Miller' of Detroit the clob's endorsement of the child labor bill now before the legislature.

The meeting was then given over to the legislative committee who had arranged a mock assion of the Michigan legislature. After roll call by the clerk, each member brought up some law that has been prominently before the people during the past fw months.
24 laws were discussed and some very decided opinions were given in regard to the fitness of all law makers to decide on their merits.

One assent member brought in from a hage ball jame by this sergeant at arms was reprimanded and fined.

It being the birthday of Senator Miller, a committee was named by the speaker to take to het the congratulations of the body.

Tea was served by the hostess and the social hour much enjoyed by all.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Stearns.

A DETROIT NEWS STORY.

A DETROIT NEWS STORY.

Recently The Detroit News offered prizes for the best and most amusing stories of experiences of lady clerks in the Detroit stores. Rose Schaefer of J. L. Hudson & Co. won the first brize a box holding six, at the Detroit Orbera House to hear Rose Stahl in "Maggie Pepper" a great departmentstore story, Miss-Rose's story is a good one, but appears to us to be one we have heard before or one very much like it. It is about a lady coming into the store, and having fitted to her hand several pairs of gloves, finally finding a pair that fitted told the sales lady just as she was making out the sales lady just as she was making out the sales ticket: "never mind the ticket I don't want to buy any gloves, I have rheumatism in my hand and the rubbing is as good as a massage, which costs one dollar." This is good but in our mind is second to the experience as told by "S. F. G." an exclerk who relates the following: A large display of hosiery in a store window, reduced from 25 to I cents a pair, attracted many 8t the fair feminine bargain seckers.

§ The afternoon was well advanced when a woman of cansiderable avoirdupois and near the age of 40, approached the counter, and began rummaging. She finally paused, holding up full leight the largest hose to be found.

"Do you think those tops will fit me."

she inquired anxiously.

"Lady!" I replied, "those are elastic tops and are warranted to stretch so are tops and are warranted to stretch so us to fit large limbs snugly."

My information evidently was too vague, for apping the floor walker, who was conveniently near, she turned to him, saying:

"Will these fit me—are these the

'Neyer mind.'' lker. ''I reallybroke in the floor

walker. 'I reany ----.
. The lady hurried back to the counter and purchased the hose.
