Fifty years ago, in the Shenandoah Valley, Va., Mar. 29, 1862, in a running fight between the First Michigan Cavalry, and Col. Ashby's guerrillas, in the village of New Market, Dr. H. S. Cox, then a First Sergeant in tropp G, and in a running fight with a general hand to hand mix up, shot at Col. Ashby but missed him and killed his beautiful white horse. And that horse was so loved by all who knew him that nearly every hair of his mane and tail was cut off as a souvenir by the members under Ashby's command.

Does it pay the farmer to protect birds? Only one answer is possible. Even from the point of view of an investment for profit the time and expense necessary for their care and protection are richly repaid. There is the added consideration that without the music and companionship of birds the world would be the poorer. Anything that adds to the attractiveness of the farm life is worthy of attention even if no actual return is received in dollars and cents. Happily the farmer who who protects birds secures a double return, increased profit from his crops and increased pleasure of living.

Election week has crowded out and killed off many a valuable item of interest. We are sorry but cannot help the fact.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Watkins, who recently sold their home in Detroit, have moved to Birmingham and are now cozily located on Pierce street.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary society of the First Presbyterien church will be postponed one week at that time Miss Ninde, of Detroit, will be with us and address the meeting.

The regular annual meeting of the Birmingham Cemetery association will be held at the home of Mrs. Mortimer Smith on Saturday April 9th at 2 p. m. A full attendance is asked. M. Baldwin, Secretary.

Last Friday evening Miss Lucy Ward entertained at a handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Porter. There were a few tables at progressive hearts at which Miss Katherine Berz won first prize, Miss Maude Berry second and Miss Emeline Mitchell third.

At the reception at the home of Mrs. George H. Mitchell last Thurday Miss Porter was also presented with a cut glass nut set by her Sunday school class, a compote from Mrs. Addie I. Stearns, and a hand painted dish from the Young People's society of the church.

Is it right for men to smoke in our nifty little D. U. R. station? After all the argumeits have been stated on both sides we would say, "NO." Our station should be neat, well ventilated and as clean as a drawing room. Yes, and it should possess a clock and a lavatory.

Two new telephone circuits to Detroit from this office and one from Royal Oak to Detroit have just been installed. This is caused by the increase of Telephone business at both offices. In the near futuue toll service will be established between Birmingham and Royal Oak.

For 1912 we have just closed a contract with the Eastern Michigan Edison Co. for 728 inches of advertising reading to be run during 1912. Watch their announcements each week. As our people nearly all use electricity their words to you will be of benefit, important and interesting.

After several trials of agents for the D. U. R. station, the company have made a very wise decision in retaining the services of Miss Ella Bowman, of North Farmington, as D. U. R. agent. Miss Bowman is an expert and once more a woman heads the candidates in progress of commercial activities.

It looks to us like a biz year this year,— a big year, this year,— a big year this year. Why? Well, George Baker, the alert and popular cashier of the Royal Oak Savings Bank closed a contract for one year's advertising in this paper and secured our cash discount by paying for the advertising in advance. This bank for growth and sucess stands second to none in the state, and under Mr. Baker's care and management has steadily grown in success, prosperity, wealth and surplus, thanks to Cashier Baker. What more can any one in Royal Oak or any other place for that matter, ask? Watch Mr. Baker's copy. His words to you, changed every other week will be very interesting reading.

HOW ARAB PRIZES HIS MARE

"Foundation of Wealth Is a Mare; Bring Forth a Mare," Is One of Their Sayings.

The Arab's regard for his mare is often expressed in sayings that are short and very much to the point, as for instance: "The foundation of wealth is a mare; bring forth a mare." "The greatest blessings are a wise wife and a fruitful mare."

As the Arabs themselves are divided into tribes and sub-tribes, the same system is adopted in regard to the strain of their horses' breed. In fact, the breeding is carried on in the same manner as laid down in the Koran for the Mohametan marriages. This is one of the chief factors giving rise to the high quality of the pure bred Arab horse.

"Thoroughbred mares are never sold under any conditions, and instances have been known," says Pierre Ponafidine in "Life in the Mosque East," "when five and six and ten thousand pounds have been refused; for often such mares that are too old for riding are still kept for breeding purposes."

In olden times stealing a mare was punishable by death. Sheikhs own one or more pure bred mares, according to their position and means, but it is often the case that among the less well to do people a mare is owned by several, the shares being clearly defined and division of colts made according to detailed and often complicated laws. Sometimes one family owns "one leg," while a richer man claims "two legs," etc.

The system of owning a mare in shares is found among certain Arabs in Turkish Arabia and sometimes in the city of Bagdad itself, if any one is fortunate enough to get hold of a half-bred mare.—Tit-Bits.
