

PROCURE A GOOD STOCK RAM

By R. S. SHAW, Director Michigan Agricultural College

The mating season for sheep is fast distant and the best selections of flock headers can be made early in the season. At this time one can choose from among the best of the ram lambs and yearlings or two-year-olds. Offerings of males will go quickly as soon as the show season opens up and by the time the sheep is actually needed the market will be getting well out over. Procure a ram of good or older ram if possible. Ram lambs should not be used unless exceeding well mated for the service of a small flock only. For a bunch of four or five time an early weaning effect on that body, as the equalized value of the whole state has been affected from $174,100,000 to $2,290,000,000, an increase of $55,380,000 since the last meeting of the board in 1906.

However, this increase is $673,533, 822 less than the value placed on the condition. The leading districts in each report filed with the board last week. It was the contention of practically every representative that the board of equalization should not follow the dictates of the tax commission in its regard, as it was the unanimous opinion of every one interested in taxation matters that the tax commission had gone slightly beyond the limit.

That the board of equalization reduce the value as should be given the tax commission is no surprise to those who have followed closely the proceedings of the last two weeks. The figures in detail. The complete figures, with those of the last equalization five years ago, are given herewith:

Fitting Aged Ewes for Market on the Farm

By R. S. SHAW

In maintaining a profitable flock of sheep careful selection must be practiced year after year. Some of the older ones must be eliminated and younger ones chosen to fill their places. As a general rule it is desirable to keep ewes beyond their sixth year unless in the case of special individuals or flocks of strictly fine wool types. The matter of age alone should not be the deciding factor in disregarding the ewe, for her ability to raise a good lamb is not determined by her age but by the condition of her teeth and the condition of her herd. Factors to be considered as well as the fitting and marketing of the flock to be useful further in breeding flock is quite a problem, especially if her teeth are defective and she is in a thin condition because of having reared lambs during the past season. As a rule she cannot be gotten for market profitably on dry feed during the winter except with abnormal market conditions.

As soon as the old ewe's lambs have been weaned she should be given a good growth crop, a well established new seeding or a patch of rape. To force the grain allowance of ground corn and oats in equal parts which would be improved some by the addition of alfalfa. Neither was the condition have fattened the ewe sufficiently for market then the best possible feed should be made with either corn or buttermilk winter sets in.

AUTUMN FEED FOR THE FARM FLOCK

By R. S. SHAW

The question of pasture for sheep in autumn is not as serious a problem as in the field with the result that they do not dry summer. The sheep grazes so closely it can thrive on pastures too sparse for other stock. It is for this reason that the best vegetation, including nearly all weeds, that sufficient food is to be found in lanes, fence corners, meadows, stubble fields, cut-over woods, and near fields, etc. As a cleaner the sheep is valuable in converting waste products into money and ridding the farm of weeds. Almost every detail of the Michigan Agricultural College farm is planned by sheep during the season. The sheep is the main asset resulting from grazing well established and thrifty new seedings, providing they are not cropped too closely. An interesting case was observed a year or two ago in the case of a Michigan potato grower who was unable to give his potatoes sufficient cultivation at the proper time, thus permitting numerous weeds to get a vigorous start. A flock of sheep was turned in the potato field and the weeds entirely, leaving the potatoes unharmed. A rape pasture is very desirable for sheep in winter as they will eat the rape broadcast or in drills, or it may be sown with oats or corn after the former has come up and at the time of the last cultivation of the latter.

Every failure is a step to success; every detection of what is false, a step to what is true; every error exhausts some tempting form of error. —Wheeler.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Walled Lake—James Stringfellow of Walled Lake, head of the Walled Lake Fishing and Hunting Club, has arranged to sell the club well on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He demanded an examination, which was set for the first of November. The club was practically denied the Walled Lake hotel by the township board by means of boosting the license fee after Oakland county voted "wet" two years ago. The club idea developed, with the result that a daily incorporation of the township board by means of members who can secure intoxicants for their own use.

Hancock—A blaze at the county infirmary revealed the absolute lack of protection at that institution. Six aged and infirm patients were injured by fire, while the superintendent and aides battled the flames with buckets, pails and a small garden hose. The fire was extinguished by the fire department. The superintendent and aides were discharged in automobiles, saved by their chemical extinguishers.

Jackson—After spending a quarter of a century behind the bars of Jackson prison, John Boyd is to be released. There are five other men in the penitentiary who will be released at the same time, which permits of a parole at the expiration of 25 years of a life sentence.

Cassopolis—James L. Robinson was killed by a Jersey bull on his farm in Jefferson township near here. The body was found in his barn and he is reported to have been a member of the state house of representatives, 1899 to 1903, and was a director of the Cass County State bank of Cassopolis. He was sixty years old and a wealthy farmer.

Vernon—Among the beneficiaries of the will of the late John W. Gates, the financier, is his uncle, Sherburn W. Gates, who lives on a farm east of Vernon. Mr. Gates in 1900 left a property valued at $10,000. He now lives on a farm given him by his wealthy nephew, and on July 27 in the state of Michigan celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary.

Delton—D. G. Cross of Orangeville took a deadly dose of morphine during the change of life before he died. He was a member of the state house of representatives, 1899 to 1903, and was a director of the Cass County State bank of Cassopolis. He was sixty years old and a wealthy farmer.

Marshall—Jerome Phelps, a well-known resident of Tekonsha, was found dead in his barn with a bullet through his chest. The rest of the family had gone to a ball game and he had remained at home. His wife was not at home. He was a member of the church and was a prominent farmer in Barry county.

Cornwallville—N. Y. "I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for change of life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth. It has done me a world of good."—Mrs. M. A. Greene.

Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day I was away visiting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I can now do my own housework and I feel like a new woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. Sugar Beet Crop Will Exceed That of 1910.

With the campaign of the beet sugar factories only a few weeks distant, the national association of beet growers is issuing their own thanksgiving messages right now for the blessings of Providence for the coming season points to a crop considerably above the normal. It was reported that the production of last year, said H. G. Hancock, superintendent of transportation for the Fovey Manufacturing Co. The season has been favorable to the growth of the important product of Michigan farms and the acreage for the current year exceeds that of any previous year.

State Treasury Nears Bottom. State Treasurer Sleeper in his monthly report on the condition of the state's finances shows a balance on hand in the general fund of $439,151, which is $40,000 less than the amount provided for state expenses a year ago. It is expected that the treasury will be empty before the first of November.

Little Dose, for instance, listened to the conversation of two adults with silent interest until one of the ladies, speaking of an unsatisfactory photograph remarked that her mother and father were pleased with portraits of their children, for the reason that the children did not look so sallow as they did to the loving mother and father.

"No, and children don't look at other people as they look at their mothers, either!"

"Horse sense."

"Why so?"

"He never gets on one."

Women's Danger Period Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

"I cannot express what I thank God for during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not sleep. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor."—Mrs. M. A. Greene.
