The residents in the south part of the village are being greatly annoyed by some party tearing the screens from the windows and prowling around nights. It won't go well with him if he is caught. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The Detroit Evening News Co. have made a change in its agents during the past week. The route which has been managed by Wm. Parr will now be in the hands of Ferris Gardner and Fred Puogel. The route which Ora Glass had charge of will be looked after by Robert Reibel. Occasionally something happens something happens which the boys are not to blame for. Of late the papers have been carried by two or three times and the papers could not be delivered on time. This was no fault of the agents. They mean at all times to treat their patrons fairly.

W. G. Hardy gave a Dutch picnic to several of his friends at Lafayette Park last Sunday. A fine time was had by all.

Harry Gardner had a narrow escape from serious injury last Friday afternoon while campaigning near Farmington. He was riding in an automobile owned and driven by Henry Griffin, of Orion, when the steering gear broke and they were both tumbled into the ditch. Fortunately they both escaped with only slight bruises.

We invite the attention of the TRIBUNE readers to the new advertisement of Mr. M. Levinson, proprietor of Birmingham's Big Department store. This store, without doubt, is the most complete and best stock and store of general merchandise in Oakland county. All residents of Royal Oak city and townships adjoining are cordially invited to call and get Mr. Levinson's prices.

A Detroit Real Estate Investment That Will Pay You 10% or More Annually

We offer for sale a number of Apartment Houses, located in the best residence sections of Detroit. They are all six-apartment buildings, recently constructed. The prices run from $10,000 to $17,000. We will show at least 10 per cent net annually as a renting proposition. The natural increase in value of the real estate is a good investment in itself.

We sell on time. See us or write for particulars that will enable you to make a completed investigation.

Refreshing Strenua.

How often a man has cause to turn thanks for enthusiasm of his friends? They are the little fountain that run down from the hills to refresh the mental desert of the despondent.—Henry Van Dyke.

Freedom of the Will.

The freedom of the human will is limited to the choice between what a man is forced to regard as good and what he cannot fail to regard as evil, but in this choice he is unlettered.—Baron Stockmar.

Ancient Knives of Stone.

Herodotus tells us that the knives used by the Egyptian surgeons were made of stone. The first mention of knives anywhere speaks of them as being of stone, so they must date back to an ancient epoch.
