GOT THEM "GUMMY-SIDE UP"

Cranky Man Also Got One-Cent Stamps When He Had Paid for Twos.

The man who keeps a watchful eye on the federal government bought five postage stamps. The drug store cashier laid them down, picture side up, whereupon the customer confounded her with his knowledge of the government. He unfolded a newspaper and pointed to a headline:

"Stamps must be delivered gummy side up."

"See that?" said he. "By laying down stamps the way you did you are loading me up with germs. This window sill may be alive with germs. They will stick to the gum on the stamps, and I shall carry them home and lick them off and maybe be laid up with a spell of sickness."

The girl gave the stamps another little push, and he shoved them back.

"What do you want me to do?" she asked.

"Take these stamps back," he said, "and lay out five more gummy side up as the government directs."

She obeyed. He folded the slip, still gum side up, and put it in his pocket. He went home and wrote letters till bedtime, and prepared to stick on the stamps. Then he said: "Hang that girl."

The drug store cashier had given him one-cent stamps.

The New Maxwell Messenger requires a minimum of care
Any owner, no matter how inexperienced, can take care of his Maxwell Messenger in 15 minutes, or less, each day.
It is simplicity itself, both in design and operation. The car is so easy to understand that anyone can take care of it.
And yet the simple design is not wholly responsible for this—the excellence of material and care in production makes it possible.
It is easy to drive—that's why it is so popular as a ladies' car.
It is sturdy, stylish, useful, and economical. The Maxwell Messenger succeeds the famous Model AB—used by 21,000 owners, including 14,500 doctors, who say it is the best car for the busy practitioner.
With all improvements, including magneto, top, three oil lamps, two gas lamps and generator, at $600
Color scheme is optional—dark-blue body, with light-blue wheels, or blue body with cream-colored wheels. Let us demonstrate this stanch car to you.
