Last week Thursday will long be remembered by Editor Mitchell, as a very busy day of all days in 1910. Its every two weeks of so that he and General John Heth with the black pony and light boots empty the house cellar of ashes. Mitchell does a suit of blue denim, a blue overall and wampas—looks like a Billy Bounce twist you and I. Well, the pair got into the sled and away went the pony, and in the cold, cold air the most graceful mid-air pirouette, the cutest parabola ever witnessed in Oakland Co., but his landing was in bad taste and agonizing form. He landed on the ice and board midway between the county seat and his shoulder, and for poor, hungry pencil-pusher was "all in and out." F. J. Allen Biglow, led the first aid to the afflicted and promptly and efficiently, and quickly had his patient ready for the coming reception, and then called Dr. C. M. Ryan, for medical aid, and the taking of the howling Derivish home. His return homeward was classic in the extreme. Lieut. Gov. Will E. Walker of Troy, led the pageant, with an appropriate team, handsome wood-rack and beautiful downy robes to which Mitchell was carried and gently laid upon. Those implicated in the kindly act were Capt. M. O. Biglow, of the 8th I. L. Co., President A. Whitehead, of the First National Bank, assisted in loading up the wreck, with Dr. Charles De Massapant Raynolds holding hands with the martyr. After four days of recovery as directed by the "Eccentric" "Richard is himself again." The assistant James are Ned and Wiley. Mr. John Heth is to get his later on.

Master Willie Calger, nephew of former Landlord Anderson of the National, now of Toronto, Ont., is convalescing from a serious attack of pneumonia and is at the city hospital. He has stood his siege like a soldier, boy that he is and we are all glad he is nearly as good as ever.

About the same time Editor Mitchell broke his back (nearly) Mrs. John Mitchell caught her foot under a rug and fell flatly and at first it was thought her limb was broken but luckily it wasn't as bad as that. She is able to get about in a very careful manner and attends to her household work as usual.

S. M. Howling, motorman of the D. U. R., is laid up with a broken leg and several bad bruises, the result of a head on collision with his car and a team driven by an alleged drunken motorman on the car track. It is said two horses and a mule were killed, and the driver named Hibler is in the hospital for repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson entertained on Christmas Mr. and Mrs. George Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Groves, Sr., and daughter, Anna, William Brown, and daughter, Alta, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groves, Jr., and children; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Groves, and son Floyd; Miss Jennie Peterson and Mr. Frank Ogle of Greenville, and Miss Mabelie Kyser of Birmingham.

Telephone Manager Kelly and Frank W. Sherman are eyeing Mr. Harry M. Shepherd, of Woodward avenue, with suspicious eyes. It is like this, Mr. Kelly has recently lost a turkey and Frank Sherman lost three chickens. Christmas day Mr. Shepherd invited the Sherman family to a first class chicken dinner and Frank is sure the tracks led around his poultry rather than feast—well Frank is thinking yet over it.

Until April 1st, 1911, the hardy shores of the Huston Hardware Co. and the W. H. & Co. will both be kept prominently at 6 o'clock p. m. This is a should be. It is only right that store-keepers and their clerks should have at least part of the evenings to themselves for the coming three months—the acknowledged mid-winter of the year. They do not need a general movement of all the stores and business places, close at 7:30 p. m., until April 1st. Along with the hardware stores even now are the meat markets and the barber shops. This leaves only a few others, and if we are in error, the balance of the Birmingham merchants will fall in line. Interviewing most of the dealers, we find that the early closing movement is greatly desired by all. Who will go ahead with this movement?

"Divides Waters of Two Oceans," Brings exactly at the Niagara divide of the divide of the Rocky Mountains, on the Crow's Nest division of the Canadian Pacific railway, in British Columbia, the Summit hotel, of which "Andy" Goodie, a famous hunter and frontiersman, is proprietor, claims a unique distinction. When it rains the mountains the water which falls on the eastern slope to the Summitt hotel trickles away to join a tiny brook which in due process of time mingles its waters with the broad Atlantic. The water falling just beyond the ridge, on the other side of the roof, flows westerly, and ultimately into the Pacific—Whole World.
