

Restored at Last to Perfect Health by Doan's Kidney Pills. Mrs. Narcissa Waggoner, Carterville, Ill., says: "Over ten years ago I suffered terribly with backache, headache, nervousness and dizziness. The kidney secretions were unusually thick and gave me great trouble. One day I suddenly fell to the floor, where I lay for a long time unconscious. Three doctors who treated me, diagnosed my case as paralysis, and said they could do nothing for me, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and was miraculously cured. I am stronger than before in years."

WHAT HE WAS DOING.

"Did you fall, my son?" "Now! Course I didn't! I'm just taking a mud bath by me doctor's orders!"

But Mamma Didn't. Little Mabel was always tumbling down and getting hurt, but as soon as her mother kissed the bumped forehead Mabel would believe it cured and cease crying. One day she accompanied her mother to the Union depot, and while they were seated in the crowded waiting room an intoxicated man entered the door, tripped over the aisle and fell sprawling on the floor. The attention of every one was attracted to the incident, and in the sudden silence following the fall, Mabel called out:

"Don't cry, mam. Mamma'll kiss and on 'em 't'll be all right." Little Mabel's Magazine.

Creation of Habit. "Man," didactically began Professor Twigg, during a recent session of the See Ya Tu Um club, "is a creature of habit."

"Yeh-yah," grunted Old Coder. "Yeh-yah, my nephew, Canute J. Hanson seems to be a creature of habit. He has been running by the same automobile twice. But then Canute always comes home down the same lane about the same hour in the evening, after he has partaken of about the same amount of hard cider."

Only a fool ever attempts to convince a man that he isn't as clever as he thinks he is.

"The Memory Lingers"

Man Who Fell into the Thames Resused Admittance to Police Stations and Hospital. The complaints made occasionally in New York of the refusal of hospitals to admit emergency patients, some of the most desperate cases, were brought to mind by the experience of a London man who fell into the Thames the other day.

Nothing in the testimony on the subject indicated that the unfortunate was not a patient in his own mind. London case red tape appears to have been responsible for the delay of access to the man who took an involuntary bath in the icy waters of the river.

The story of the "red tape" police court, when a young laborer was charged with breaking a plate glass window in the Salvation Army shelter in Whitehall.

Magistrate was interested in the prisoner's story that he had been turned away from police station and a hospital, and declined to dispose of the case until he ascertained whether it was true.

Another tale of red tape methods in London, where a hospital is refused admittance because of a broken window.

Mr. French Strother, writing in the World's Work, says that he had been on the trip to Washington. He received five dollars a mile for his flight from New York to Fort Worth, and from Fort Worth to Paris.

There had been no accident at the railroad crossing in Little Pennsylvania town, which the Philadelphia fellow, who the detective placed doubt both his office and its incumbent, had impounded a jury for the inquiry.

There was only one witness or the accident, an illiterate Slav from the coal mines who could understand no English save his own.

John Smith Everywhere. The good old name of John Smith does not suggest in English a certain degree of aristocracy, but transferred to other languages it seems to climb the ladder, so to speak.

Women Vote in Bombay. In Bombay, India, women exercise the municipal franchise and therefore indirectly control the legislative council, some of whose members are elected by the women.
