matters still worse, as a last resort they were advised by a friend to use the Cuticura Remedies. I am glad to tell you that after a few days' treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, the itch was completely cured and the result was a perfect cure in all cases.

"I may add that my three brothers, three sisters, myself and all our families have been users of the Cuticura Remedies for fifteen years. Thomas Hugh, 1650 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill., June 29, 1910."

An Easy Fit.

A number of years ago there lived in northern New Hampshire a notorious woman-hater. It was before the day of ready-made clothing, and wanting a new suit, he was obliged to take the material to the village tailor. She took his measurements, and when she cut the coat, made a liberal allowance on each seam.

The man's dislike of women in general prevented his having a fitting. He took the finished garment without trying it on. It was made of a large, and his disgust was apparent to the answer he made to the friendly loafer on his first visit to the post office, when he wore the "despised" article. "Got a new cut, Obed?" said the loafer.

"No, I ham't!" said Obed. "I've got seven yards of cloth wrapped round me."—Youth's Companion.

The Home of the Cod. There is just one other great cod bank in the world besides those of Newfoundland. It lies off Cape Agulhas, which is the southern tip of Africa, and south of the Cape of Good Hope. The Agulhas plateau is said to be almost a duplicate in size and richness of the north cod banks. But this is too far off, so there is little promise of its appeasing the hungry appetite of the world for cod.

Preachers have been telling the people that they are mean and selfish so often that they all believe it and practice it.

Round Dairy Barn.

In the early days when lumber was cheap, buildings were built of logs, or at least last heavy frames. Upon these conditions the rectangular barn was the one naturally used, and people have followed in the footsteps of their forefathers in continuing this form of barn. The result is that the economy and advantages of the round barn have apparently never been considered.

By the Zoroastrian Rite

German Couple in Leipzig United According to the Prescripts of the Zend Avesta.

The first marriage according to Zoroastrian rites has been performed in Leipzig, Germany, in a temple owned by a Zoroastrian community which bears the name of Mazdaznan (the master thought). On the altar, which was adorned with spring flowers, stood a candelabrum and a round mirror flanked by an imitation apple made of silk thread, an imitation nut and a gold ring on a silver savor. Two chairs were decorated with colored ribbons, for the bridegroom, blue and yellow, signifying intellect guided by wisdom; and for the bride, red and white, emblematic of love and purity. A couple of children united these ribbons into a figure as performed by means of the silken thread taken from the apple, the symbol of beauty, and from the nut, the symbol of strength.

EXCELLENT BROWN SWISS COW

The Brown Swiss is one of the standard breeds from Switzerland. It has become generally distributed throughout Europe and was first imported into the United States in 1859. Brown Swiss cattle are well adapted to the conditions when a combination of dairy and beef production is sought, says Orange Juds Farmer. The size is medium; cows weigh 1,500 to 2,000 pounds. The quantity of milk is moderately large and the fat content good. According to the American Standard, the color is dark to light brown, or some seasons of the year gray. The attractive cow, here shown, Folio 1655, was bred in New York and made a record of 4,403 pounds milk in 120 days.

Sowing Late Cabbage. It is time to sow late cabbage in all sections. See that the seed bed is fine and moist. Cover seed with not less than three-fourths of an inch of soil and do not sow too thickly. This sowing encourages the growth of strong stalky plants which stand sprouting plants.

Always pick vegetables for the market before they are fully matured, as they are then more apt to ripen at the proper time for the user.
