R. D. NO. 1

George Code has given up looking for spring.

R. F. D. No. 3, had the mishap last Tuesday to break his nice top cutter.

James Anderson, Jr. has rented his father's farm, stock, goods and all, and will move right away.

The Highway Commissioner and sub scribers are just a sweating keeping the roads in good shape.

Tom Dickinson and a gang of men, all good fellows cleaned out the snow south on Woodward ave. So, now it is clean sailing.

For the past 10 days it has been nip and tuck for the R. F. D. boys mostly bo.h to get around, but is looking nicer at this writing.

Now let me say if you ever break down near Wm. Maxwell's just whisper to him that you are in trouble and he will fly to your relief.

Mrs. Hunt & Son of Chesaning, were the guests of her sister, Mrs. D. J. McKinley for a few days, also the the guests of her uncle, Joseph Croft.

R. F. D. No. 1, enjoyed a fine dinner last Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Wood and a big dumpling dinner it was, followed by a swell after dinner smoke.

Last Wednesday R. R. No. 1 Rousseau, on account of the big blizzard, got stuck and broke down at Wm. Maxwell's; stayed all night, had a good bed and plenty to eat and was brought home by Mr. Maxwell Thursday in fine style and good shape.

How's This?

We offer $100.00 Reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Power of One Word.

A word is a little thing, yet one word has been many a man's destiny for good or for evil.

IS SURE OF OBITUARY

ONE REASON WHY MR. SPARROWGRASS LIVES IN COUNTRY.

There Are Others, of Course, But This One Is Paramount—Sort of a Letter of Recommendation to St. Peter.

One argument against the rush to the cities is the city obituary column. I have known men to lead long, useful and honorable lives in the city and get only four or five lines at last, whereas if they had stayed on the farm the country papers would have given them columns.

We don't have porcelain bathtubs up here in the hills. Steam heaters and janitors are scarce. There's a good deal of snow, too, and no delicatessen around the corner. But there is always the satisfaction of knowing that the local paper will print a fine piece about us when our turn comes to be shoveled on, as Shakespeare puts it.

I may have to raise my own turnips, instead of paying a market gardener three prices to raise them for me, and a grocer six prices for bringing them to me. I may work hard in the sunlight and the air of the fields when I might be lolling in the gaslight and the dust of a factory. I may have to send my children a mile to school instead of two miles to a sweatshop; and perhaps there is a Plymouth Rock rooster on the premises instead of one of them things your newspaper calls pianolettups. I admit the country's disadvantages freely. But when this vale of tears is done with me and I am laid to rest under the pine trees in the old family lot, I know there will be a generous write-up by Editor Green in the Hackwoods Weekly Guide, Joyville and Passaic county papers please copy.

I shall not go out like a common critter of the pasture, without a letter of recommendation to St. Peter. There will be a long article right down the middle of the first page, and Lemuel Green will spread himself to make it a first-class job. He will tell the neighbors all the good things in my history that the neighbors can think up to tell him; how I was industrious, sober, honest, patient under trial, kind in prosperity, a loving son, a devoted husband, a fond father, a faithful friend, a man true to principle and spotless in character, a worthy citizen, whose loss is a severe blow to all. Would there were more of my kind.

He will recall my public deeds and private virtues; the time I ran for sheriff on the Prohibition ticket; the poor families I helped shelter the year the dam broke, and the time I carried water to save the Widow Garwin's cottage from the flames and caught my last cold. No matter how lowly my life may have been, I shall go out in style and good order, and a loving hand will write "The End" after my own has dropped its pen. You see, Mr. Editor, the country still has something the city can't offer.—Simon Sparrowgrass" in Newark News.

Sidelight on Lloyd-George.

On the day Lloyd-George became chancellor of the exchequer he left the house with a friend of his boyhood (and his love of old friends is not the least attractive phase of his character). As they talked of his advancement he said: "In all my career I do not remember a hand being held out to me from above and a voice saying: "Dring I fynoy yma' (climb thou up here). But don't misunderstand me," he went on, "there have been thousands of hands which have pushed me up from behind." He does not forget these hands. He does not forget from whence comes his authority and his commission. There have been times when one hand cheered—times when his light anchorage seemed in danger of yielding to the impact of opportunism. But that memory of his own people, that loyalty to the inspiration of the mountains and the simple traditions of his fathers has saved him and will save him.—London Daily News.

Hot Off the Griddle.

Mrs. Robert S. McKee, daughter of President Harrison, is a great believer in woman suffrage, and whenever she has the chance she steps right up to the bat and lines out a hot argument in support of her position. One day she was having such a discussion with a prominent New York lawyer.

"Now, my dear Mrs. McKee," insisted the attorney, "it would be all right to have woman suffrage if the educated and brilliant women like you went to the polls. You and your kind know all about the public questions, and your votes would undoubtedly be of great good to the country. But you would not derive any benefit from having the ignorant and uneducated woman voting. Imagine the absurdity of your cook voting and attempting to solve the great issues of the day."

"Unfortunately," replied Mrs. McKee, with a tragic air, "she does!"—Popular Magazine.

As One Man Sees College Life.

John Arbuckle, who made his millions in the coffee trade, says of the rich man's son in college that "he is not worth the powder to blow him up," and of the average fresh-caught college graduate that he is "not worth even $6 a week." Of the rich men's sons Mr. Arbuckle says:

"They go to college to be as far as possible away from the homes of their parents and relatives, so that their conduct may not be criticized. They care little about the faculty; in fact, to them they are a joke. All they go for is to go joy riding in their automobiles and to run around with chorus girls."

Adam and Eve.

"What did Adam have to do when he was put out of the Garden of Eden?" was the reported beginning of a Scotch classroom interlude.

"He had to work hard and till the ground."

"Very good. And what did Eve have to do?"

"Eve had to do what Adam told her!"

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the money secured by the mortgage dated the 12th day of September A. D. 1910, executed by Joseph D. LeMay, and his wife, Mary M. LeMay, as mortgagors, to Christina Mortgage Co., of same place, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Oakland County, Michigan, by liber 387 of Mortgages, on page 128, on September 15th, 1910, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day. That said mortgage was on the 6th day of November, 1911, duly assigned to Daniel L. Davis, of Pontiac, Michigan, and the same is now held and owned by him. Said assignment was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds on 25th day of January, 1912, in Liber 128, page 27 of Assignments of Mortgages at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day. And whereas by the terms of said mortgage, if the principal or interest is not paid on the days and times in the said sum of principal and interest may at the option of the mortgagee become due and payable and more having elapsed and the interest due not having been paid, the mortgagee hereby declares that all sums of interest and principal are now due and payable and hereby claims to be due and claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of two hundred eighty-one and 75-100 dollars, for principal and interest and the further sum of fifteen dollars as an attorney fee stipulated for in said mortgage and provided in the statutes of the State of Michigan and no suit or proceedings having been instituted at law or equity to recover said debt now remaining secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed as a sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder, at the front door of the Court House, on Saginaw Street, in the City of Pontiac, in said Oakland county, on the 4TH DAY OF MAY, A. D. 1912, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The east half of the southwest quarter of section twenty-one (21), in town three (3) south of range nine (9) east, County of Oakland, State of Michigan. Dated January 29, 1912. DANIEL L. DAVIS, Assignee of Mortgage.
