Very Good Fit.
Sometimes the blunder of a child seems like the wisest thing man's wisdom. Such might be said of the little fellow in Hutchinson, according to the Gazette, who, desiring some of the boarding housekeepers' delight, commonly called hash, said: "Please pass the trash."—Kansas City Star.

Woman Finally Recovers From Nervous Breakdown

Impoverished nerves destroy many people before their time. Often before a sufferer realizes what the trouble is, he is in the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. It is of the utmost importance to keep your nervous system in good condition, as the nerves are the source of all bodily power. Mrs. Anna Kocum, 211 Mechanics St., Pueblo, Colo., says:
"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration. I was unable to do any house work and doctors failed to help me. Remedies I tried from suggestions in good condition, as the nerves are the source of all bodily power. Mrs. Anna Kocum, 211 Mechanics St., Pueblo, Colo., says:
"I tried my husband's Nervine and he procured a bottle. After the first few doses I showed a marked improvement and after taking 60 bottles I was entirely cured. I have been perfectly well for years and cannot praise Dr. Miles' Nervine too highly.
If you are troubled with loss of appetite, poor digestion, weakness, general run down condition and unable to bear your part of the thing to strengthen your nerves. You may not realize what is the matter with you, but it is no reason why you should delay treatment."
Dr. Miles' Nervine has proven its value in nervous disorders for thirty years, and merits a trial, no matter how long other remedies have failed to help you. Send for all druggists. If no bottle falls to hand, your money is returned.

Garrick Theatre

The Best Talent! The Finest Plays!! The Cool Pretty Garrick Draws Big Audiences.

Miss Bonstelle and her company will be seen in the delightful and charming A. E. W. Mason comedy, "Green Stockings," at the Garrick theatre, Detroit, next week, with the usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The play will be recalled through the Marjorie Ann interpretation. The place of the play is at Lamley Park, an English country home of William Parady, a gentleman with a bevy of daughters, two of whom are married, one about to be married and a fourth, Ceila, still remaining on her hands, without much prospect of leaving. It is the custom that all unmarried and unengaged girls shall wear green stockings at their sister's wedding. Ceila has worn them twice, and she wants passionately to avoid another repetition of that humiliation, being an elder sister. Therefore she invents an imaginary fiance and announces her engagement to him on the day that he is supposed to sail for Africa with his regiment.

The announcement is received with surprise by the family. Several months elapsed and Ceila has printed in the London Times, a paragraph announcing the death of Col. Smith, as she calls her fiance.

The situations are ludicrous, the comedy rapid, well connected and unusually interesting and surprising. The play is of unusual interest inasmuch as its comedy is saturated with plot and cleverness, and a certain degree of the dramatic sustaining the interest through out.

The Man Who Wins

The man who wins is the average man. Not built on any particular plan—Not blessed with any particular luck—Just steady and earnest, and full of pluck.—Barrett.

Isn't this an inspiring thought! The men who win are the average men like you and I, and the men we rub elbows with in the shop, the store, the factory, and on the farm! Just average men! Men with a mission and a purpose! The mission to make for themselves an honorable place in the world in which they live; the purpose to fulfill the obligations of life. Is there any obligation greater than that of making provision for age and dependents? To provide for the "rainy days" and to grasp opportunities. Did you ever sit down with a quiet hour of introspection and ask yourself if you are making an honest effort to safeguard the future that is as certain as tomorrow? Ever think how trifling are the pleasures of the hour compared with the real pleasure and satisfaction in the sacrifices and self-denial of making provision for obligations? Ever realize what a credit account in some strong Bank like the
